DR. LYMAN ABBOTT SPEAKS ON BIRTH OF DEMOCRACY

We Are Living in an Age of Transition He Tells Academy Audience.

CHANGES IN THEOLOGIES.

Bible Does Not Speak With Its Old Authority, Whether We Like It or Not.

Speaking to a large audience in the Music Hall of the Brooklyn Academy of Music, yesterday afternoon on the "Birth of Democracy," the Rev. Lyman Abbott, D.D., editor of the Outlook, before going back to the early Hebraic democracy exitsing before the Christian era, briefly reviewed the modern evolutionary processes of politics saying:

"We are living in an age of transition. In such an age we find ourselves, an age of universal questioning, a ... ugh nothing which was settled in the past is settled to-day. As though the interrogation point was put against every faith of our fathers, every conclusion they had reached. We have a new science, a new philosophy of human life, a new psychology, a new theology. No church is immune, even the Roman Catholic Church acknowledges the entrance of the spirit of modernism, the pope at Rome has found these conditions worthy of serious attention. We have a new sociology, new politics. There is no longer any clearly defined line of demarkation between political parties. We have not a Republican party, but a Roosevelt policy, and also a Taft policy, and if the newspapers are correct we have a considerable party of Republicans in Congress who are opposed to both.

Referring to "theologies," Dr. Abbott said: "We find the authority of the Church of Rome not what it once was, and the teachings of all churches questioned. The Bible, whether we like it or not, does not speak with its old authority. The preacher to-day is not marshaling proofs, but arguments for his contention.

"On the question of sociology, to-day, there are capitalists who deny to labor the right to organize, while organized labor denies the same right to capital, and we find also that organized labor denies a man the right to work unless under unionized conditions. Then we find that autocratic power wor... much evil on the man who possesses it as on the man who suffers under it. We are beginning to question the right of any man to govern others, who is incapable of governing himself.

"Government should derive its authority from the eternal sense of right and wrong. Half a century ago the declaration of William H. Seward that 'There is a higher law than the constitution' was met with laughter, derision and execration.' There was a current belief in America then that government rested on the consent of the governed, but that condition has gone, we no longer argue 'is it constitutional,' but 'is it right.' We in America no longer believe in the rule of the majority, but we believe in the eternal and immutable laws of right and wrong.

"This is an age of organization, an age tending toward human brotherhood. We have taken a long step toward co-operation and organization. Modern democracy is a great human development, it provides more homes than palaces, better roads, and locomotion, we have art galleries and libraries. Clyde Fitch has not written as great dramas as Shakspeare, nor have we a Plato or a Dante, but our classics are in such form that all may enjoy them for the price of a cigar or two glasses of beer, and the penny newspaper can and will furnish a kind of literature to everybody who can read, and many who cannot think.

"Democracy means more than a government by or for the people, it means the life of the people, by the people for the people. We are moving not toward the conception of liberty, not toward less government but toward the conception of a social democracy, not by competition but by co-operation and combination. Nor can I doubt this is a healthy movement worthy of promotion and wise guidance, that we live together in social fellowship."

This was the first of a series of five lectures to be given by Dr. Abbott, under the direction of the Brooklyn Institute, Department of Political Science, on "The Democracy of the Twentieth Century."

PENSA LITERARY CLUB.

On Friday, January 7, the regular fortnightly meeting of the Pensa Literary Club, Mrs. C. A. J. Queck-Berner, president, was held at the home of Mrs. Robert Murray, 560 Macon street. Mrs. W. H. Fry, vice president of the club, read a paper on "The Victorian Poets," and the usual discussion of the paper followed. The regular number of members were present, and two guests, Mrs. Gates and Mrs. T. N. Glover. A social hour was indulged in, with piano solos by the president.

The meeting adjourned until January 21, when the subject will be "Burbank's New Agriculture."

CHARGES CHUM WITH ROBBERY

Servavnt Girl Lost Money and Clothing—Some of Latter Found in Miss Moleski's Room.

Helen Moleski, who worked as a servant with a family living at 1067 Prospect place, was a prisoner before Magistrate O'Reilly in the Bedford avenue court yesterday morning, charged with grand larceny. The complainant was Annie Slavarie, a young servant employed in the family of Otto Schmitt, at 183 Calyer street. In her complaint the Slavarie girl accused the prisoner with having robbed her of $103 in cash, a gold watch and chain valued at $25, a gold ring worth $25, and some wearing apparel worth $10. Magistrate O'Reilly remanded the accused in $500 bail pending further hearing.

According to the story told by the Slavarie girl she and Annie came to America together from the same town where they had known each other from childhood. She had the greatest confidence in Helen and trusted her implicitly. So deep was her trust that she took Helen's advice regarding her savings. It was Helen's advice not to trust any of the banks but to keep her havings in her own possession. Every time Helen made a visit she anxiously inquired the amount of Annie's savings, and when the latter made this statement it led the police to believe that Helen was simply waiting until the amount had grown to a sum worth taking.

Helen's last visit to Annie was on December 20 last. The money, jewelry and wearing apparel was in a suit case, and when Annie was called from her room, Helen, she alleges, must have seized the opportunity to decamp. When Annie discovered her loss she hesitated at suspecting her countrywoman, but her suspicions grew when Helen failed to make her usual visits and notified the police of the Greenpoint avenue station. Detectives Cassidy and McGrattan were detailed on the case, and when they went to the Prospect place house, Helen was confused. She hurried to her room followed by the detectives, who caught her in the act of removing some wearing apparel, which she threw behind her bed. It was recovered, and when shown to Annie was readily recognized as belonging to her.

SIFTS CHRISTIAN THOUGHT.

Pastor Russell Begins Series of Sermons.

Mr. Russell said that the trend of modern Christian thought was in the direction of unity; that the factional divisions among the denominations were drawing more closely together in Christian work, and that a confederation of the churches was not an idle dream.

TALKS ON PINCHOT ROW.

E. T. O'Loughlin Discusses Ballinger Controversy Before the Economic Club.

E. T. O'Loughlin discussed, last night, the Pinchot-Ballinger controversy before the Economic Club of Brooklyn. Mr. O'Laughlin declared that the present row was the inherited land struggle which confronts every country at some stage of its existence. It was a struggle, he said, between the people for their national resources, and the corporate interests, who wish to gobble it up as they have been doing right along. The reason these perennial thefts of our natural resources have not been exposed before this time was because the people had no champion. Were not the adversaries in the present controversy two important figures in the national eye, the row would not even now have come to a head.

The "R. O." Club of Flatbush held a meeting on Friday evening at the club rooms. Social and house committees were appointed by President Sullivan. L. FORESTERS UNION SERVICES.

Many Prominent Men Attend Big Meeting and Review Past Work.

The Union services of the Foresters of America, held in the Amphion Theater yesterday afternoon, was well attended.

The first speaker was Thomas McNulty, grand secretary of the organization, who explained the aims and benefits of the society. He declared that nearly $100,000 were expended in this country alone during the past year, in paying claims of beneficiaries. Following him Alderman Bent spoke.

The feature of the services was the address of William Reuben, grand chief ranger of the order. He said in part: "To extend the Foresters' membership we must have the hearty co-operation of all. In this county we should have a Foresters temple, in which we could congregate."

FAVOR WHITE SLAVE BILL

Two Men's Classes Also Indorse The Bill Against Pool Selling.

350 Voters From Churches Oppose Bill Appointing Sunday Law Commission.

Grace Presbyterian Church Men's Class, of which the Rev. Robert Henry Carson is leader, paid a fraternal visit, yesterday afternoon, to the Men's Class of the Central Presbyterian Church, of which the Rev. Dr. J. F. Carson is leader. The topic was "Fellowship," on which both pastors and a number of men spoke. But the main thing done was to enter a joint protest, sustained by every one of the 350 or more men present, against a bill now before the Legislature and the approval of two others.

The two bills favored are No. 12 and No. 26, and the one opposed is No. 13. These bills are now under consideration in the Committee on Codes of the Legislature. The Committee on Civics of the Central Men's Class, of which C. W. Jacobs is chairman, through Mr. Niles, another member, brought the matter before the joint meeting and the protest will be formulated by a joint committee of the classes, signed by the pastors and officers and others of the two classes and forwarded to the governor and to the Committee on Codes. It was also resolved by the meeting that each member of the two classes write to the Senator and Assemblyman of their districts, making an individual protest.

The bill opposed is the one providing for the appointment of a commission to revise Sunday laws, which Mr. Jacobs, Mr. Niles, Dr. Carson and others declared to be the opposite of sumptuary legislation, as it was declared to be. It is believed that it is a bill to make a freer Sunday and to allow all sorts of business places to be open on Sunday.

Dr. Carson said the bill to increase the penalty for trafficking in women, otherwise known as the "white slave bill," was a good bill, and the Agnew bill, to prohibit advertisements facilitating pool selling and gambling, was also worthy of the support of all good men.

A large attendance is expected.

PEARY'S OWN OPINION AS TO ESKIMO'S ORIGIN

Thinks They Are the Remnants of an Ancient Siberian Race.

SKETCH OF GREENLAND TRIBE.

Calls Them a People "Unique on the Face of the Earth"—Faithful Unto Death.

Commander Robert E. Peary gives in the February number of Hampton's Magazine, to be published to-morrow, his own solution to a riddle that has puzzled explorers and scientists for the past few centuries. That riddle is the origin of the Eskimos.

The commander in this second instalment of his story of the discovery of the North Pole reveals the importance of well-trained Eskimos in polar travel, and he incidentally gives a remarkable sketch of the Greenland tribe that he himself employed. He says:

"The members of this little tribe inhabiting the western coast : Greenland from Cape York to Etah are in many ways quite different from the E...imos of Danish Greenland or those of any other Arctic territory. There are now between two hundred and twenty and two hundred and thirty in the tribe. They are savages, but they are not savage; they are without government, but they are not lawless; they are utterly uneducated according to our standard, yet they exhibit a remarkable degree of intelligence. In temperament like children, with all a child's delight in little things, they are nevertheless enduring as the most matured of civilized men and women, and the best of them are faithful unto death. Without religion and having no idea of God, they will share their last meal with anyone who is hungry, while the aged and the helpless among them are taken care of as a matter of course. They are healthy and pure-blooded; they have no vices, no intoxicants, no bad habits—not even gambling. Altogether, they are a people unique upon the face of the earth. A friend of mine calls them philosophic anarchists of the north.

"I have been studying the Eskimos for eighteen years, and no more effective instrument for Arctic work could be imagined than these plump, bronze-skinned, keen-eyed and black-maned children of nature. Their very limitations were their most valuable endowments for the purpose of my work.

"There is a theory, first advanced by Sir Clements Markham, president of the Royal Geographical Society of London, that the Eskimos are the remnants of an ancient Siberian tribe, the Onkilon; that the last members of this tribe were driven out on the Arctic Ocean by the fierce waves of Tartar invasion in the Middle Ages, and that they found their way to the New Siberian Islands, thence eastward over lands yet undiscovered to Grinnell Land and Greenland. I am inclined to believe in the truth of this theory for the following reasons:

"Some of the Eskimos are of a distinctly Mongolian type, and they display many Oriental characteristics, such as a mimicry, ingenuity and patience in mechanical duplication. There is a strong resemblance between their stone houses and the ruins of houses found in Siberia. The Eskimo girl brought home by Mrs. Peary in 1894 was mistaken by Chinamen [illegible] suggested that their invocation of the spirits of their dead may be ... survival of Asiatic ancestor worship."

Other parts of the narrative tell of the flora and fauna of the Arctic.

"In some places," says the commander, "in this coast in summer, the grass is thick and long as on a New England farm. Poppies bloom here with dandelions, buttercups and saxifrage, though to the best of my knowledge the flowers are all devoid of perfume. I have seen bumblebees even north of Whale Sound; there are flies and mosquitos, and even a few spiders. Among the fauna of this country are the deer, the Greenland caribou, the fox—both blue and white—the Arctic hare, the polar bear, and perhaps once in a generation a stray wolf."

THE U. S. IN THE PACIFIC.

Charles A. Towne Thinks We Should Maintain Large Fleet There and Be Ready for Trouble.

A small but attentive audience was present last evening at the Young Men's Hebrew Association, 345 Ninth street, for the purpose of hearing an address by ex-Senator Charles A. Towne on "The United States in the Pacific." Among other things, Mr. Towne said:

"The history of the world is centralizing around the Pacific and the countries touching it. Civilization has been traversing the globe. It began around the Mediterranean. Greece became the center of the world, then Rome developed her world-wide power. Civilization crept around part of Africa and to England and Scotland. Soon after the discovery of the compass, came the discovery of America and the development of the Atlantic era. The republic of the United States is the supreme fruitage of the civilization of mankind. Finally, civilization reached the Pacific. Fifty-six years ago we opened the ports of Japan to the world. In his lifetime Prince Ito saw the modernization of Japan, saw it change from feudalism to a modern constitutional state.

"The Eastern question can be expressed in one word, 'China' with an interrogation mark after it. When these 500,000,000 people shall waken and demand the telephone, railroads, water works and all the luxuries of modern life, there will be an economic impulse greater than the world has ever seen. Japan intends to govern the Orient, and does not intend to let us interfere. She humbled Russia, the proudest of all nations, and has taken at one jump a position in the front rank of nations.

"No nation has so large a Pacific coast line as the United States, and we must take a hand in the Eastern question.

"The Chinese question is the greatest question facing America to-day. John Hay opened the doors of China. Japan is rapidly closing them.

"Our people should know what is doing in the Far East and who is doing it. We have no business to have control over a country that we do not understand; and how many of us understand the form of government in the Philippines to-day?

"Events have taken us into the Far East and we must not 'back up,' and we will not. But in order to maintain our position these three things are essential: First, settlement must be consonant with liberty; second, conservation of our commercial interests, and, third, be prepared to do it by force if necessary.

"Japan, with the object always in view of control of the Orient, is preparing for 'eventualities' in the Pacific, and so we should maintain in the Pacific as large a fleet as does Japan plus the increment of any other power there, any other possible ally. This would cost a lot of money, but it would be less than the loss in case we were caught unprepared. Let the United States become strong enough to have its way and it will not have to fight. This is the greatest object of diplomacy in the world."

CONDITION OF MILITIA NEVER SO GOOD AS NOW

Adjutant General's Report Shows a Gratifying State of Affairs.

TOTAL OF 16,291 MEN.

Promotion Should Be Divorced From Social or Political Influences, Says General Henry.

Albany, January 24—That the present condition of the military service of this state, both as to the National Guard and the Naval Militia, was never exceeded as to strength, equipment, discipline, general efficiency and realization of patriotic purpose, is pointed out by Adjutant General Nelson H. Henry in his annual report to Governor Hughes, commander-in-chief of the state's military forces. A resume of the percentages of absentees from the annual inspection and muster of the several National Guard organizations for the past five years indicates a gratifying increase in interest. The percentage absent during 1909 was 1.93, as against an average of over 3 per cent. for the preceding four years.

The strength of the guard on September 30, 1909, was 995 officers and 15,296 men, a total of 16,291, and a gain over the preceding year of 201. The total gains for the year were 5,980 and the losses 5,079.

There were awarded 459 decorations for long and faithful service.

During the year 2,302 enlisted men were dropped and 298 enlisted men dishonorably discharged. Five officers and 45 men died.

The authorized maximum strength of the National Guard is 18,000 men. Should the ratio of increase for the past few years be continued this limit would soon be reached. The present strength of the infantry is 566 officers and 10,605 men. Should existing organizations recruit to full strength the aggregate of the infantry arm of the service alone would exceed the maximum fixed by law.

The medical department comprises 114 commissioned officers and 463 men, organized as a field hospital with detachments assigned to different organizations.

The adjutant general repeats his recommendation that the enlisting period be reduced from five to three years, with a two-year re-enlistment period. He condemns the present practice of allowing men whose terms have expired to continue in the service without re-enlistment.

General Henry points out that the percentage of sickness reported in the past 15 or 20 years in tours of field service has decreased progressively in proportion to the increased activity and actual practical service required of the organization.

The total expenditure for field service in 1909 was $225,653.68, of which there was charged against the state, $120,767.63, and against the War Department of the United States funds, $104,885.05. The latter paid additional for the maneuvers in Massachusetts.

Considerable attention is paid to the present promotion of officers under the elective system and the system of promotion by seniority. A series of annual examinations is recommended, with a view to the formation of an eligible list from which selections for promotions may be made by superior officers.

"Promotion in the organized service," says the report, "should be divorced from social or political influences and be established only upon merit."

In small arms practice the report of the past year shows substantial improvement. The total number of marksman qualifications during the past year was 11,101, of which 1,527 further qualified as sharpshooters, 587 as experts and 1,044 as distinguished experts.

The strength of the naval militia on September 30, 1909, was 55 officers and 755 men, a total of 810, or just seven more than the preceding year. There were 196 gains and 189 losses during the year.

STEERS REVIEWS GUARDSMEN

Borough President Watches the Twenty-third Regiment Drill.

Congratulates Men on Good Work, and Big Crowd Applauds Evolutions of State Troops.

A record crowd turned out to see Borough President Alfred E. Steers review the Twenty-third Regiment in its armory Saturday night. Fully 2,500 persons crowded the galleries of the spacious drill hall, and when the Borough President and his staff appeared upon the floor, escorted by Colonel Frank H. Norton and his staff, they burst into a prolonged applause.

The Borough President was accompanied by his private secretary, John B. Creighton; Frederick Linde, Superintendent of Highways; Thomas H. Linsburgh, Assistant Public Works Commissioner; Howard L. Woody, Superintendent of Public Buildings and Offices; William A. Coakley, Assistant Superintendent of Buildings, and William J. Taylor, Superintendent of Sewers. John Thatcher, Superintendent of Buildings, witnessed the review from the gallery. He was in charge of the wives of the borough President and his associates, who participated in the review.

The Borough President is an old hand at the "military game," and he has witnessed and participated in many reviews, but Saturday night was the first time that he ever was accorded the honor of a review. It is the first time, too, that he ever participated in a review in civilian attire. For twenty-four years the Borough President has been a member of the National Guard.

After the military portion of the programme Saturday night, the borough president and his staff were escorted to the council chamber of the armory, where the officers of the regiment were given an opportunity to meet the chief executive of the borough. In a few felicitous remarks President Steers congratulated Colonel Norton upon the excellent showing of his men during the review and drill.

"I have seen your regiment drill many times," said the president, "but I have always been acting on the staff of the reviewing officer, and never before have had an opportunity to speak my opinion of your performances in public. This is my first opportunity to do so. It was fine, and I am proud to be president of a borough which has such an excellent military organization as 'Ours.'"

Among those who congratulated President Steers upon his first review were Brevet Major General John G. Eddy, the president's military boss; General John B. Frothingham of the Twenty-third, Brevet Brigadier General William Morris of the Tenth Coast Artillery District, Lieutenant Colonel Barnes, adjutant general of the Second Brigade; Captain Walter L. Carlin, aid to General Eddy; General George W. Wingate, the Father of Rifle Practice; Major Frederick W. Baldwin, Brevet Lieutenant Colonel Frederick H. Stevenson of the Fourteenth Regiment, Brevet Brigadier William A. Stokes and Congressman William M. Calder.

S. Parkes Cadman, pastor of Central Congregational Church, the new chaplain of the Twenty-third Regiment Armory, made his premier bow as a military man Saturday night, during the review which was extended to Borough President Alfred E. Steers. The new chaplain did not parade with the regiment, for his new uniform is not quite ready, but he was called upon to outline the policy he will pursue in the conduct of the religious department of the Bedford avenue infantry's organization at the collation which was served after the review in the officials' mess.

"In the first place," said the new chaplain, in the course of his remarks, "I do not like the uniform that is prescribed for chaplains, and I should like to see a reform instituted in the regulations changing it. I think it's too blamed pious. I want to be a real military man and wear a dashing uniform like other officers. All that I should like to wear would be a small cross on my shoulder straps just to let the boys know that I am chaplain."

DR. DRAPER'S ANNUAL REPORT

In Schools and Colleges There are 1,840,909 Pupils.

There Are 50,788 Teachers and Institutions That Use Property Valued at $329,533,991.

Albany, January 24—Dr. Andrew S. Draper, commissioner of education, transmitted his annual report to the Legislature to-day. He says that the attendance in all the schools of the state, elementary and high, colleges and academies, day and evening, aggregated 1,840,909. Of that number there were in the public elementary schools 1,251,729, and in the public high schools 101,983; in the evening schools there were 132,110. Of the 50,788 teachers, 37,152 were in the public elementary schools and 4,079 in the public high schools. In the universities, colleges and professional schools there were 4,231 teachers.

From the high schools and institutions of higher learning, including the professional schools, there were 18,031 graduates, of whom 8,837 were from high schools and 1,935 from academies.

These institutions of learning use property valued at $329,533,991, of which $157,811,999 is used by the common elementary schools, $26,146,619 by the common high schools and $112,390,676 by the universities, colleges and professional schools. The total expenditures for these educational institutions last year aggregated $76,696,217, of which $47,146,722 was spent for the common elementary schools, $5,816,160 for the common high schools, $16,456,213 for the universities, colleges and professional schools and $83,928 for evening schools.

During the year the attendance increased 47,356, the number of teachers increased 1,688 and the number of graduates increased 2,087, while the amount expended increased only $2,298,278.

Commissioner Says Interest in Vocational Training Increases.

Considerable space is given in the report to the progress made in the establishment of vocational schools and the problems connected with their further development, to which the education department is giving special attention. Since the passage of the industrial and trades school law in 1908, interest in the subject has been constantly increasing. Many educational, political, and social organizations are actively enlisted in its support. Among the objects sought to be accomplished in the scheme of industrial education are manual training in the various grades, industrial work in the primary departments, industrial arts in the grammar grades, constructive work in the upper grammar grades, industrial arts, especially in rural communities, instruction in household arts, and generally all the training and instruction that ministers to self-support and productive capacity. The law provides that vocational schools shall be a part of the public school system, but that their work is not to be mingled or confused with the work of the other schools, and to this end the department provides three checks by which the distinctive character of vocational schools can be preserved: (1) State inspection by a special agent; (2) requirement that shop teachers shall be men and women with practical training and experience in the industries, and (3) book-work organized in relation to shop-work.

The commissioner's "Special Theme" for the annual report is "New York Colleges and the State System of Education." His purpose is to initiate a serious discussion of the fraternal relations of the colleges to each other, and of their relations to the state and its system of education. He reviews at some length the relations of the endowed colleges to the Board of Regents from the creation of the board in 1784 to the unification of the educational departments in 1904. He treats the genesis, history, functions and difficulties of the University of the State of New York, and concludes that the regents have no power of control over courses of study, finances, or other local details of chartered institutions, at least until such educational incapacity or fraud shall be manifest as to call for the exercise of the state's authority over charters.

The commissioner declares that, so far as the colleges of the state are concerned, two things are exceedingly desirable. First, that there should be freer opportunity to go to college, at least to the point of making sure that no deserving student is kept out because he dare not assume the charges for tuition; second, that the college influence should penetrate into the affairs of the lower and middle schools and all the affairs of the people, without so much reference to the special interests of each college or university. He is not at all adverse to state aid for colleges upon some basis which would be just to all and stimulating to education in general. He thinks that when this is accomplished it will have to be through the Board of Regents and the University of the State of New York, because these are the state agencies in operation since the beginning of the state government and now fixed in the constitution of the state.

THE SOCIAL QUESTION

Rabbi Lyons Discusses It at Unity Church Meeting.

Is Anti-Socialistic, and Tells Why. A Misconception of Capital.

In the second of the series of Sunday evening lectures on the great social question at the Unity Church, Gates avenue and Irving place, Rabbi Alexander Lyons of Eighth Avenue Temple, discussed Socialism in a very convincing way under the heading "Social Revolution and Social Evolution—Which?" It was followed by a free conference in which many participated, and Dr. Greaves, late minister of a church in London, spoke at length in refutation of the arraignment of the errors of Socialism set forward by Dr. Lyons.

The address was begun by giving a statement of the aims of Socialism as understood by the lecturer. To Dr. Lyons, Socialism to-day is in large part the expression of the protest which, at its root, expresses a feeling of enmity and jealousy of the many serious objections to Socialism. Dr. Lyons mentioned that Socialism is founded on a misconception of capital which it looks upon as material only. It fails to take into account its spiritual thought as a part of its conception of value.

"To-day the greatest thing in the world is to find a criterion of what justice is and not the lack of the spirit of justice. There is no instance that can be pointed out in the teachings of Socialism where an explanation of what justice is can be found. Under a Socialistic regime human individuality will be sacrificed for the sake of the whole. Society, however, depends upon the realization of possible individualities. The most serious objection to Socialism is its total disregard of human nature. Its promise to begin a Kingdom of God on earth has not come true. Nowhere can Socialism be tried unless it is tried completely the world over. There must need be an international trial to prove its success or failure."

In concluding, Dr. Lyons said:

"We must not, however, permit things to drift. There are sufficient individuals in our communities who can bear the things and set them right, if necessary. All social reform depends upon the people. What we need is a realization of the finest possibility we have been endowed with. We must be true to our highest ideals. What Socialism clamors for is already in us and we must, in order to get this out, have the spirit of fraternity ever part of us. Then will the ambition of the social revolutionists be evolved out of us."

CHURCH STEADILY PROSPERS.

Calvary P. E. Congregation Celebrating Sixty-first Anniversary of Its Organization.

Calvary Protestant Episcopal Church, on Bushwick avenue, near Grove street, has added another prosperous year to its history, and yesterday began the celebration of its sixty-first anniversary. The rector, the Rev. John Williams, M.A., preached the sermon in the morning, and the Rev. F. Courtney, rector of St. James P. E. Church, Manhattan, in the evening. The subject in the evening was "The Seeming Indifference of God Toward His Kingdom." The offerings of the three services yesterday were to go for the rectory mortgage fund.

Calvary Church deserves great credit for all it has done in the sixty-one years of its existence. Beginning in Lexington Hall, on Grand street, with a handful of people for a congregation, it has struggled along and now boasts of a handsome edifice and a prosperous church. The first rector was the Rev. Henry Payne, after the church had moved to Odd Fellows Hall, on North First street. The Rev. Robert G. Walker was his successor. He was followed by the Rev. B. F. Taylor, who soon handed the work over to the Rev. George M. Timlow. About this time in 1853 a building was purchased on North Fifth street with the Rev. Samuel W. Sayers rector. His successor was the Rev. John P. Bausman, who soon, through ill health, was compelled to hand over the church to the Rev. Henry Floyd Roberts. In July, 1860, the Rev. Francis Peck was called to the rectorship. The church was badly in need of money, but through the hard work of Mr. Peck, who served faithfully for twenty-two years, they managed to overcome nearly all of their difficulties. The Rev. H. Richard Harris, now rector of Grace Church, Philadelphia, was next in the succession of rectors. During his ministry the financial problem was just as pressing as in the days of his predecessor. The Rev. Cornelius Leighton Twing followed Dr. Harris in 1885. It was during his rectorship that the church property was sold to the Young Men's Christian Association, and the present site bought. About $5,000 was expended on the church, which was formerly St. Barnabas Church, and Calvary has been steadily growing more prosperous year by year. The present rector began his duties in 1905 and has so endeared himself to the people that Calvary would not be Calvary Church without him.

To-night there will be a general parish reception, with the vestrymen and their wives receiving. The Rev. Canon Chase will speak.

MRS. HAND'S MUSICALE.

Mrs. Edward E. Hand gave an afternoon at her studio, 232 Seventeenth street, last Saturday. Miss Alice Senior and Miss Margaret Morrison each sang two groups of songs. Miss Margaret Henry played three selections on the violin. Mrs. Hand sang "Loch Lomond," "Across the Dee" and "My Mother Bids Me Bind My Hair." The programme ended with a trio, "Holy City," by Master Leslie Hand, cornet; Edward Everitt Hand, jr., violin, and E. E. Hand, piano. Refreshments were served. Miss Helen Driscoll and Miss Edna Gowely serving.

AMATEURS IN A PLAY.

With four of their number as "girls," the young men of the "U. M. A." a social and dramatic club of the Bedford section, Saturday gave a successful production of the old Daly farce, "A Night Off," before a large audience in Memorial Hall, Schermerhorn street and Flatbush avenue. The "girls" were rather awkward and manly, but the cast, under the direction of Miss Helen Murphy, gave an effective interpretation.

C. L. U. MAY JOIN BOYCOTT OF ALL MEAT PRODUCTS

Special Committee Appointed at Yesterday's Meeting to Consider Subject.

BEEF TRUST WAS CONDEMNED.

Union Desires Action That Will Be of Permanent Benefit to the Consumers.

The Central Labor Union took the first step toward joining in the boycott of meats handled by the so-called Beef Trust. It adopted a motion condemning the action of the trust in advancing the price of meat products to an almost prohibitive price, and referred two resolutions providing for the boycotting of those products to a special committee, consisting of Delegates Phillips, Gernon, Boyle, Cunningham and Thompson, with instructions to consider the subject and to bring in a report and accompanying resolutions which will deal with the subject adequately.

One of the resolutions submitted by a delegate condemned the milk and beef trusts for raising the prices of the necessaries of life, and pledging the members of organized labor to refrain from purchasing from such trusts.

Another resolution was even more general and sweeping, and would have taken a much wider group.

Delegates Flaherty, Phillips, Flynn, Gernon, Boyle and others took part in the discussion which followed. There was a unanimity of sentiment as to the fact that prices had been advanced beyond all reason; that the advance in the cost of living had increased from 45 to 100 per cent., while wages had increased only 10 per cent.; that it had been proved, on the investigation of the Milk Trust, that it had made a profit of from 30 to 35 per cent. before the recent raise in the price of milk, and it was agreed that something should be done to bring about a change.

There was a difference, however, as to what should be done that would be permanently beneficial. Some of the delegates claimed that a boycott of thirty days, although it might have the effect of lowering prices for a time, would not have any permanent or lasting effect. It was also claimed that, as it had been shown that the trusts had increased prices, the authorities should prosecute those who were responsible, and that the government had all the evidence that was needed to bring about a conviction. It was claimed that the tariff should be revised, so as to allow other countries to send in meats. The committee, it was suggested, should take into consideration all these questions, and report as to what should be done, that would be of permanent benefit to the people. This was the understanding when the resolutions were referred to it, and it was said that the character of the committee was an assurance that whatever report was made would be comprehensive.

STEAMFITTERS CONFIDENT.

Claim That Employes Cannot Get Men—Shirtwaist Makers Not Well Organized.

The steamfitters' delegates reported at the Central Labor Union yesterday that in their strike they were getting along well, and that they were holding their own. The employers had not been able to get men to take the places of the strikers, and it was not expected that they would. The union had the sympathy and support of the men in the trade in all other sections of the country.

The committee which had been appointed to assist the shirt waist makers in their strike was given financial support to organize the women in the trade in this borough. The committee had found that the trade was very imperfectly organized, and that therefore the strike could not be entirely successful. The union decided to stand by the committee in whatever it did.

Harry Weisglas was admitted as a delegate from the Shirtwaist Makers Union, No. 25. Misses M. Stoltz and M. Garside were admitted as delegates from Textile Workers Union, No. 687. The Fur Skin Dressers Union sent John Levy and H. Gally as delegates, and the Compact Labor Club of Marble Cutters sent James Keegan and Philip McNeff. The fur skin dressers, the textile workers and the shirtwaist makers are new organizations in the C. L. U.

Mrs. Matola of the women's auxiliaries of Brooklyn, announced that Herman Robinson of Typographical Union No. 6, and recently organizer for the American Federation of Labor, and now the inspector of weights and measures, would be the chief speaker at the mass meeting in behalf of the union label to be held at Labor Lyceum, Tuesday evening next. The other speakers will be B. A. Large, secretary of the United Garment Workers; James P. Maher, treasurer of the United Hatters of America; J. J. Freel, president of the International Stereotypers Union, and C. J. McMorrow, the organizer of the Boot and Shoe Workers Union.

Three unions reported having pledged themselves to sustain the sanitorium for tuberculosis patients: Upholsterers, United Hatters Union No. 7, and Engineers Union No. 319. They will contribute 12 cents a member a year.

ARION CHORUS TO AID OPERA.

German Singers Will Take Part at Metropolitan Sunday Concert.

For the first time in the history of the Metropolitan Opera House, in Manhattan, a German male chorus is to assist in a Sunday concert at the Opera House. The society honored in that way is the Arion of Brooklyn, who, according to its musical director, Arthur Claassen, is to sing on Sunday next at the Metropolitan Opera House. Arrangements between Director Dippel of the Opera House and Mr. Claassen were completed last Saturday afternoon. Mr. Claassen states that the chorus with which he goes over to Manhattan will consist of nearly 150 Arion singers.

A PUBLIC INSTALLATION.

Brownsville Democratic Club Proposes to Have a Big Time.

At a meeting of the Brownsville Democratic Club held at its headquarters, 181 Christopher street, on Thursday night, it was determined to hold a public installation of officers at the next meeting, January 27. Invitations have been sent to Mitchell May, Ephraim Byk, Jacob S. Strahl, Alexander Kataky and Herman Lehman, the honorary president of the club, to attend and deliver speeches. An entertainment will also be provided for the members and their friends. The club is making very rapid progress for a new organization, having a total membership of more than one hundred. Fourteen new members were received at the last meeting.

The new officers to be installed for the year 1910 are Louis A. Jacobs, president; George W. Castine, first vice president; Harry L. Tepher, second vice president; Jacob Bolowitz, treasurer; Abraham Blumenthal, recording secretary; Henry M. Kafsky, financial secretary; Edward Kessler, sergeant-at-arms, and Morris Morell, William Kafsky and Edward Oppenheim.

THE PLAIN DUTY OF MAN.

Leslie Willis Sprague's Talk to Ethical Society.

Mr. Sprague spoke Sunday morning at the Cathedral, Bedford avenue and Madison street, before the Ethical Society, on the duty of man to co-operate with the purpose which is clearly revealed in life.

"The plain duty of man," said Mr. Sprague, "is to co-operate with the purpose of life, to give his utmost strength, wisdom and will, to the assistance of progress. With St. Paul one may feel himself a 'co-worker with God,' or with the naturalist he may feel that his conscience and his energy are supplementing the forces of nature."

"The first aspect of this plain duty," said Mr. Sprague, "is the effort to make one's self a fit bearer of the forces of progress. Jesus said: 'Be ye perfect, even as your Father in heaven is perfect.' It is the duty of all, however neglected at present, to guard the sanctity of one's own personality, to enrich the powers of mind and spirit, to ennoble the passions, to redeem the taints of blood and defects of spirit, in order that the utmost of the personal life may be given to the support of the natural and divine forces making for the realization of the purpose of life."

INTERRUPTS RUSSELL

Big Academy Audience Drowns Protest With Song.

Elderly Man Denounces Theories of Brooklyn Tabernacle Pastor.

"I protest. The Bible says, 'He that decrieth the Lord shall——'" The protestant was a large elderly and well dressed man whose whole physique shook with excitement and indignation as he rose to denounce the theories which Charles T. Russell, pastor of the Brooklyn Tabernacle, had been expounding for over two hours, to more than 2,000 people who filled the auditorium and two balconies at the Brooklyn Academy of Music yesterday afternoon. The man, with many others, rose to question the preacher, who desired his listeners to abandon the old doctrines. Pastor Russell quickly and in a loud voice ordered the singing of a hymn, and amid the high chanting of "There is Rest for the Weary" by hundreds of emotional men and women, and the pealing of the organ, the patriarchial man leaned over the balcony rail pointing his finger at Pastor Russell and continued to quote scripture, which was audible but to a few as the big crowd joined loudly in the hymn.

"What Baptists, Disciples and Adventists must Surrender" was the subject of the second in a series of lectures on "Church Federation," and Pastor Russell advocated the "surrender by these denominations of the useless rites, symbols and superstitions that have fettered their minds down through the dark ages to the present day." He claimed that the drifting of denominations through the baneful influences of their dominating figures was responsible for the present spiritual upheaval that is sweeping the country. The Baptists, he said, "have much to surrender." "The immersion as a means to God's kingdom" he characterized as "a delusion and a snare," and the "eternal torment of the unsaved" "a bomb that has long since been exploded." "Rockefeller's endowments of colleges and scholastic institutions have not been along the line of immersion," said the speaker, "although he has given his money to institutions whose professors endeavor to tear out every shred that the Bible teaches us." After an exhaustive and passionate appeal to his hearers to forsake the methods of their various denominations and join the "Federation of Churches," and a scathing denunciation of the past and recent interpretations of the Bible by religious teachers, Pastor Russell said that he had been requested by the pastor of the Central Baptist Church to announce that any in the audience who desired baptism by immersion would be accommodated immediately at the close of the service. About twenty persons stood up in acceptance of the immersion proposition. Asked why those who desired to question Pastor Russell were shut off so abruptly, G. C. Driscoll, his representative, said, "We conduct these services along certain lines. Not in thirty years have we made a collection or charged admission. Our receipts, which are very large, are entirely voluntary." Asked why those large contributions, Mr. Driscoll answered, "We receive them from people who believe the acceptance of Mr. Russell's interpretations of the Bible are the correct ones, and they feel benefited by them. And while many churches in Brooklyn today are empty, we fill this big house." On the street a parade of those desiring the immersion treatment filed toward Adelphi street.

GOD AND SCIENCE.

Nature, Reason and Revelation, as Seen by the Rev. Dr. Robert Bagnell.

God, from the standpoint of science, was the basis of an able address by the Rev. Dr. Robert Bagnell of James M. E. Church, at the Bedford Branch, Young Men's Christian Association, yesterday afternoon. Dr. Bagnell handled his subject, "A Search For God," in an interesting and logical manner, analyzing the different attempts of men to find God.

He pointed out the various efforts of primitive man to find God in nature, and referred to the absurd results obtaining from such efforts as evidenced in the grotesque religious rites of the Druids and Sun Worshippers. These people attempted to find a God in nature, whereas Dr. Bagnell asserted that the appreciation of the beautiful in nature really has its origin in knowledge of and communion with God. In other words, it is the divine spark in man that recognizes God's handwork in the beauties of nature.

He next took up the question of man's attempt to find God by the process of reason, citing Bradly's theory of absolute idealism as leading to nothing, and ridiculing Haeckel's materialistic theories as being based upon a system of illogical philosophy and unfounded hypotheses.

After considering at some length the efforts of the world's greatest philosophers to find God through the process of reason, he raised the question: How, then, can God be found? He answered it by asserting that we cannot find God; it is God who finds us. He reveals Himself to those of us who will see and hear. He has revealed Himself by impressing on the mind of man the desire to form a conception of a Supreme Being. He has revealed Himself through the prophets, and, the supreme and final revelation, through the advent of Jesus Christ.

At the close of the address an opportunity was afforded for questions. The musical feature of the meeting was a fine programme by Victor's Royal Venetian Band.

MAJESTIC'S SUNDAY PICTURES.

Priscilla, John Alden and Miles Standish received the respectful attention of large audiences at the Majestic Theater yesterday afternoon and evening, when the story of "The Courtship of Miles Standish" was told on the screen as one of the features of the programme offered by the Liberty Moving Picture Company. The other feature picture of the programme yesterday was "The Toymaker's Secret," a modern dramatic story which proved very entertaining. Other pictures shown were "In the Nick of Time," "A Visit to Bombay," "Testing Their Love," "The Call," "The Painter's Sweetheart," and "Fickle Fortune." Johnny Nestor sang "Shaky Eyes," "You For Me When You're Sweet Sixteen" and "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now."

ITS 25TH ANNIVERSARY.

First Free Baptist Church Holds Interesting Services.

The First Free Baptist Church, at Marcy avenue and Keap street, celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary yesterday. At the morning service the sermon was preached by the Rev. Dr. William Hayes Ward, editor of the Independent. At the exercises of the Sunday school in the afternoon Louis B. Campbell, the superintendent, made an address of welcome, and was followed by J. T. Sproull, president of the New Jersey State Christian Endeavor Union. There were also remarks by former superintendents.

In the evening there were addresses by Henry A. Powell and the Rev. Dr. A. Stewart Walsh, who were participants in the ordination services on January 18, 1856, by Dr. Simon R. Cohen, rabbi of Temple Beth Elohim, the congregation of which last winter temporarily held services in the First Free Baptist Church, and by the Rev. Dr. Elias B. Sanford, corresponding secretary of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America.

There was an elaborate musical programme at each of the services, the choir, under the direction of Miss Emma L. Ostrander, being augumented by Robert Roughsedge and Miss Edna Martens. The singing of Miss Ostrander was particularly noteworthy. Mrs. Walter H. Senior was at the organ.

This evening there will be a reception and reunion, at which greetings from the pastors of the neighborhood will be extended by the Rev. John E. Adams; from the pastors of the city by Dr. Carson, and from the denomination by Dr. Joseph W. Mauck, president of the General Conference of Free Baptists.

The pastor of the church, the Rev. Dr. Rivington D. Lord, in introducing Dr. Ward, said: "One principle recognized among the Christian workers of this city is that if you want a thing well done ask a busy man to do it. Dr. Ward is not only the editor of one of the greatest religious newspapers; he is also a member of the highest councils in the denomination, serving on the most prominent committees and working for the welfare of the city and land."

Dr. Ward took for his text Revelation iv., 8: "And the four beasts had each of them six wings about him; and they were full of eyes within; and they rest not day and night, saying, Holy, holy, holy Lord God Almighty, which was, and is, and is to come."

"God's character," said Dr. Ward, "has a double, polar quality. If God loves and supports and crowns the right, he equally hates and will oppose and crush the wrong.

"To know the right, to understand the right, requires a certain personal, moral sense which cannot be imparted to you. You have got to feel the obligation yourself. You have got to know what the word 'ought' means."

REFORM IN EDUCATION

Pratt Professor Criticises Present System in Secondary Schools.

Entire Revolution Necessary, He Says—Quizzed Sharply by Auditors.

"Industrial Education" was the topic of discussion in the gymnasium of Holy Trinity Church last evening. A big assemblage had gathered to listen to Professor William E. Kaut, of Pratt Institute, tell of the possibilities of industrial education and its influence in solving the industrial problems. So heated and diversified had the subject become by the interjection of many other important questions by the students of economic problems, that the rector, Mr. Melish, and his assistant, Mr. Amos, joined in the battle, not so much to voice their sentiments on the matter as to give rescue to the Pratt instructor, whose post became untenable by the rapid and hypothetical questions thrust at him from all sections of the hall. In telling of the work done at Pratt Institute Mr. Kaut said:

"The present system of education in the secondary schools does not meet the demand. We are confronted with industrial conditions and development in which the soul of man and woman has been lost sight of. We are all at the present time 'up in the air' on the industrial question. We stand on the threshold of a wonderful industrial era of development, and have not the men trained to seize and control its forces, through that special training which our present curriculum lacks.

"Our present scholastic system" said Mr. Kaut, "reflects the method and spirit of the fifteenth century rather than the twentieth century. An entire revolution of present educational conditions by which useful and practical forces may be substituted for obsolete ones is necessary. Eight columns of figures handed to eight college students for addition, to-day would result in as many different answers. Not more than thirty per cent. of our boys and girls go beyond the lower school grades because of the necessity for self-support at an early age."

"I have waited many years for just such places as this forum," said a Mr. Dennis. "I am a college man and I find all public speakers dodge and avoid the reason and cause of these industrial problems. When you stop the few from syphoning the fruits of the labor of the many to their coffers, then your educational system will have achieved something. Industrial education without an opportunity for its application is useless."

After paying his respects to Pharoah, Cleopatra and a few of their contemporaries who stood in the shadow of the Sphinx, and voicing his opinion of Moses, the first walking delegate, the speaker was interrupted by a man who said: "We want no politics here."

Other speakers were Dr. Charles D. Larkins of Manual Training High School and Alvan E. Duerr of Polytechnic Institute.

ARION'S JOURNEY MARKS FUN.

Trip to Yellowstone Park Is Underlying Idea of Great Carnival Held.

Arion's intended trip to Yellowstone Park, which is planned for the coming fall was the underlying idea of the carnival held last night, at Arion Hall, in the presence of nearly 1,000 people. The hall, as usual, was decorated elaborately. Every man and woman was given a fool's cap, worn during the entire session, which was considered one of the most successful ones within many years. The carnival was presided over by Anton Braun, a well known carnivalist. The table on which the members of the small council were seated was tastefully decorated. In accordance with the underlying idea of the carnival the scenery represented a Pullman car and for nearly four hours wit and humor were delivered from that car. It was exactly 8:20 o'clock, when the small council lead by the two masters of ceremonies, August Paetow and Paul Zoellner, who were costumes of cowboys, marched into the hall. The assemblage arose from their seats and clapped their hands until the council was seated. President Braun then addressed all and greeted them all to the carnival. The rest of the programme was extremely interesting.

GATE WILL END RUNAWAY ACCIDENTS ON BRIDGE

Novel Device to Save Frightened Horses Is Invented by Watchman.

MUCH DANGER IS AVERTED.

Entire Invention Is Controlled by Electricity and Can Be Manipulated Quickly.

The most novel device to prevent runaway horses from injuring themselves on the bridges of the city is the invention of John Connors, a watchman on the Williamsburg Bridge. Connors had the satisfaction of seeing the new safety device installed on the bridge where he is employed. The invention, which is really a gate, patterned after Connors' ideas has received the approval of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and other humane societies which are interested in the welfare of dumb animals.

There is no bridge under the jurisdiction of the city where there have been so many runaway accidents as on the Williamsburg structure. There is hardly a week passes by when some horse is not frightened by the noise of the surface cars and the elevated trains and takes the bit between his teeth. This has been particularly true with funeral processions from the East Side, which cross over the Williamsburg Bridge to reach the various Jewish burial grounds in Brooklyn and Queens.

These runaways have always resulted seriously. The occupants of the coaches were usually severely injured and the team of horses which drew the vehicle were as a rule so severely injured by hurling themselves up against the massive gate in the Brooklyn roadway, that they had to be shot if they were not instantly killed.

Connors Sees Many Accidents.

Connors, the watchman, has been the witness of a score of these kinds of accidents. He figured it out that most of the damage was not due to the running away of the horses, but the impact with the gate which is promptly closed when the alarm is given that a runaway is speeding across the bridge. He set about to devise the construction of a gate which would not only prevent injury to the runaway steeds, but also save the occupants of the vehicles to which the runaways were attached.

The new gate which Connors devised is entirely different from the old gate. The old gate was nothing more or less than a solid mass of timbers which stretched across the complete breadth of the roadway. Mr. Connors' new gate furnishes a strange contrast, but it serves the purpose for which it was designed.

Instead of being solid the largest portion of the gate is open, the aperture being in the shape of the letter "V." This is done by using two "leaves" of timber running from each side of the bottom of the gate and joining them at the top of the gate. This leaves the lower portion entirely open and wide enough to permit two horses to go through, but not the vehicle which the animals are drawing.

How to Stop Runaways.

No runaway has occurred on the bridge since the installation of the gate to give the new device a practical test. But it is easy to picture in the mind's eye what will happen if a runaway does occur. The V-shaped aperture is wide enough to permit the horses to go through, but the coach, wagon or truck to which they may be attached will stop short in the aperture as soon as the horses go through.

At the apex of the device the flight of the horses will be brought up short without injury to them. The vehicle may be damaged, but not in any way to injure the occupants. The new gate is constructed in that fashion to give as much protection to the occupants as to the horses.

One of the other features of the gate is that

RAPID GROWTH OF TWO BOROUGHS SHOWN BY BUILDING AND REAL ESTATE RECORDS

Building and Loan Association Success.

The report of the Metropolitan League of Co-Operative Savings and Loan Associations of this city and its suburbs shows the most prosperous year in their history. One organization had an increase of $270,000 in assets and three others of about $100,000 each. In New Jersey especially the increase in both members and assets were notable in the past year. There are 164,000 members and assets of $70,000,000, and the gain in both was 10 per cent. in the last year. Many homes in the commuting district have been bought or built by means of the local building and loan organization. Towns like Hackensack, Rutherford and Bloomfield attribute much of their solid residential character to the building and loan society. One association in Hackensack has $1,100,000 assets and 677 borrowing members; one in East Rutherford has $700,000 assets and 360 borrowing members; the Essex County, of Bloomfield, has $850,000 assets and 451 borrowing members. There are nearly 100 organizations in Newark, and on a recent occasion the board of directors of one large association had applications from borrowers aggregating $100,000.

Reported Sale of Tract of 810 Acres in Queens.

Negotiations have been concluded for the purchase of the property of the Busby estate, in Jamaica, Borough of Queens, adjoining the property of Jamaica Estates. The contracts are to be signed as soon as the details are perfected. The parcel consists of 810 acres, composed of a number of farms which were purchased by Mr. Busby some years ago and assembled in this large parcel, running from Hillside avenue to Black Stump road, traversed by the road running from Queens to Bayside.

The Stewart branch of the Long Island Railroad runs through the property, here there will be a station of that road in the near future. The syndicate interested in the purchase is represented by Ernestus Gulick. It is planned to develop the property on the same lines as Jamaica Estates, with roads running through the valleys and retaining the trees and hills intact.

The price to be paid is $2,500 an acre, or over $2,000,000.

DEATH QUIETLY CLAIMS "CASHMERE SHAWL LADY"

Quaint Figure of Days of Long Ago Passes From Brooklyn Heights.

OF PROUD BAY STATE FAMILY.

Odd Costume Marked Little Woman as One Who "Lived in Past."

A quaint character, one that recalled a generation grown strange to modern eyes, has been lost to the Brooklyn Heights in the death of Miss Adelaide Tukey, known as the "Little Lady of the Cashmere Shawl."

Miss Tukey was old and very curious in her costume of ante bellum days and she was known to everybody. Yesterday her body was sent back to Mount Auburn, Cambridge, Mass., which was her home when cashmere shawls were the fashion and people still remembered the days of the periwig. She had died in the Long Island College Hospital on Friday and yesterday afternoon the Rev. Dr. John Howard Melish, recor of the Holy Trinity Protestant Episcopal Church, read the funeral service for her in that edifice.

"The Little Lady of the Cashmere Shawl" had been a familiar figure on the Heights ever since its oldest inhabitants can remember. The exact date of her coming is not known, and no one knew very much about her people. The shrewd, shriveled up little face, peering out under a hat of ancient vintage, and the slender figure inclosed in its cashmere shawl, was seen frequently about the street and often in the homes of some of the very best people living on the Heights. She was a familiar figure in the rooms of the Long Island Historical Society and at the Brooklyn Library. She was never without the shawl. She made some money by tracing lineages for people and by getting up genealogies. She was highly educated and could talk well, although she was a little eccentric. Many artists painted her as an interesting subject of a type of old, gentlewoman not seen often in the larger cities nowadays.

Miss Tukey was born in Salem, Mass., seventy-six years ago. Her shrunken little figure, with its striking dress, lent an impression of greater age, however. Her father, it is said, was a well to do merchant in Salem. He devoted a portion of his money to giving his daughter a good education. Later, it is said, he met with financial reverses which threw the girl on her own resources. She came to Brooklyn to live with some relatives, but they died and she lived alone. In later years she rented a room at 147 Hicks street, where she lived. She had some distant relatives in New Jersey who were very anxious to have her come and live with them, but she wouldn't do it. She couldn't make enough money to support herself entirely, however, and a number of very well-known people helped her in various ways. Among these were Seth Low, the Rev. Dr. Reese S. Alsop of St. Ann's, and others. She came and went as she pleased and she was always welcome at the homes of the wealthy people who befriended here.

Outside of heraldry and genealogy, in which she became expert, she had but one hobby. Long years ago when she was able to make donations instead of receiving them, she gave some bells to a church in Salem. This gift was always a great source of pride to her, and she talked about it frequently. She also engaged in a movement at one time to establish a home for poor working girls in Brooklyn.

For years when she first took up heraldry and geneaology as a means of support she had a little office in Fulton street. She traced the lineages of many well known families, but the business never proved an especially profitable venture.

Many people tried to buy the cashmere shawl from her, for it was a very fine one and worth a great deal of money, but Miss Tukey wouldn't sell, despite the fact that the proceeds would have been very grateful to her at that time. The shawl was to her what was the proper thing for a woman to wear and she refused to change with the fashions. She had always worn the shawl, and she would continue to do so, she would reply with dignity, as long as she lived.

The illness that resulted in her death was a very brief one, her aged and shriveled frame being unable to withstand a long siege of sickness. The funeral services at the Holy Trinity Protestant Episcopal Church were attended by many prominent residents of the Heights. The body will be laid to rest in the family plot in Mount Auburn.

OLD WOMAN BADLY BURNED.

Through her dress catching fire from fat, as she was cooking her breakfast, Mrs. Katherine Schillinger, 65 years old, of 2404 Bathgate avenue, the Bronx, was badly burned this morning. She was taken to the Fordham Hospital, where it was said that she will probably die.

George H. Fisher.

George Huntington Fisher, a former member of assembly, the Brooklyn Board of Aldermen, and its Board of Education, and long one of the leading members of the Brooklyn bar, died of pneumonia at his city home in the Hotel St. George, yesterday, after a week's illness. His summer home for years had been on Emmons av., on the shore of Sheepshead Bay. Mr. Fisher was born in Oswego, N. Y., on May 7, 1832, his father being George Fisher, the first lawyer to practice in Oswego County and his grandfather was a member of the Massachusetts provincial congress. His ancestors were English, who early settled in New England. Mr. Fisher graduated from Harvard College in 1852, graduated in law at the Syracuse University, and admitted to the bar in Utica, N. Y., in 1854. Soon after he entered practice in the Eastern District and was the senior partner of the firm of Fisher & Voltz, of 84 Broadway, at the time of his death. He was prominent in every movement looking to the betterment of Brooklyn, and was a charter member of the German Savings Bank, of which he was counsel since its inception. In 1906 his associates in the bank gave him a dinner at the Hanover Club in celebration of the fortieth year of his connection with the institution. Mr. Fisher was a member of the Hanover, Union League, and University Clubs, and a director in the Broadway Savings Bank, the German Savings Bank, the Manufacturers' National Bank, and the Eastern District Industrial Home, and trustee of the Eastern District Hospital. He was for years connected with All Souls Universalist Church, whose pastor, the Rev. L. Ward Brigham, together with the Rev. Dr. Hillis, D.D., will officiate at the funeral services to be held in the lecture room of Plymouth Church, Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. Mr. Fisher's widow is Mary E. Benoit, and he also leaves a son, George C., of San Francisco. The interment will be in Cypress Hills Cemetery.

The deceased, who was in the contracting business, was born in the Twelfth Ward, and was one of nine brothers who were famous in South Brooklyn for many years as athletes, especially as baseball players. He was also an accomplished musician. Funeral services will take place on Wednesday morning at his late residence, 524 Forty-fourth street, and a solemn requiem mass will be celebrated at 11 o'clock at St. Mary's Star of the Sea Church, Court and Nelson streets, of which his parents, now nearing their 80th year, were communicants for fifty-one years, prior to their removal to the Bay Ridge section, two years ago. The interment will be in Holy Cross Cemetery.

ROW AMONG BIG BANKERS OVER A CHINESE LOAN

Speyer Trying to Break Into Morgan, Kuhn, Loeb and Bank Syndicate.

DEAL INVOLVES $30,000,000.

But There Are Other Financial Prizes Yet to Come in the Far East.

Eagle Bureau,
608 Fourteenth Street.

Washington, February 7—A big row is on among the biggest bankers of New York over the share they shall have in the Chinese loan for the construction of the proposed Hankow Railroad. The State Department has been doing business with a syndicate composed of two big banking firms and two national banks. Now Speyer & Co. are trying to break into the syndicate, and a merry fight is on.

The syndicate which the State Department has recognized in connection with the $30,000,000 Chinese loan is composed of the following: J. Pierpont Morgan Company, Kuhn, Loeb & Co., the First National Bank and the City National Bank. These have told Secretary Knox that they will take any part of the Chinese loan which may be awarded to American bankers. The same combination stands ready to back up Secretary Knox in his proposal to neutralize the railroads of Manchuria. It is said that if necessary this syndicate will furnish anywhere up to $200,000,000 for investment purposes in the Far East.

Speyer & Co. have been making desperate efforts to break into the syndicate. Up to this time they have not succeeded.

James Speyer was in Washington about ten days ago and talked the matter over with the President. It is reported that the insistence of this firm on being admitted to the syndicate is proving embarrassing to the State Department. It seems that Mr. Speyer bases his claim to a right to participate in the deal on the fact of the firm's control of the China Construction and Development Company. This is a California corporation, organized for the purpose of promoting certain enterprises in China. It is said to have claims on the Chinese Government which give it a right to have a say in the $30,000,000 Hankow Railroad deal.

The company has a capitalization of $1,000,000, of which it is said there is only about $30,000 actual cash. Mr. Speyer recently acquired control of this concern, and he is using it as a club to compel recognition by the powerful syndicate. He has influential backing in the financial world, has great distributing power, and it is believed that he will break into the syndicate.

Up to this time the members of the syndicate have been figuring everything on a four-fourths basis. There is great objection to letting M. Speyer in on an equal share, but it is understood that he is insisting on a share and share alike privilege.

When George W. Perkins of the J. Pierpont Morgan Company was in Washington last week, he informed the Eagle correspondent that the syndicate was invited by the State Department to take up the share of the Chinese loan that might be awarded to America.

Mr. Perkins was not inclined to admit the right of Mr. Speyer to participate. It is thought that the reason the latter is making such a sturdy fight for recognition now is his desire to share in future bond floating enterprises under the State Department.

Secretary Knox is trying to promote the influence of the United States among the nations of the world through commercial and financial channels. If his scheme for the neutralization of the Manchurian railroads should be adopted by the Powers it would result in the investment of many millions of American capital in Far Eastern railroads. The syndicate headed by the Morgan Company realizes this, and so does Mr. Speyer. There is jealousy between these two rival groups of capitalists by reason of past international loan enterprises. Speyer outmaneuvered his rivals and scooped the entire Cuban bond issue some years ago and now controls the finances of the Cuban government.

The big melon cuttings will come when Americans embark in the railroad building business in Manchuria. Mr. Perkins said the other day that there was not such an explicit understanding among the syndicate regarding the control of investments in Manchuria, but that he assumed the same group of capitalists would finance these enterprises. This would shut Mr. Speyer out.

The State Department has not yet wound up the Hankow railroad deal. It is stated that the French, German and English governments are constantly bringing forward new objections. There seems to be a persistent effort to keep the Americans out. The fuss that is being raised is far out of proportion to the amount of money involved. All the parties seem to realize that this is but a starter, and that the big prizes are yet to come.

FINAL MASS MEETING ON CHURCH FEDERATION

"The Church Militant's Surrender to the Church Triumphant"

PASTOR C. T. RUSSELL

A full house greeted Pastor Russell yesterday at Brooklyn Academy of Music as he delivered his final discourse of a series of four on the subject of CHURCH FEDERATION. The large audience sat as if spell-bound, as they listened to the eloquent words which fell from his lips, all of which appealed to their reason, for he backed every proposition with Scripture. The question as to whether Catholics would bow to the Protestants or the Protestants to the Catholics was treated and the answer was conclusive.

Announcement was made by the Chairman that for the next three Sundays, at both 3 and 7:30 P.M., illustrated Chart Talks on the "Divine Plan of the Ages" would be delivered at the Brooklyn Tabernacle, 17 Hicks Street. One of the unique features of those meetings will be that seats will be free and no collection taken or appeal in any way for money, but that all will be welcome.

The Chairman also announced that on March 6th Pastor Russell will again speak in the Academy of Music.

A burning question will be discussed at that time, namely: "Inferno."

Text: "Say ye not, A Federation, to all them to whom this people shall say, A Federation; neither fear ye their fear, nor be afraid."—Isaiah viii., 12.

Brooklyn, Feb. 6—The fourth and final meeting for the consideration of doctrinal surrenders necessary to Church Federation was held to-day, Brooklyn's largest auditorium, the Academy of Music, being crowded. Pastor Russell of the Brooklyn Tabernacle delivered the address, as follows:

Having viewed during the past three Sundays what the leading denominations would need to sacrifice in the interest of Federation, we come to-day to the final discussion of this series—The Church Militant and Triumphant and her interest in the Federation movement. Let us endeavor to take so broad a view of this subject that there will be no room for disagreement on the part of true Christians of any denomination.

Unnecessary as it may be to explain to this large and intelligent audience the significance of our topic, "The Church Militant and the Church Triumphant," I must think beyond the thousands present of the millions who tomorrow will receive reports of this discourse from that great channel of the world's progress, the secular press. Hence I explain that the term Church Militant signifies the Church in warfare, struggling with the powers of evil, while the Church Triumphant signifies the Church victorious, glorious, joined with her Lord, the Heavenly Bridegroom, as His Bride and Queen in the great Millennial Kingdom soon to bless and uplift the world of mankind. I should further add that while in this discussion we have considered the various denominations of Christendom and their creeds, we must to-day ignore all human systems and creeds. We must take the broad, general ground of the Scriptures and recognize only one Church.

Nor may we make the mistake of saying that the one Church is one Sect. No sect, no denomination, however great and influential and numerous and rich, either in sordid or historic wealth, can be conceded the right to appropriate the name which our Lord gave to all truly His disciples. Surely none of us is sectarian enough to dispute this premise. We must learn to recognize the Church of Christ from the same viewpoint as does the Head of the Church. We must learn the force of St. Peter's words to Cornelius, "Of a truth I perceive that God is no respecter of persons; but in every nation he that feareth Him and worketh righteousness is accepted with Him." (Acts x: 34, 35.)

Taking, therefore, the Scriptural view of the Church, we recognize it as the "Body of Christ" of many members, over which He is the Head. It is composed of consecrated followers of Christ, irrespective of all denominational lines—those who, turning from sin, accept Jesus as their Redeemer, through whom they have forgiveness of sins and reconciliation to the Father—those who have become disciples of Christ, taking up their cross to follow Him, and who have received the begetting of the Holy Spirit. Who could dispute that these are the Church of Christ? Who shall say that they must belong to this Communion or that, or lose their relationship to the Head, Christ Jesus? The apostles never referred to Baptist Christians, Methodist Christians, Catholic Christians, Presbyterian Christians, etc., but merely to those whom we have described and whom they styled saints—"the Church of the living God, whose names are written in heaven." (Hebrews xii:23; I Timothy iii:15). Let us keep strictly within the lines of God's Word, and avoid the errors of the past. Let us to-day consider this Church as the Church Militant and prospectively the Church Triumphant.

The Church Militant.

If we all agree that we have before our minds the real Church, the Church of the New Testament, let us notice that there is a nominal Church also and that we are not competent to fully determine which are the real and which are the nominal Christians except by the test which our Lord has given—"by their fruits ye shall know them." While the real Church of fully consecrated believers, faithful to the Lord and His Word and the principles of righteousness, is represented by a very small number, there is a nominal Church, related thereto as is a shell to the kernel of a nut. The nominal Church includes those whose manner or whose attendance on worship implies a relationship to Christ without having gone the length of a full faith-acceptance of Him in sacrifice, perhaps without having fully turned from sin even in their hearts, and without having made a full consecration to serve the Lord. This nominal class may be subdivided into believers who are favorably disposed toward Christ and righteousness; others who regard the Church as merely a moral club designed for social and moral benefit or influence upon the world, by counteracting sinful influences; still others, bitter at heart, sinful and selfish, having no faith whatever in Jesus and no care whatever for morality and using the name of Christ hypocritically, merely as a garment to deceive, that they may the better gain their ends. Thus we find the nominal Church to consist of:—

(1) Hypocrites; (2) Moralists; (3) Indifferents; (4) Seekers after godliness; (5) The true Church, "the sanctified in Christ Jesus" (I Corinthians, 1:2—"members of the Body of Christ"—prospective members of the Church Triumphant.

Fightings Without and Within.

Every member of "the Church of the first-born" was called "to suffer with Christ" that he may be also later glorified with Him in the Millennial Kingdom. Only those who will stand the test of faithfulness under sufferings, trials, crosses, self-sacrifices have the promise of sharing with Christ the glories of the Church Triumphant. "If we be dead with Him, we shall also live with Him; if we suffer with Him, we shall also reign with Him; if we deny Him, He also will deny us." (II Timothy ii: 11, 12).

But why should the Church fight? Is she not commended to live peaceably with all? Are not Christians exhorted to war not with carnal weapons and to be smitten on both cheeks, rather than to return evil for evil? Where, then, comes in the fight? Who are the foes? Surely, none would assail a non-resistant.

We reply that the facts do not bear out that suggestion. Our Lord and His apostles were peaceable and non-resistant, obedient to kings and laws, and yet they suffered violent deaths, as well as stripes and imprisonment. They had their names cast out as evil. And those who persecuted and maligned them verily thought that they did God service. All who follow in the Lord's footsteps must expect similar treatment because, as Jesus said, "The servant is not greater than his Lord." "Marvel not if the world hate you, ye know that it hated Me before it hated you. If ye were of the world, the world would love his own; but because ye are not of the world, but I have chosen you out of the world, therefore, the world hateth you" (John xvii;18 19). The Master said, "The darkness hateth the light," which explains why the chief religionists of His time, being of wrong condition of heart, instigated His crucifixion. They were of the darkness, living outwardly holy, while in heart they were far from consecrated to God. The very holding up of the torch of Truth was painful to them, reproved them and excited their animosity. Human nature is the same to-day. Notwithstanding the fact that heretic-roasting has become unpopular and intolerable to the world, there are methods of privately and symbolically roasting, slashing, wounding and killing practiced by those estranged from God, though sometimes highly esteemed of men and wearing vestments only slightly less glorious than those worn by Caiaphas and Pilate.

"Who Scourgeth Every Son."

The Scriptures explain that there is a two-fold reason why Jesus and all of his followers are required to suffer for righteousness' sake.

(1) It is requisite to their own character-development that they should not only profess absolute loyalty to God and to Truth, but that this loyalty should be put to the test. Thus we read of our Lord that, though "holy, harmless, undefiled," He was "proved perfect in his loyalty by the things which he endured—by his obedience even unto death, even the ignominious death of the cross. The same principle, the Scriptures assure us, operates in connection with all whom God is now calling to be Emmanuel's associates in the Millennial Kingdom. They must suffer with Him if they would reign with Him. They must walk in his steps (Galatians, v., 11; vi. 12; II. Thessalonians, i., 5; II. Timothy, i., 12; ii., 9, 12; iii., 12).

(2) These experiences are designed of God to qualify us to be judges of the world during the Millennial Age—that the Christ, Head and Body, may be merciful and faithful toward the people of earth. Likewise it is proper that the world should know that its judges have thus been tempted and tried and are able to sympathize with them in their weaknesses and in their endeavors for righteousness—and more willing to help them up, up, up to human perfection than to consign them to the Second Death.

Although this conflict has lasted for more than eighteen centuries, it has not been long for any single individual. With the Master Himself the trial period was only three and a half years. On the whole, as compared with eternity, the entire Gospel Age of Sacrifice, as the Master said, is but "a little while." And as for the afflictions and testings themselves, St. Paul gives the proper thought, saying, that at most they are "light afflictions but for a moment and not worthy to be compared with the glory that shall be revealed in us," the overcomers (Romans, viii., 18).

The Church Triumphant.

The Church in glory and in power will contain no hypocrites and no merely nominal Christians—only the true, the saintly, the "sanctified in Christ Jesus." Nevertheless, it will be composed of two classes, as illustrated by the Priests and the Levites in the type. (1) Jesus glorified, the anti-typical High Priest, and His faithful footstep followers, the anti-typical under-priesthood—otherwise, His "Bride." Together these are styled a Royal Priesthood or a Kingdom of Priests. St. Paul tells us that Melchizedek, who was a priest upon his throne, merely typified the Church Triumphant—Head and Body—The Christ, "A priest forever after the order of Melchizedek"—a priest upon his throne. During the Millennial Age that glorious Priest, Head and Members, will bless and uplift, rule and judge the world of mankind, with a view to recovering as many as possible, as many as will obey Him, from the ruin of sin and death. During the thousand years of the Melchizedek reign all the families of the earth will be blessed with opportunities of return to human perfection and to earthly Paradise. The willing and obedient will be destroyed in the Second Death. At the close of the Millennium Christ's Mediatorial Kingdom will terminate.

As the Levites were much more numerous than their brethren, the Priests, so there is another class in the Church corresponding—styled "a great company, whose number no man knoweth," in that they were not specially predestinated. These less earnest, less zealous than the faithful "little flock," will reach a plane of glory through tribulation also, but with less joy. These, we are told, will be with the Bride as her companions. As Levites they will serve God in His temple, but not be members of the temple class, the Priesthood. These will have palm branches and be before the Throne, while the Royal Priesthood will have crowns and be in the throne as members of the Body of Christ.

The Church Militant's Surrender.

All the soldiers of the cross, experiencing fightings without and within against the powers of sin and darkness and their own weaknesses, surely long for the time of their "change" in the "First Resurrection." They long for the time when this mortal shall put on immortality; when this corruptible shall have put on incorruption; when we shall be like our Redeemer and see Him as He is and share His glory. Gladly, therefore, do all of God's consecrated people wait for the blessed change promised at our Lord's Second Coming, when that which is sown in weakness shall be raised in power; when that

TESTS BY ENGINEERS.

The Board of Estimate to-day decided to investigate the "engineering feasibility" of the amended scheme of the Catskill Board of Water Supply to carry water to Brooklyn, Queens and Richmond by a pressure tunnel through the heart of Manhattan Island. President Mitchel of the Board of Aldermen and Controller Prendergast reported that they thought the plan was a good one, but were not satisfied that it would be advisable because of the rock formation on Manhattan Island.

A resolution was adopted empowering a committee of three to engage the services of two engineers and a geologist to examine into the engineering feasibility of the project and report to the board at the earliest moment.

After Trying to Kill Mrs. Nelson, Herman Lang Ends Own Life.

WOMAN WOULDN'T MARRY HIM

She Narrowly Escaped Being Hit by Bullets Fired Through Window of Her Home.

Clad in full evening dress, Herman Lang, 62 years old, a musician, living at 811 East One Hundred and Eighty-ninth street, the Bronx, sent a bullet through his heart, on the veranda of the home of Mrs. Bertha Nelson, at 115 Park street, Corona, Queens Borough, last night, and fell dead.

It was after Lang had fired three shots through the window of Mrs. Nelson's apartments that he turned the gun on himself. He probably feared that one of the bullets had killed or wounded the woman. She was, however, unharmed, but one of the balls did pass within an inch or two of her head as she sat near the window.

Lang wanted to marry the comely Mrs. Nelson, whom he met at a picnic in Manhattan last May. He had repeatedly asked her to be his wife, but she refused. Lang was a widower with grown children, three sons and a daughter. Mrs. Nelson also has adult children. She said to-day that after making Lang's acquaintance, last May, she went out with him at intervals until Labor Day, when she saw him for the last time, and told him, once for all, she would not marry him. She is ten years younger than Lang.

The musician called twice at Mrs. Nelson's home yesterday. The first time she was away. He left and reappeared late in the evening. Her son went to the door and told Lang his mother was not at home. The man went away muttering.

Reaching the veranda he drew a revolver and fired three times through the window. Then he sent a fourth bullet into his brain and died instantly.

Dr. McCarthy was called, but could only pronounce the man dead. The police and the coroner were notified, and Coroner Schaefer ordered the body removed to Lake's morgue, where it remains, no one having yet claimed it.

In the pocket of the suicide's dress coat were two letters in German. These were turned over to Coroner Schaefer, who has not made their contents public.

The shooting caused a lot of excitement in the Park street section. Mrs. Nelson was prostrated by the tragic end of her former friend and her own narrow escape from death.

SHOT BY BROTHER-IN-LAW

Family Difficulties and Overdose of Whisky Caused It.

Volckns and Hehl Had Been Drinking Together All Night—Injured Man May Recover.

As the result of a shooting affray just after 8 o'clock this morning in the saloon at Utica avenue and Fulton street, Charles Volckns, 32 years old, of 157 Sumpter street, is in a critical condition at St. John's Hospital. His brother-in-law, Peter Hehl, jr., who lives at 159 Sumpter street, is locked up at the Atlantic avenue station, charged with felonious assault, and after he has had time to work off the effects of too much whisky he will be taken to the Gates avenue police court.

As near as the police can find out there is believed to have been some family difficulties, and these, with an overdose of liquor, brought about the altercation. It was learned that Hehl, who is a bartender at his father's saloon on Sumpter street and Howard avenue, in company with Volckns and several other friends, left the saloon near midnight to go to the wake of a former friend, Fred Koberstein, who lived with his sister, Mrs. Odelia Gucker, at 115 McDougall street.

The crowd did not remain at the wake any length of time, and from then until shortly after 7 o'clock their movements are not known. Just about that time Hehl, Volckns and another man entered the cafe at Utica avenue and Fulton street. The third party soon left, but Hehl and Volckns remained talking with the bartender, Alfred Payns. Volckns entered the rear room and was followed by Hehl. They had taken seats on either side of a short partition, when without any warning, Hehl took a 32-caliber revolver from his pocket, and looking to see if his brother-in-law was still sitting on the other side of the partition, reached out and fired at him.

Patrolmen Henninger and Convay of the Atlantic avenue precinct, happened to be passing the saloon. As they entered they saw Hehl pass a revolver to the bartender, and heard him say he had killed his brother-in-law. Surgeon Griffin of St. John's Hospital found that the bullet had entered the right temple of Volckn's head and passed out just above the ear. It is thought he will live. There is danger, however, of him having a fractured skull. He was so intoxicated that the police were unable to get any statement from him regarding the shooting, but could identify his brother-in-law as the one who fired the shot.

WOMAN TOOK POISON.

After Quarrel With Husband, Mrs. Hogan Swallowed Iodine.

Mrs. Maggie Hogan, 42 years old, the wife of Martin Hogan, a laborer, was removed last night from her home, at 1 Washington avenue, to the Eastern District Hospital, suffering from iodine poisoning, which, it is alleged, she took with suicidal intent.

Mrs. Hogan and her husband quarreled in the early part of the evening, and when he left the house in anger she swallowed the iodine. Her groans attracted neighbors, who notified Policeman Rickert of the Lee avenue station. Dr. Leibovici, from the Eastern District Hospital, removed her there. Her condition was said to be critical this morning.

NOMINATIONS BY HUGHES.

Albany, March 4—Governor Hughes sent to the Senate to-day the nomination of Frank A. Bosworth of Utica as a trustee of the Raybrook State Tuberculosis Hospital. The Governor also sent in the nomination of John W. Hogan of Syracuse as commissioner of the State Board of Charities for the Fifth Judicial District.

DENIES WIFE'S CHARGES.

Debard Says He Did Not Strike Partly Paralyzed Woman.

Mrs. Emily Debard of 222 Grafton avenue, Woodhaven, appeared in the Far Rockaway court yesterday morning as complainant against her husband, Eugene, whom she charged with having assaulted her by punching her in the face with his fists.

Mrs. Debard is not in the best of health and is partly paralyzed. Debard alleged that she had fallen and injured herself and that he did not strike her. Magistrate Smith placed him under $500 bail for examination on March 12.

FELL FROM THIRD STORY.

Yanked Out of Window—Wash Line Broke Her Fall.

Amelia Haas, nineteen years old, of 89 North Fourth street, narrowly escaped fatal injuries this morning when she fell from a third story window. The young woman was hanging out washing when the hook in the side of the frame pulled out. The line was filled with washing, and she was yanked through the open window. In her descent she fortunately struck a clothes line on the floor below, which broke her fall. She escaped with some contusions and shock.

COAL MEN MAKE KICKS

Dock Commissioner Tomkins Hears Their Grievances.

He Then Explains Conditions and Expresses Hope That Matters Will Soon Be Improved.

The coal trade was strongly represented at the public hearing held by Dock Commissioner Tomkins, in the Administration Building, at Pier A, North River, yesterday afternoon, for the discussion of waterfront or wharfage congestion. Only one dealer complained that he was unable to get his coal "hoisted," and he was told he could get it landed the next morning by putting up the money. Commissioner Tomkins agreed with several speakers, who stated that the congestion affected general commerce more than any large particular trade, such as ice or coal.

James T. Hoile of the Manufacturers Association, who said he represented certain persons who occasionally used a few pieces of coal, called attention to the waterfront needs of Brooklyn. He declared that the necessity for additional piers was not confined to South Brooklyn. Improvements are sadly needed for the manufacturers who dock from Fulton Ferry to Newtown Creek. Commissioner Tomkins gave a partial list of the piers the department has included in its $18,000,000 corporate stock budget for this year, but none of them were located on the Brooklyn shore. The commissioner said:

"The policy of leasing under long terms so much of the waterfront of New York, and especially of lower Manhattan, has brought about an acute congestion in the handling of coarse freights, like building material and coal, at the few docks which are still available. This policy has resulted in unnecessarily long hauls from the few available points along the waterfront, and indirect expense to which the city is put to as a consequence of these hauls on coal and building materials is very heavy, and outweighs the advantage of the large revenue received from piers under long leases to railroads and steamship companies.

"This department is contemplating the extension of the system of permits for temporary occupancy of the dock front in contra-distinction to leases for definite terms as heretofore. By so doing greater control can be maintained over the dock front than by the existing system; and berths can be found for vessels which otherwise could not be found, which berths are frequently not in use under the leases. There should be an obligation upon the part of the department to find a berth for every vessel seeking the port, whether barge, sailing vessel or steamer. This cannot now always be accomplished, and the general commerce of the port is suffering as a consequence.

"By April 30 many short-term leases and permits will expire, and while no sudden and unfair changes are contemplated, it will probably be the policy of the department hereafter to substitute occupancy under a revocable permit for tenure under a lease.

"The public hearing next Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock will be upon the building material interests in their relation to the Dock Department."

PET CAT GOES MAD

Maltese Bites and Scratches Boy and His Mother.

Was Being Made to Do Jumping Tricks and Resented Lad's Cuffing.

Another pet cat which had always been fondled became vicious last night, and in its attack bit a woman and her son. The cat was a Maltese, and had been in the family of Mrs. Mary Morrison, at 395 Broadway, for several years. The animal had been taught tricks by the woman's son, Michael, 14 years old. Most of the tricks were of a high jumping character and in doing one two weeks ago the cat landed in such a manner as to hurt one of its forepaws.

In order to allow the injured paw to get well, Michael did not attempt to have the cat repeat any of its tricks until last night. The animal, however, rebelled, and after repeated attempts the boy lost his temper and cuffed the cat, which in turn viciously attacked the boy, fastening its teeth into his left cheek, and as it renewed its attack scratched him on the nose and face.

Becoming frightened the boy shouted, and his mother grabbed a broom which she raised for the purpose of striking the animal. Immediately the cat turned its attention to Mrs. Morrison, and before she could strike with the broom it leaped at her and managed to bite her slightly on the back of the left hand. As the kitchen door had been left open the cat darted through it into the hall and disappeared.

Mrs. Morrison took her son to the Eastern District Hospital, where Dr. Cohen cauterized the bite and scratches on his face and the slight wounds on her hand.

NO MARK AGAINST STILLWELL.

Magistrate Decides That He Didn't Violate Excise Law—Policeman Hasty.

William Stillwell, who maintains a hotel at the foot of Bay Forty-eight's street, Ulmer Park, which has been famous for forty-eight years as a shore-dinner resort in summer and as a rendezvous for fishermen in the winter, was before Magistrate Voorhees in Coney Island police court this morning charged with violation of the excise law, and the case was dismissed.

Mr. Stillwell succeeded his father at the old location and his arrest on February 27 was the first complaint entered against the establishment since it was opened in 1862. Detective Milton J. Murphy and Mounted Patrolman Donnelly, from the Bath Beach police, in plain clothes, made the arrest and said they purchased whisky and beer.

Witnesses stated that they ordered a meal, but before Mr. Stillwell had an opportunity to serve it he was arrested. Judge Voorhees discharged the defendant and Stillwell's Hotel again stands with an unblemished record.

MAGER MAY BE LEADER OF QUEENS DEMOCRACY

Plan Is to Shelve Cassidy, Harvey and, Possibly, Gresser.

LATTER MUST FALL IN LINE.

If He Does Not, Campaign of Annoyance Will Be Started Against Him, Is Rumor.

According to the statement of well-informed men in Queens Borough, a new alignment of political leaders is about to be consummated, and those who are in it propose to have the ruling hand in Democratic affairs of the future. This statement is made by men who have received invitations to a meeting which is to be held in Manhattan to-night, at which a plan of action is to be mapped out.

In the combination at the present time are County Clerk Martin Mager, Municipal Judge Alfred Denton, Magistrate Maurice E. Connelly, Sheriff Thomas M. Quinn and Surrogate Daniel Noble. This combination proposes to be anti-Cassidy, anti-Harvey and perhaps, anti-Gresser. Cassidy and Harvey are to be turned down as leaders, and the most likely man in the combination for leadership is declared Martin Mager. He has, it is said, shown his ability in a number of ways, and for some years, until the last election, he managed to keep himself before the people, although holding but a minor position. Now, with one of the biggest county offices at his back, he is in a leading position. The goal of Mager's ambition, it is said, is the borough presidency.

This combination is to be anti-Gresser, provided the borough president does not fall in line with it and give it such recognition in the way of patronage as he is able to do. There are those who say that President Gresser will do this, and they point to his appointment of Oliver S. Hardgrove as sewer superintendent, a close friend of Sheriff Quinn, as evidence of his intention.

It is said that if President Gresser does not fall in line that a campaign of annoyance will be kept up against him which may eventually lead to his resignation. Evidences of such a purpose on the part of the combine has not been lacking lately, for articles have been appearing in the local and city press that it is claimed were inspired. These articles have said that President Gresser intended to resign. He says he has absolutely no intention of doing so. He declares that he intends to serve out his term of office with credit to himself and to those who elected him, and nothing can change that resolution.

The facts are that the best people in the borough do not want to see a condition arise where President Gresser will leave his office until the end of his term. They believe that the borough has already had enough of removals and so forth, and they want to see this administration a complete one. One of the leading men of the borough said yesterday:

"I think this proposed combination of live politicians will have a lot of support in its efforts to push aside some of the old hacks who have done nothing but disrupt the Democratic party. If these men are wise they will tend to that business and nothing else. But if they attempt to annoy President Gresser, and thus bring reproach on the borough by having him resign or be removed, if that were possible, they will get short shrift among the thinking people of the borough."

This sentiment was echoed by half a dozen thinking men who discussed the situation.

DEATH SENTENCE AFFIRMED.

Charge That Hill's Father Encouraged Him to Confess to Secure Reward.

Albany, March 4—The judgment of conviction in the case of Earl Hill, charged with the murder of Eldredge Davis, in Bainbridge, Chenango County, on August 26, 1908, was affirmed to-day by the Court of Appeals. Hill, who was indicted jointly with David H. Borst, was convicted on circumstantial evidence.

It was alleged that Hill's father encouraged him to make a confession of the crime for the purpose of securing a reward that had been offered for the apprehension of the murderer.

BARGE CANAL BILLS.

$20,000 to Permit Commission to Study Terminal Systems.

Albany, March 4—The Senate canal committee to-day reported a bill by Senator Allen continuing the barge canal terminal commission in office and appropriating $20,000, to permit the commission to study terminal systems in the United States and abroad.

Senator Hill to-day introduced a bill providing for the issue of fifty year 4 per cent. canal bonds in an amount not to exceed $78,000,000, in lieu of bonds previously authorized at 3 per cent. but not issued. They are to be sold in lots not exceeding $10,000,000 in amount. The constitutional amendment adopted last year authorized the increased interest rate.

WOMEN AGAINST WOMAN

Mrs. C. W. Morse's Efforts for Husband Being Balked.

It Is Said That Jeanne d'Arc League Is Trying to Keep Ice King in Jail.

Friends of Mrs. Charles W. Morse (who is trying to have her husband released from the Federal prison in Atlanta) were much surprised to-day to learn that a woman's suffrage organization, known as the Jeanne d'Arc League, had floated a counter-petition asking that Morse be kept in jail.

Among the many sympathizers of Mrs. Morse who came to the front in her behalf on this proposition was Mrs. Alma Webster Powell. According to a statement made in behalf of Mrs. Morse, Mrs. Powell declared that the Jeanne d'Arc League greatly imperiled the cause of woman suffrage with a petition which tended to work against Mrs. Morse and her efforts to get her husband out of jail.

"It is a deplorable example of uncharitableness," said Mrs. Powell. "Mrs. Morse is doing the most natural and womanly thing in trying to get her husband out of jail."

It was stated that many prominent New Yorkers have come to Mrs. Morse's aid, and will help organize the "Morse Petition League," which will seek to get 100,000 good names before June 1. One banker has offered his uptown office as a headquarters for the league.

JAMAICA BAY NEEDS 30 FOOT CHANNEL

Tomkins Says It Would Mean Revolutionary Development of New York City.

PLANS FOR A BIG TERMINAL.

Extensive Warehouse and Railway Equipment, and Opportunity for Nearby Factories.

A committee from the Jamaica Bay Improvement Association waited upon Dock Commissioner Calvin Tomkins yesterday afternoon and presented him with a set of resolutions adopted by that organization. Incidentally the members of the committee asked Commissioner Tomkins to give them an idea of the plans the department had in view for the development of the new harbor. He said:

30-Foot Channel Means a Revolutionary Development for New York City.

"I consider this improvement of vast significance to the City of New York. If it is possible ultimately to maintain a 30-foot channel in Jamaica Bay or a deeper channel, the Jamaica Bay improvement will be a revolutionary event in the development of the city. If it is not possible to maintain more than the 14-foot channel that exists now, nevertheless that large area of land and water will be of the greatest value to the city as an industrial railway terminal with the barge canal equipment.

"I think that the former possibility is likely to come about. I believe we should look at this thing in a very practical way. I don't think that the improvement of the bay, in the manner that the city will probably undertake it, will go ahead with a great rush. I don't believe the city will have the funds to do it that way, but I think the city will decide to make a start, and the first use to which the bay will be put, it seems to me, will be a use like that to which Gowanus and Newtown Creeks were put, providing facilities for obtaining cheap building material to build up the city, coal and coarse freights, and introducing an opportunity of industrial development by feeding raw materials to the factories which will go there. I believe factory developments should go on coincidentally with the terminal development, and that we should plan to build a terminal as distinguished from a mere waterfront; that is, with warehouse equipment and railway equipment as well as docks.

Railway Development Should Be Under the Control of the City Officials.

"I believe that the railway development should be under the control of the city. If the opportunity of such a general railway terminal is not availed of, it will be very difficult to provide it later.

"At the present time Jamaica Bay is about as near to the New Jersey system of railroads as it is possible to reach with the tunnel grading. You can do it for passengers, but you cannot do this advantageously for freight in Manhattan. It looks as though we will have to continue to depend upon the car float in Manhattan and South Brooklyn, as distinguished from the switch, and this is a permanent handicap, direct railway connection, of course, being cheaper.

"Back of the warehouses, there should be located factory sites, and here is a great opportunity for private development. I believe the street system and the local railway terminal system should be so planned as to make it possible to connect every future factory site with the waterfront terminals. That is what they are planning to do in New Jersey and it is the key to the New Jersey situation.

"The overshadowing consideration, to my mind, is that of keeping the city ahead of the speculator. If we are to have an economical development and a quick development, the city must place itself in the position which the speculator usually occupies, and by so doing avoid stumbling over its own tracks by raising values.

"The working out of the entire waterfront development depends on the acquisition of property in such a way as to facilitate the further acquisition of property.

City Should Acquire the Waterfront Lands to Facilitate the Development.

"I believe that ultimately, if the city acquires these waterfront lands, the development will be greatly stimulated, because the basis for utilization—the rent paid—will be lower than it would be under any private system, based upon progressive speculative advances.

"The majority and minority reports of the Jamaica Bay commission are in pretty fair agreement as regards the short development. As regards the interior development, they are not, but that is not a material question at present, and we have plenty of time for consideration."

The delegation included Elwin S. Piper, George W. Wilson, Nelson B. Killmer and Henry A. Meyer, of the Improvement Association; Addison Wheeler, of the Smith Street Board of Trade; A. H. Jaggers, of the South Side Board of Trade; J. Lummis, of the Ozone Park Board of Trade; Richard Weber, of the Ridgewood Board of Trade; J. J. Snyder and F. L. Odell, of the Flatbush Taxpayers Association; Albert Firman, of the Twenty-eighth Ward Board of Trade; T. Curley, of the Prospect Heights Citizens Association; James Graham, of the Thirty-second Ward Citizens Association; James Bell, of the Richmond Hill Board of Trade; E. E. Pabst, of the Ocean Hill Board of Trade; J. Jamieson, of the Rockaway Beach Board of Trade; J. H. Booth, of the Jamaica Citizens Association; T. J. King, of the East Flatbush Taxpayers Association; N. H. Levi, president of the Broadway Board of Trade, and J. J. Chambers, of the Twenty-eighth Ward Board of Trade.

B. R. T. DID ITS BEST.

Tried to Notify Passengers That Subway Trains Had Stopped, but Couldn't Tell All.

It was stated at the Brooklyn Rapid Transit offices this morning that the road had used every effort to notify its patrons of the delay in the subway yesterday morning. No notification was sent to the local system by the Interborough in reference to its trouble in the tube. Surface car inspectors along Fulton street noticed that passengers were coming back from the subway entrances and they called the officers in Clinton street and notified them. Orders were immediately sent out from headquarters to the junctions at East New York, Franklin avenue and Thirty-sixth street to notify all crews of Manhattan bound trains that the subway was blocked, so that passengers might be notified in turn to continue on to Park row across the bridge. In addition street inspectors were ordered to the elevated stations nearest subway terminals to notify passengers of the block before they were off the station platforms. Officers of the road said to-day that they thought that this had been thoroughly done.

It was said that it was no small operating problem to handle trains through an early morning fog, and that the extra work of notifying the five guards of nearly 150 trains was no small added task. The time lost in permitting passengers to return to the trains at Atlantic avenue was so considerable as to cause a moving block there for nearly an hour. At about a quarter of 9 the Interborough notified the local road that the subway was again in normal condition and word was passed as rapidly as possible to the elevated stations. Brooklyn Rapid Transit has no official cognizance of traffic delays on other railroad systems. In a case like that of yesterday morning, its efforts to notify its patrons were entirely gratuitous, an official said to-day, and was carried forth to save them comfort and the payment of an extra unnecessary fare.

"BLACKHAND" WANTED $100

Emil Rosenthal Picked Up Decoy Envelope.

Blackmailers Sent Threatening Letter to Baker J. H. Giebelhaus, Who Notified Police.

Charged with sending a threatening letter in which $100 was demanded, a man described as Emil Rosenthal, 30 years old, of 431 East Thirty-first street, Manhattan, was locked up at police headquarters this morning on the complaint of J. Henry Glebelhaus, a baker, of 1520 First avenue. The man, the police allege, was arrested a few minutes after he had picked up a decoy letter.

By the first mail yesterday morning, Glebelhaus received the letter. It read as follows:

"March 2, 1910.

"Mr. Glebelhaus:

"Dear Sir—Owing to the lack of money our society calls upon you to supply us with the needed funds. You have not yet been called upon for money, but this will be the first and last time. We want you to place $100 in cash on the step of Davies' store, between 10 and 10:30 P.M. Thursday night. If you do not comply with our wishes your store will be blown up and you will be killed in the street, or in your house. One of our members will keep his eye on you and watch your every step. If you notify the police you will get your the next day. Do as we say and you will never be called upon again. Hoping you will fulfill our wishes, we remain,

"BLACKHAND."

After reading the letter over several times, the baker took it to police headquarters and Detectives McCahill and Kerr told him to do as he was told in the letter. Instead of putting $100, the man, in the presence of the detectives, marked a $1 bill with his initials and then folded some paper so as to make it look like a roll of bills.

Shortly after 10 o'clock last night, while the detectives were in a hallway across the avenue, Glebelhaus left an envelope containing the marked $1 bill on the stoop of Davies' tea store at 1522 First avenue. He walked away and, according to the police, Rosenthal appeared a few minutes later. At the time there were several men near the stoop and Rosenthal walked up and down. Finally the men went away and then, the detectives allege, he went to the stoop and dropped his handkerchief. As he picked it up, they say that he also picked up the envelope. The man then walked to the corner where, the detectives say, he opened the envelope and placed the contents in his pocket. As he did so, he was arrested and the marked money taken away from him.

When taken to police headquarters, Rosenthal told the police that he happened to see the envelope and that he picked it up to see what was in it.

IN THE INTEREST OF MISSIONS.

St. Margaret's Guild Holds Successful Meeting in St. Mark's Parish House.

A missionary tea, under the auspices of St. Margaret's Guild, was held in the parish house of the Church of St. Mark, Eastern parkway, on Saturday afternoon in the interest of the Woman's Auxiliary of the board of missions of the Episcopal Church.

The meeting was opened by the rector, the Rev. J. D. Kennedy, who presented the president of the auxiliary, Mrs. Alexander Hutchins, who gave an outline of the work of the society.

Mrs. Otto Heinigke, the president, reported for the Periodical Club, one of the important branches of the work which reaches out to all classes of men, women and children. Many instances were cited of a most interesting character, where the paper, the magazine, the book and the little Christmas and Easter card had found a hearty welcome in a foreign land or on board ship.

The Rev. J. W. Cuthbert of Kyoto, Japan, gave an entertaining talk on his broad experiences in the mission field of Japan.

Tea was served by the guild and during the social hour it was voted to raise an impromptu collection to put in the hands of Mr. Cuthbert. Then Mr. Wilson, president of the senior class of the Theological Seminary, presented the theoretical side of the mission work in Japan.

The hour for evening service drew the meeting to a close, and all present adjourned to the chapel for evensong.

This assembly was a new feature in connection with the auxiliary work, and delegates from many of the churches of the city were present. Similar gatherings will be held in other churches.

PASTOR RUSSELL ON HADES.

Preacher Gives His Ideas of Life After Death—Address Lasts Three Hours.

Pastor Russell of the Brooklyn Tabernacle addressed a large audience, which occupied free seats at the Academy of Music yesterday afternoon. He talked from 3 o'clock until a quarter before 6, without a stop. There was no applause during the course of this long speech, but there was a scattering volley of handclaps at the close. The address was given in the opera house, which was filled from the orchestra to the top of the gallery.

The speaker's remarks concerned his conception of life after death. He does not believe in the popular conception of Hades, apparently, and some of his remarks brought out snickers from the less serious members of his audience. The majority of the people present seemed to be attracted more by curiosity than by any other motive, and they waited patiently for sensational remarks by the speaker, listening to long expositions of the speaker's views about denominational beliefs, in the hope that he would say something which would afford them a laugh at the expense of the denomination which was their particular aversion.

He declared that from the Bible standpoint the grave is the only hell, and to it, as the Bible declares, both good and bad go, and from it both must be resurrected. The church in the first resurrection will experience an instantaneous change. The world coming forth from the tomb unto a resurrection by judgments would then be in the real and only purgatory of the Bible. Christ's millenial kingdom would serve out to them just judgments, rewards and punishments, according to the obedience or disobedience to the truth and grace then enjoyed. The speaker specially urged that Christian people should awake to a realization of the fact that the millennial morning is already dawning and that consequently the numbers of the "elect church" must be nearly completed.

J. T. Rutherford of the People's Pulpit offered a prayer at the close of the exercises. The services were held under the auspices of the People's Pulpit Association of New York.

PERIL OF MORMONISM.

Hans P. Freece Says Its Growing Influence Extends to New York.

At the evening service in the South Bushwick Reformed Church, Bushwick avenue and Himrod street, yesterday, Hans P. Freece pointed out the peril of Mormonism and the crimes committed in its name, and said its growing influence even extends to New York City. Mr. Freece, who is placarded as having been "born in the Mormon Church and the son of a plural wife," is honorary secretary of the International Reform Bureau at Columbia University, Manhattan, and an uncompromising foe of the sect in which he is said to have been raised. The address was given under the auspices of the Business Men's League of the Church.

The speaker gave an interesting history of the rise and growth of Mormonism, under the inspiration of Joseph Smith first, of Bringham Young next, and of the present regime, and told of their vicissitudes when driven from one state to another. During the times of the gold fever, he claimed, Young was especially attentive to the rich men returning from the mines. Nearly 400 men, women and children, Mr. Freece said, were cruelly put to death at one time or another, and an immense fortune thus secured on which the "church" has since survived. Mormonism, he said, however, is not a church, but a well organized trust, controlled by a hierarchy of fifteen men, who give the people to understand they are "chosen of God."

Mr. Freece flayed the Mormon Church for its alleged polygamous practices, in tracing the political activities of the Mormons and their successful attempts to get Utah made a state. In 1896, when the government returned to the Mormon Church its charter and enfranchisement of its leaders, the real Mormon problem began, the speaker said. He discussed the Smoot case, and declared if the senator practiced polygamy, he is not a fit man for the Senate.

"The W. C. T. U. is working quietly and has induced fifteen states to make polygamy a national crime," said Mr. Freece. "More missionary work and unceasing effort, combined with the purification of American politics will do much toward solving this important national problem."

MISS LYNE'S BIRTHDAY.

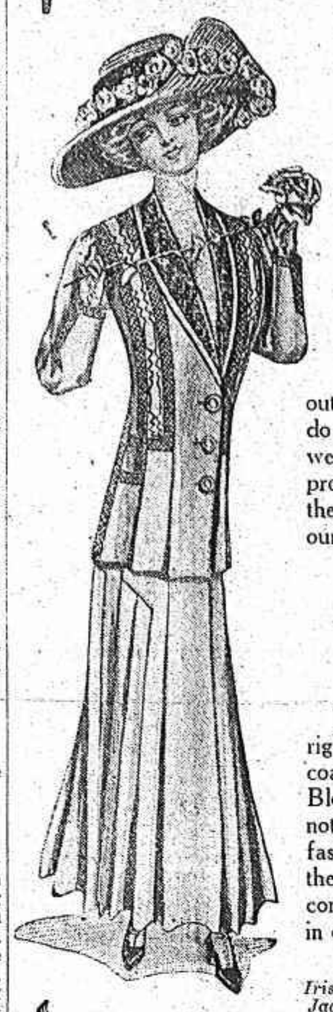

At the home of Mrs. Henry Hughes, 19 Windsor place, a birthday party was given to her granddaughter, Miss Emily Lyne, on last Monday evening. The hostess was attired in a catawba silk gown. Miss Lyne was assisted by her two aunts, the Misses Clara Rose and Helen Hughes, who sang and gave recitations. Selections were also given by Messrs. Dancing and games followed, a supper being served at midnight. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. J. Minter Lyne, Miss Emily Lyne, John Byrne, Miss Alice Cronin, Will Dilberger, Miss Mae Baraco, James Martin, Miss Mae Ureil, Joseph Cronin, Miss Mae Pearson, Bert Kirchner, Miss Dora Byrne, Peter Corcoran, Miss Queenie Phelan, Launcie Tynan, Miss Helen Hughes, James Ureil, Miss Gertrude Pearson, Thomas Redington, Miss Mae McKenzie, T. RABBI KRASS' LECTURE.

Begins a Series at Hebrew Educational Society.

Dr. Nathan Krass, rabbi of Temple Israel, Bedford and Lafayette avenues, delivered the first of a series of addresses last night at the Hebrew Educational Society of Brownsville. Dr. Krass hopes to make the feature of Sunday evening addresses a part of the educational programme of the H. E. S. Under his direction will be conducted a forum for the discussion of live questions, relating chiefly to moral and religious issues. Prominent men will be invited each week to speak. The cordiality and enthusiasm with which the rabbi was received last night and the large audience which came to listen to him are signs that this innovation is not only popular, but will be enthusiastically supported.

Dr. Krass' subject was "Moses," with applications to the intricate moral and religious problems of the day. He discussed Moses as the law giver and teacher of the moral law. The Mosaic law, he said, was the foundation of all our laws. Talking of Moses the man, he said in part.

"Moses was the servant of his people. A great many who get to be rich, who occupy exalted positions, sometimes forget the place they came from. Those people can learn from Moses genuine modesty, humility and simplicity. A man must always judge himself by what he has done for his fellowman. Moses was a man who loved his people and who served them. Moses had his faults. He was a man sometimes impatient and wrathful. He was human. If he was perfect he would not have been human. We do not like perfect men. He was not too good for the earth. We love him for his mixture of character.

"Moses has no burial place. He has countless monuments. What estimate shall we make of Moses? Where shall we place him? A man who is great in New York City is not great in New York State. As the world grows larger, the number of great men of the world grow smaller. The great men in the history of the world are the moral heroes, not the heroes of the battlefield. Moses is a great Jewish leader. The greatest man of all humanity, a servant of God and of his people."

FOR HOSPITAL BED FUND.

Under the name of the Midnight Sons' Association a number of night workers have banded together to raise money for the endowment of a bed or perhaps two in non-sectarian hospitals of Brooklyn. The association plans to hold a ball at Saengerbund Hall on Tuesday, March 29, and the members confidently expect to fill the hall to overflowing. Hearty support is being given to them by prominent men of all walks in life. The committee, which will take care of the distribution of the proceeds of the ball, is composed of James J. SQUADRON C WINS.

Troopers Spring Surprise Upon 47th Marksmen in Eagle Trophy Match.

The troopers of Squadron C sprung a surprise upon the Forty-seventh Regiment Infantrymen Saturday night, when they defeated them in the semi-finals for the Eagle Rifle Trophy. The cavalrymen piled up an aggregate of 350 against 345 for the infantrymen. They led almost from the start, scoring 165 off shoulder, while the Eastern District men had to contend with but 158. The latter at prone, however, nosed out their adversaries by 2 points.

The Naval Battalion beat the Fourteenth Regiment with a total score of 336 to 315. The match between the Signal Corps and the Thirteenth C. A. District will be shot at some future date. The team of the latter failed to show up as per schedule, Saturday night.

The standing of the teams indicates a lead of 347 over the Twenty-third. The latter, however, has one more chance at the targets, and unless the unexpected happens, they will overcome this lead. Their last total score was 347. All but the Forty-seventh have one or two more chances to shoot under the terms of the competition.

The standing of the teams is as follows:

Forty-seventh Regiment	1,663
Twenty-third Regiment	1,316
Squadron C	687
Naval Battalion	593
Fourteenth Regiment	457
Signal Corps	414
Thirteenth Regiment	346

The scores in the match between the Forty-seventh and the Squadron are as follows—those between the Naval Battalions and the Fourteenth not having been sent in as per the agreement:

The Badische Maennerchor, with headquarters at Turom's Hall, has elected the following officers: A. Schlatter, president; J. Hoelher, vice president; C. Gasser, recording secretary; F. Gassert, financial secretary; J. Kiefer, treasurer; Adam Walter, librarian; Julius Drueck, musical director. Rehearsals are held every Wednesday evening.

The George Gahn Pinochle Club, only recently organized, has elected the following officers: Wilhelm Mollck, president; Robert Meyer, vice president; Henry Hehms, recording secretary; Jacob Friedrich, financial secretary; George Gann, treasurer. The first summer festival is to be held on June 13, at Eldorado Park, Glendale, L. I. The headquarters of the club is at 96 Hamburg avenue.

Everything is ready for the annual masquerade of the Brooklyn Turnverein, which is to be held to-night at the Turn Hall on Atlantic avenue.

The masquerade festival given at Pels Hall, East New York, on Saturday night, was well attended. The ball, which was carefully managed by an able committee, of which Emil Lampes, Sr., was chairman, was a most successful one.

The delegates to the United Swiss Societies of Brooklyn have chosen a new headquarters. The society is now located at Judd's Hall, on Woodward avenue, Ridgewood Heights.

At the first meeting at the new headquarters, preparations for this year's Swiss popular festival were begun. It will be at Gerken's Ridgewood Grove. Jacob Zimmeli will be chairman.

The Victoria Lodge of the Order Harugari is making arrangements for a euchre on March 16.

The programme for the concert of the women's chorus of the Schwaebischer Saengerbund on March 13, at Schwaben Hall, has been completed by Musical Director Ernst Scharpf. The Lincoln Quartet, consisting of S. O. Batz, J. Haupt, R. Hildebrand and C. F. Bardes is to assist; E. Balle will sing a solo. The women will sing several new choruses, one jointly with the male chorus, accompanied by Prof. Otto Triebig's orchestra.

Lovers of good classic music will enjoy the production of Offenbach's "Orpheus in Hades," which is to be given on March 28, at Prospect Hall, under the direction of Mr. Carl Fique, by the Brooklyn Quartet Club, assisted by the women's chorus of the society. Rehearsals have been going on for some time. The two main characters in the opera, Orpheus, professor of music, and Eurydice, his wife, are to be played by Henry Weimann, tenor of the Manhattan Quartette, and by Mrs. Katherine Noack Fique, respectively. All other parts of the opera are well taken. Max Koeppe will be stage manager.

The employes of Saengerbund Hall have selected March 31 as the date on which they will have their annual ball.

Largely attended was the annual masquerade festival of the Swiss Women's Chorus No. 1, which was held at Hillside Hall, 229 Wyckoff avenue, on Saturday night. Several other Swiss societies were represented. During the evening the women, under direction of Conductor Benno R. Maskos, rendered several songs.

Nearly 1,000 people attended the annual masquerade ball of the Williamsburg Saengerbund, which was held on Saturday night at Palm Garden. The decoration of the hall was in accordance with the underlying idea of the ball, "A Jolly Night in Constantinople." All committee members were attired in Turkish costumes. The grand march was the feature of the ball. The affair was one of the most successful ever arranged by the Saengerbund.

The Cornelia Maennerchor, with headquarters at 173 Stockholm street, is said to be considering the advisability of joining the United Singers.

The Ladies' Chorus of the Brooklyn Saengerbund was successful with its eighteenth anniversary, which was celebrated last night at Saengerbund Hall. The attendance was very large, the Saengerbund, headed by President A. Nebel being largely represented. The programme arranged for the affair was very much appreciated by the audience. The women's chorus rendered the following songs: (a) "Die Mondsee"; (b) "Der Liebeschmied," by Meyer Olbersleben; (a) "Barcarole," by Offenbach; (b) "Rosenzelt," by Gretscher, while the male chorus who assisted rendered the songs, "Ein Woertchen nur," by Nepmann; (b) "Am Bruennele," by Trunk. The soloists of the evening were Miss Marie Deutscher, violin; William Bartels, tenor, and Miss Edith Kruse, soprano. The second part of the programme was filled out with a one-act musical comedy entitled "Lustige Pensions fraulein," in which Mrs. Steckert, Miss A. Renner, George Hilmer and Max Koeppe participated. The concert was followed by a ball which lasted until a very late hour.

DID CHRIST EXIST?

Henry Frank Talks on the Historical Evidence of His Existence.

"Is There Any Historical Evidence of the Existence of Jesus?" was the topic of the paper read by Henry Frank last night at the Aurora Grata Cathedral, Bedford avenue, to the Independent Liberal Congregation. Mr. Frank was moved to write the paper because of the statement made by a theological student recently in Germany that for centuries Christianity has been worshipping an Idea and not a Person.

Mr. Frank said, among other things: "It is very foolish for defenders of the faith to wax indignant because such a problem has been propounded and they are forced to meet and answer it. The multitude can no longer be kept in ignorance and the truth cannot be dangerous for any whose religion is more than a species of hypocrisy."

Mr. Frank then quoted several historians, and from literature whose authority is vouched for only by the Church, to prove that the story of Christ is a myth. In speaking of the Biblical sources, the lecturer said: "The writings of Paul were written several years before any of the gospel narratives, and in all these writings there is not a single reference or quotation from those gospels, and the narrative which Paul unfolds is not consistent with what they set forth. Paul knows nothing about Jesus except that He was crucified and rose from the grave. He knows nothing of His birth by a Virgin mother; of His divinity or claim to being God. The origin of gospel writings themselves is utterly unknown. Their authorship is absolutely undiscoverable. They are writings that came from no one knows where, but while there is absolutely no historical evidence of the existence of the Bible Jesus, there exists in Jewish history certain events that might form the germ of the gospel narrative."

In conclusion, Mr. Frank said: "Merely because Jesus is not an historical character does not overthrow the value of the narrative or the beauty of his alleged life. If Jesus is really only a symbol and not a reality, as a symbol He is still worthy of study and imitation."

After the paper, Mr. Frank gave a talk on "Cosmic Evolution and the Human Soul."

CONTRIBUTORS' FORUM---NOTE AND COMMENT BY EAGLE READERS.

AN admirer of Mayor Gaynor, "E. N. R.," who has an enthusiasm not incompatible with a sense of humor, presents in the Forum to-day a comparison of the Mayor's letter to a newly-appointed city magistrate with the advice given by Don Quixote to Sancho Panza, when the faithful squire was assuming the job of city magistrate in Barataria. The suggestion of plagiarism is not made seriously; yet the similarity of the two specimens of judicious and wholesome counsel are very much alike. Canon William Sheafe Chase also finds a text in the Mayor. He has studied pretty carefully the history of Connecticut, and is convinced that the "Blue Law Myth" has no earthly basis in fact. He attributes its origin to a discredited Tory, and offers for the readers of the Eagle some of the other absurdities of the same Tory. He thinks the Mayor was therefore in error in recent allusions to the "Blue Laws."

Michael Corcoran, whose signature is reasonably familiar to the readers of these columns, warmly advocates the scheme of issuing such an amount of national bonds as $22,500,000 would constitute the interest on, and the immediate construction of a navy of forty battleships and thirty cruisers, with a proportionate force of submarines and torpedo boat destroyers. He is convinced that Japan has broken faith with the United States as to the "open door" in China, and is being egged on by Great Britain to make war on us at the first opportunity. Gerald Ellis Cronin contributes a historical sketch of the sinking of the Kowshing, a ship under the British flag, but loaded with 1,500 Chinese troops, by a Japanese war ship before there had been any declaration of war with China. The 1,500 men went to the bottom of the sea. He notes that no declaration of war is necessary under international law.

Justice Robert J. Wilkin has a careful and temperate consideration of the advisability of certain changes in the law relative to the responsibility of parents for the support of children. When a child is committed to an institution, now, the father, if he is living, can be compelled to contribute to its support. But, if he is dead, no order can issue against the mother, though she may have remarried, and be in good circumstances. He would have the mother, after the father's death, responsible for the child's support, and he sees no real injustice in imposing the same responsibility on a stepfather.

"Julius Daciano" reveals himself as Frederick W. Taylor, to make more impressive his plea to Atheists, arguing the necessity of believing in a supreme being. F. James goes into the prophecies of Revelations, and shows how, in his opinion, many of them are being now fulfilled. D. F. Easton of Washington has a few severe criticisms to make on the Unitarians, and quotes passage after passage of scripture to prove that salvation can only come through faith in the divinity of Christ.

"Back to the Farm" is the slogan of Bela Tokaji. He notes that the agricultural riches of New York are not appreciated. Henry Whittemore is interested in the modifying of the characteristics of the human race. He says his genealogical studies have led him to follow the same general traits through the records of as many as thirty generations of the same families.

"Chauffeur," who has had some experience in dealing with the gate men and other employes on various bridges connecting Long Island with Manhattan, writes to the Eagle that he has found the most courteous of all such employes on the new Manhattan Bridge.

Nicholas W. Brown of 1555 Flatbush avenue writes that he has all twenty-five volumes of the Eagle Almanac and finds them very valuable. "A New Yorker" tells how he has been introduced to the Eagle and has discovered that it is full of good things. George J. Corey makes an appeal for the Inebrites' Colony, contemplated by the Grady-Lee Bill. A subway from the Battery to Hamilton avenue is advocated by "J. T. T." W. B. Vernam fears private grabbing of the advantages of the vast Jamaica Bay improvement, and warns officials to be on their guard against it.

DON QUIXOTE AND THE MAYOR.

Advice to Sancho Panza, City Magistrate of Barataria, Is Recalled.

To the Editor of the Brooklyn Eagle:

The letter of Mayor Gaynor to Magistrate Harris, if submitted to the test of the "deadly parallel" with Don Quixote's advice to Sancho Panza on the latter's assuming control of the government of the Island of Barataria, would suggest the idea of plagiarism of spirit if not the letter on the part of our good Mayor.

The Don tells Sancho:

"Wherever equity should or may take place, let not the extent or rigor of the law bear too much on the delinquent; for it is not a better character in a judge to be rigorous than to be indulgent." * * *

"When the severity of the law is to be softened, let pity, not bribes, be the motive."

"In the trial of criminals consider as much as thou canst without prejudice to the plaintiff how defenceless and open the miserable are to the temptations of our corrupt and depraved nature, and so far show thyself full of pity and clemency; for though God's attributes are equal, yet His mercy is more attractive, and pleasing in our eyes than justice."

Many other wise maxims did the Don bestow upon simple Sancho, all in line with what the Mayor said to the magistrate. In fact, I think the former stated after his return from Europe last fall that he had spent most of his time abroad ship in reading the history of the wonderful "knight of the woeful figure," and no doubt he became somewhat imbued with his spirit. However, be that as it may, the Mayor is "making good," and I am glad I voted for him, although a life-long Republican. E. N. R.

BLUE LAWS A MYTH.

So Canon Chase Informs Mayor Gaynor, Going Into Connecticut History.

To the Editor of the Brooklyn Eagle:

He would be a brave clergyman who would endeavor to instruct Mayor Gaynor upon the subject of law. But even an ex-judge and honored Mayor may be deceived upon the question of evidence, and before I accept as true the statement that there ever were ridiculous blue laws in Connecticut I would like to know the evidence upon which he believes it. I write therefore to ask if you know what is the title, the editor and the date of the little book from which your paper says Mayor Gaynor quoted before the alumni of New York University Law School and in the presence of the Governor and Justices of the Supreme Court of Connecticut. It is possible that Mayor Gaynor has been putting too much confidence in his little book, which may become the dead fly in the ointment of his honor's views concerning Sunday.

My reason for asking for this is that so far as I have been able to ascertain there never were in Connecticut any such blue laws as has been commonly supposed.

It may be that I am mistaken. But Horace Scudder on page 105 in his history of Connecticut refers to such laws as "The Blue Law Myth."

I am sure Mayor Gaynor did not mean to reflect upon Connecticut as being more severe in the punishment of trifling crimes than other countries. For Connecticut could not thus be justly accused. On March 2, 1811, Mackintosh, speaking before the British House of Commons, said, "I hold in my hand a list of those offenses which at this moment are capital (punishable with death) in number 223." One hundred and fifty years before that time the offenses punishable with death in New Haven and Connecticut had been reduced to 15. A little volume containing the code of 1650 was published in Hartford in 1822, with an appendix of 12 pages in duodecimo, entitled "New Haven Antiquities or Blue Laws." But there is nothing in this that is of a fanciful or rigorous nature.

Palfrey's History of New England, Volume II, page 32, says: "The existence at any time of a code containing provisions (blue laws) such as are quoted above is a mere fabrication. Nor is there any record of so much as single judgments pronounced agreeably to the tenor of those provisions."

The existence of such a code has been believed upon the authority of a loyalist and refugee who is known to have been utterly unreliable who published his book in London in 1781. Trumbull, a conscientiously exact historian of Connecticut, who lived in the same town with Peters and went to college with him, said of Peters that "of all men with whom he is acquainted Dr. Peters was the least to be depended upon as to any matter of fact." The trustworthiness of Dr. Peters may be judged from his description of a scene on the Connecticut River. "There Water is consolidated without frost by swiftness, between the pinching sturdy rocks to such a degree of induration that no crow can be forced into it. Here, iron, lead, cork, have one common weight." (Page 127 of "General History of Connecticut," by S. A. Peters, edited by S. J. McCormick in 1877.) The earliest code in Connecticut related only to capital offenses and was practically the same as in Massachusetts, which was adopted a year earlier. During this time the courts made their decisions in accordance with rules of equity and Scripture.

The fundamental agreement or original constitutions of the Colony of New Haven, adopted on June 4, 1639, contained a provision which held that "the Scriptures do hold forth a perfect rule for the direction and government of all men," and that the "word of God shall be the only rule attended unto in ordering the affairs of the government." The first constitution of Connecticut was adopted by a general assembly of the planters of the three towns of Hartford, Wethersfield and Windsor at Hartford on January 4, 1638. The oath of office of the Governor or Magistrate was that he would "further the rule of justice according to the rule of God's Word."

The Fundamental Orders of Connecticut of 1644 had this provision: "The judicial laws of God as they were delivered by Moses and as they are a fence to moral law, being neither typical nor ceremonial nor having any reference to Canaan, shall be accounted of moral equity and shall generally bind all offenders and be a rule to all courts in this jurisdiction in their proceedings against offenders till they shall be banished out into particulars hereafter."

J. Hammond Trumbull in 1876 published a book entitled "The True Blue Law of Hartford and Connecticut and False Blue Laws Invented by Samuel Peters," which one should read before he puts credence in the blue law myth.

There seems to me so far as I have been able to learn nothing in the early history of Connecticut to justify the ridicule which has quite commonly been hurled against the Blue Laws.

It is possible that some individual judges in early Connecticut made ridiculous and bad decisions, but even our own city and our own time has not wholly escaped from that calamity.

The wicked conspiracy of grafters today in New York to avoid the enforcement of the laws designed to protect each citizen in his right to one day of rest from labor and business in every week ought to solace us a little when we are inclined to laugh at early Connecticut.

WANTS FORTY BATTLESHIPS.

Mr. Corcoran Would Have Bonds Issued and Build Biggest of Navies at Once.

To the Editor of the Brooklyn Eagle:

The recently published estimate of the United States Secretary of the Navy gives twenty-two millions as the cost of two new battleships of the first class.

It is not long ago since President Taft laid down the principle that the Panama Canal should be paid for by the issue of bonds, because it seems just that the future generations, who would derive so much benefit from the canal, should also bear some of the cost of its construction.

The same principle, it seems to me, should apply to the construction of an adequate navy.

The cost of two battleships is given at $22,000,000.

The interest at 3 per cent. on a navy loan of 750 millions would be $22,500,000.

Thus by the issue of a loan we could construct an entire navy for the same amount of yearly taxes now required to build two battleships. Forty battleships would take 440 millions of the loan; thirty cruisers, 160 millions; and we would have 150 millions left for transports, supply ships, submarines, torpedo boats and other requisites. We would only be adopting the idea of the Germans and the English, if we added to this a merchant marine loan of 250 millions for the construction of merchant steamers to be leased to shippers, but available, like the Cunard steamers, as cruisers in time of war, if necessary.

With such a fleet at our command England would think long and seriously before she would secretly urge Japan to insult the United States, as in the recent disregard of the Portsmouth treaty and the "Hay note." In those documents the principle of the "open door" in China was clearly agreed to with the United States by Japan, China, Russia and by the Powers of Europe.

But when American financiers, in the interest of American foreign commerce, proposed to build a railroad for China, running south from the Amur River to Peking, Japan threw off the mask, disregards the Portsmouth treaty, the Hay note, the "open door" and the integrity of China, in a manner most insulting to the United States, and forbids the construction of that Chinese railroad by American capital.

Japan does not yet own China, and has no more right to dictate to China as to when railroads shall be built through Chinese territory than she has to dictate to us in the building of the Panama Canal.

No matter what oily phrases Japan may use, no matter how much she protests, by her acts in this matter she clearly claims China as her vassal, just as much as England claims Egypt. I am convinced that Japan would never have dared to take such a course if not urged on by England. Perhaps England may find the trouble she is seeking so persistently.

WAR WITHOUT DECLARATION.

Mr. Cronin Recalls Sinking of the Kowshing and Destruction of 1,500 Chinese.

To the Editor of the Brooklyn Eagle:

Mr. Chambers, in "Walks and Talks" in Thursday's issue of the Eagle, brings to notice the fact that Japan did not wait for a declaration of war in the case of Russia. In connection with this it may be of interest to recall the sinking of the Kowshing. The British steamer Kowshing, carrying some 1,500 Chinese soldiers, left Taku on July 21, 1894. Although war had not yet been formally declared against China, Admiral Ito's cruisers were in the Gulf of Pechili, "seeking whom they might devour."

On the morning of the 25th the Kowshing was sighted by the Japanese cruiser Naniwa-Kan, a sister ship of the old American cruiser Charleston of "Itala" and Guam fame. The captain of the Kowshing was summoned aboard the Naniwa and his surrender demanded. Being under the British flag, Captain Von Hanneken protested, but owing to the attitude of the Chinese soldiers surrender was impossible. The Naniwa, after signaling "Quit the ship," steamed into position and commenced a cold-blooded, systematic fire on the English vessel. In a few minutes the doomed vessel sank, carrying down all the Chinese troops. Some of the European officers were rescued by the boats of the Naniwa, but the Chinese were left to their fate. Ten years later the Kowshing was avenged, when Admiral Bezobrazoff's Vladivostock squadron sank the Japanese transports Kinshiu Maru and Sado Maru in the Japan Sea.

Great Britain protested against the sinking of the Kowshing, but without result. The captain of the Naniwa was the same Togo that attacked the Russians at Port Arthur and Chemulpo without waiting for a declaration of war.

LAW AS TO CHILD-SUPPORT.

Justice Wilkin Thinks Mother or Stepfather Might Be Forced to Care for Half-Orphans.

To the Editor of the Brooklyn Eagle:

One of the sad phases of human nature that presents itself in a great city has been shown in many cases where parents have applied to the authorities to have their children placed in institutions, on various charges, or for alleged destitution. That a great many deserving cases appear, and that public aid is necessary, goes without saying, but that a great many applications are made which, after investigation, are denied, shows the disposition exists, and probably in some cases such applications are successful.

Of course, it must be remembered also that there are cases where a father has found it necessary to have his child cared for, and the exigencies of his business have carried him out of the city, where he remains possibly for some time before communicating with the institution or the child.

There are cases, however, where these applications are made and where the children are committed, where the parent makes no endeavor to communicate with the child or with the institution in any way, and practically abandons the child, to all intents and purposes, to the City of New York, to be supported at the expense of the city, and with no feeling that the child is any further responsibility to the parent. The number of cases where such a condition exists in New York at the present time, I have no means of accurately ascertaining, but that there are a great many cases of this character I have no doubt, and this condition has been in practice for a great many years.

Some few years ago, I think in 1888, and later, in 1903, an effort was made to fix this responsibility, when a provision was made in the law (Section 921 of the Code of Criminal Procedure) to the effect that, "whenever any child shall be committed to an institution pursuant to any provision of law, any criminal court or magistrate may issue a warrant for the arrest of the father of the child, and examine into his ability to maintain such child in whole or in part; and if satisfied that such father is able to contribute to the support of the child, then such court or magistrate shall, by order, require the weekly payment by such father of such sum, and in such manner, as shall be in said order directed, toward the maintenance of such child in such institution, which amount, when paid, shall be credited by the institution to the city, town or county against such sums due to it therefrom on account of the maintenance of the child."

The idea has been more or less prevalent, especially in the case of some of the more recently arrived immigrants, that it was a beneficent provision of the American law to provide institutions for the care, education and support of the children of the poor, and as they felt that that was part of the educational plan of the country, many of these people were glad to utilize this provision, and to-day even, in sending their children to the quasi-public institutions, they speak of it as putting their boys in the "college."

These parents, as a rule, do not intend to abandon their children, and if they are left in the institutions for an extended time without application for their discharge being made, it is largely due to this erroneous idea regarding their attitude to the public.

There are others who really are destitute, and after the children are committed their love and affection for the children carries them in large numbers to visit the institutions, where they feel that they may apply for the discharge of the children as soon as they are ready and able to care for them.

The provision of law above referred to has been carried into effect in the State of New York with an amount of intelligence, care and desire to do the best thing for all parties, which is commendable. The magistrates making the examinations, the private charitable institutions and all of the agencies interested co-operate in a fair spirit and an effort to accomplish beneficial results. Much credit is due to the local Societies for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, who have voluntarily assumed the burden of collecting for the city and turning over to the controller's office, the various sums paid by parents under these orders. I am informed that about $41,200 is collected each year from the parents and turned over to the city for this purpose.

Of course, it goes without saying, in view of the attitude already stated, that the collection of the money is not primarily to support the children in the institutions, although this, of course, is the ostensible purpose of the law; but the real object is to fasten upon the father of the child the responsibility of his parenthood and, by the payment of the small sum mentioned in the order, to remind him continually of the relationship, and in so far as any payment at all is a burden on him, to require him, if possible, and as soon as possible, to take the charge and care of his child at home.

The law, in its intent, is most beneficial; its enforcement has been with a great deal of care and intelligence, and it is pleasant to know that the end desired has, in a great many cases, been accomplished.

There is a class of cases, however, which the present statute does not reach. It is a growing evil that applications are made to the various children's courts by parents who charge their children with being ungovernable and beyond their control, where, on investigation, it is found that there is no father, but that a stepfather has come into the family, and that the burden of caring for these children is not relished by him. Every effort to keep these children in the home fails, and they must be deprived of the benefits of parenthood by being placed in institutions. Under the present law, of course, the father being dead, no order can be made. No provision is made for an order upon the mother for the support of her child or children, and no matter what her ability to pay for the care of her children may be, she has no responsibility, as the law only applies to the father. This is equally the case with step-parents, and therefore to-day we have a number of children in institutions, really deprived of their homes through the lack of ability on the part of the authorities to compel the remaining parent to take an interest in the child or to assist the city or state in its care. When these cases are presented to the justice sitting at the Children's Court, no other course is left open but to commit, and these children enter the quasi-criminal or reformatory institution, which is already populated with those who have been found responsible for the stealing of property and other deliquencies contemplated by law. It is quite evident from this that the commitment of these children to reformatories is objectionable, because they are there made to associate with boys who have misbehaved, and in addition to this contact, they forever afterward labor under the imputation as suggested by the commitment.

The suggestion has been made that, in the first place, the responsibility which is now upon the father, should also be placed upon the mother in the event of the death or disability of the former, and also, although it is going a little further than was at first contemplated, to place the responsibility upon the stepfather, who voluntarily assumes the marital relation with the mother of such children. I do not know, that the Legislature of 1910 will be called upon to consider this question, but it has been in the mind of the writer for some time to develop the condition thus presented to your readers, so that attention may be given some day to an actual wrong that is unwillingly being committed against the children of the community.

An expression of the views of your readers would be interesting to the undersigned. ROBERT J. WILKIN.

AN APPEAL TO ATHEISTS.

"Julius Daciano" Reveals Himself as Frederick W. Taylor, Writing on Creation.

To the Editor of the Brooklyn Eagle:

Quite recently over the pen name of "Julius Daciano" I gave a few reasons why even an atheist might hope for immortality, and I now wish to submit a few of the reasons why atheists should cease to be such.

Every effect must have a cause, and he who studies the effect intelligently will often be able to understand the character and the nature of the cause, even though the cause itself be invisible.

Thus, he who sees a city knows it must have been built by human hands; he who beholds a ship entering a port or plowing its way over the ocean wave knows that it must have a captain and crew, and he who intelligently examines a complicated piece of mechanism can form a reasonably just conclusion as to the skill and ingenuity of its inventor.

Similarly, when we behold a universe composed of numberless worlds, many of them presumably inhabited—worlds which man did not and could not have constructed—it is reasonably certain that they must have had an intelligent creator; when we find the planets revolving about the sun and the moons about the planets; when we see the seasons succeeding each other with unerring regularity, and when we see the regular processes of birth, growth and decay, we know that this creator must guide their operations; and when we behold the wonderful mechanism of the human body we know that the Creator must possess marvelous mechanical skill.

Hence we see that nature proves the existence of a God; and by a study of nature's ways we are able to understand the will of God.

We see Him shedding His sunshine upon the evil and the good, and His rain upon the just and the unjust. Hence we conclude that God is impartial.

We see that vice is destructive to human happiness, while virtue increases it. Hence we infer that God loves virtue and punishes vice.

We see that the laws of nature do not show leniency or favoritism; but that he who breaks them, however innocently, invariably suffers the penalty. Hence we can infer that God is unchangeable and that His laws are immutable.

All nature bespeaks God's existence, and the reverent soul can see God's presence in the construction of an insect as well as in the thunders and the lightnings.

A study of evolution shows that the course of nature's history is ever toward the evolution of the perfect type. Why should this be so if there were no perfect God to guide it?

We find that the plants and animals of every epoch and clime are always those most fitted for their age and surroundings; and who can see this without perceiving God's excellent judgment in the exercise of creative power?

In some regions of highly variable climate we even find animals which in summer have dusky fur thin enough to make them cool in hot weather, while enabling them to easily conceal themselves amid the summer's foliage; and in winter the same animals have white fur warm enough to protect them from winter's icy blasts and enabling them to escape observation amid the winter's snows.

Surely the existence of a God is indisputable.

PROPHECIES OF APOCALYPSE.

Mr. James Tells How Some of Them Are Being Fulfilled in This Day.

To the Editor of the Brooklyn Eagle:

A short time ago a writer in the Eagle stated that the interpreters of the revelation were mere guessers, another guess may perhaps be in order and interesting to a number of the Eagle's readers.

The revelation is a prophecy relating to the Christian Church. It cannot be understood entirely at the present time, but will be in the ages to come, slowly its meaning is becoming understood by mankind, the early Christian Church did not hold it as inspired, after a couple of centuries had passed it was admitted as part of the inspired book of the New Testament, where it has remained and where no human power will ever be able to remove it.

It gives instructions, reproofs and encouragement to the church universal the seven letters include every Christian sect. It gives an insight of the glory of heaven, the throne, the Almighty seated thereon, in the brilliancy of pure white light, intermingled with flames. The human mind can conceive nothing more brilliant.

The twenty-four elders include the entire Jewish and Christian dispensation. The four living creatures denote the four classes of human intelligence, worshiping God continually. This part of the prophecy is now being fulfilled as this earth revolves the worship of God goes on without ceasing. Then the figures of a mighty angel [illegible] heaven. This angel denotes the missionary spirit of the church, this angel proclaims that time shall be delayed no longer, this part of the prophecy is being fulfilled at the present time.

Then the two witnesses testify for the Lord Jesus. These witnesses are the Jewish and Christian congregations, the Jewish testimony is the two religious rites of the passover and the atonement, the Christian testimony is rites of baptism and the eucharist, no human power will ever overthrow this evidence, this part of the prophecy is being fulfilled.

The next figure is a woman clothed with the sun and crowned with twelve stars. This figure foreshadows the place that woman would fill in the church. This is at present being fulfilled. The Christian Church membership is three-fourths women and more than half the Christians worship a woman.

Then a beast comes out of the sea with blasphemy branded on its head. This foretells that some religious leaders would assert their supposed divine authority and in that manner blaspheme. Then another beast comes out of the earth in appearance like a lamb, but with the characteristics of a dragon. This foretells that hypocrisy would follow blasphemy. The hypocrite will not openly blaspheme but he will resort to compromises and subterfuges and in that way make an image of the beast. This is now being fulfilled.

SEVERE ON UNITARIANS.

Mr. Easton Says They Have No Creed Because They Fear Comparison With the Bible.

To the Editor of the Brooklyn Eagle:

I think that John H. Smith is mistaken in his claim that the Unitarian Church will permit him to form his own creed for himself. Let him attempt, as he can with truth, to tell the Unitarian Church that the Apostle Peter in II Peter ii:1-2 says that their teachings are evil; that the Apostle Paul in I Corinthians 1:18 says that their end is to perish; that Jesus says in St. John viii:24 that they shall die in their sins, and in St. John x:1-9 will be received as thieves and robbers; let him tell them this, as a result of studying the Bible, with many other similar truths, and I think he will be led to withdraw his statement.

You can go into a Methodist, Presbyterian or Reform church and they will gladly compare their teachings with those of the Bible; but no Unitarian church would dare to do it. The Unitarian Church dare not have a written creed, as it would only expose the fact that there was no authority in the Bible for their teachings, but that they were everywhere condemned, so they seek to give the impression that honesty does not require it of them. Am glad that no orthodox church needs to hide any of its teachings or leaves us to find out for ourselves the important things of God's word, but by creed and otherwise seeks to give its followers all the light possible. While no man may be infallible, yet an intelligent, spiritual Christian is a much safer guide spiritually than one with little knowledge of the Scriptures, and we have the privilege of the Bereans, Acts xvii:11, to search the Scriptures and see if the things stated are true.

Men do all believe alike on many things, notwithstanding different temperaments, education and habits of thought, and Christ says if you reject His teachings when you have a chance of knowing them that you will have to give an explanation for it later, and that it will be worse for such a one in the day of judgment than for Sodom and Gomorrah.

The Bible asks more than character; it demands holiness. An ungodly man can have character, but holiness or righteousness comes only through Christ (II Corinthians v:21, Philippians iii:9, etc.). No one in this country can force another to believe a religious truth, but God teaches us to warn or help those in danger, or that otherwise He will hold us responsible. If we warn them, we have cleared ourselves, and the responsibility is with them.

Without Christ none can be saved—there have been to many imperfections. Psalms cxliii:2 says: "Enter not into judgment with thy servant, for in thy sight shall no man living be justified." The Prophet Isaiah told his people that in God's sight their righteousness was as filthy rags. There is a great difference between being judged by God and being judged by ourselves or neighbors. No one can answer for his sins of commission; how much less for his sins of omission, that lifelong influence that we have failed to give to God, and which He had a right to expect from us, and so the Bible says we are saved through grace by faith in Christ.

To reject Christ is to be judged by the law where you must answer for every sin. James ii:10 says: "For whosoever shall keep the whole law and yet offend in one point, he is guilty of all." Galatians iii:11 states: "But that no man is justified by the law in the sight of God, it is evident, for the just shall live by faith." D. F. EASTON.

"BACK TO FARM," SAYS TOKAJI.

Thinks Agricultural Possibilities of Empire State Are Not Fully Appreciated.

To the Editor of the Brooklyn Eagle:

It seems to me that the eight million people of the state of New York, and especially those of New York City with half of the population of that of the state either do not or care not to know that ours is one of the greatest agricultural states of the Union, and that among those of her important industries are the productions of apples and other tree fruits, potatoes, tobacco, sugar beet, celery, wheat, corn, oats, cabbage, grapes and berries. It is gratifying to know that a movement is being started to rehabilitate the hundreds of farms in our own state, and that the Departments of Agriculture and Commerce and Labor will aid the movement. First of all, an earnest effort should be made to get the young men in the state interested in taking up farms. I am aware of it that those engaged in this laudable undertaking will have no easy task before them, inasmuch as our young men cannot get away quick enough from the farms to embark in business enterprises or get employment in offices, shops and factories in the city.

On the other hand I have no doubt that thousands of aliens, middle-aged and young men, farmers and sons of tillers of the soil, who if properly approached could be convinced of the great advantage of their choosing farming in New York state for a livelihood. In preference to the dangerous, hard and poorly paid work in the coal mines or the work in mills, iron foundries, sugar refineries and employment in factories of all kinds.

The twentieth century farmer knows how to take care of himself, he cannot be taken advantage of by the commission merchants any more; he has telephone connections, he reads the daily Wall street news. He gets a fair price for his products, his farm is a source of a large enough income to enable him to improve his farm, to procure the latest farming implements, to keep good horses, to indulge in the pleasure of automobiles, to have a considerable bank account, to send his children to high school and college, and as I might term it, to live and enjoy a real gentleman's life—a life worth living.

I would advise the young men in our city and state to peruse the statement in the year book issued by the United States Department of Agriculture. In that book they will find the information available on agriculture and subjects related thereto; they will also find that the value of all farm crops equals the stupendous sum of five billion dollars, and that our exports of domestic agricultural products amounts to over one billion dollars.

The average New Yorker may be ignorant of the fact that ours is the largest apple producing state in the Union. In Western New York, bordering on Lake Ontario, one of the most important industries is the production of apples. There are 700,000 trees in the orchards. The farms vary in size from 20 to 200 acres, averaging about 70 acres.

Back to the farm young men where you breathe fresh air, become strong and robust, where the average man may not earn as much money as in the city, but even with smaller wages he can get along better, save more, and thus be the gainer at the end.

HOW FAMILY TRAITS PERSIST.

Henry Whittemore Tells How He Has Found Tendencies Running Through Many Generations.

To the Editor of the Brooklyn Eagle:

In a special in a New York paper under date of March 8 it is stated that Prof. W. E. Castle, of Harvard, who has been experimenting with animals, with a view of demonstrating the law of heredity, expects soon that the breeding of the human species can be accomplished along scientific lines, and that characteristics may be determined in advance.

For more than twenty-five years I have made a careful study of the law of heredity in connection with my genealogical work, and have traced the same family characteristics through twenty and thirty generations. Occasionally, through marriage or unfavorable environment, these characteristics have remained dormant, but were sure to crop out at a later period. Environment may develop or diminish these characteristics, but it will take many generations to eradicate them. There are families who came of an inferior race, whose names are never found on the pages of history. They were born "hewers of wood and drawers of water." In the hundreds of families whose ancestral lines I have traced I have found many whose prominent characteristics were impressed on every generation for two and three hundred years. A prominent law firm of brothers in New York city whose family history I traced in an unbroken line for twenty generations. Their ancestors were all professional men—lawyers, doctors, clergymen, etc., and since coming to this country they have continued as such down to the present time.

A family of Porters were among the early settlers of the colony of Connecticut. The first of these is mentioned in the Colony Records as a chirurgeon, and the colony voted him "ten pounds a year for the setting of bones and taking care of the sick." The son and grandson and great grandson were also chirurgeons and were voted the same amount by the colony.

I traced the line of a prominent army officer whose ancestry included two commodores of the United States Navy. I said to him: "General, do you know that your remote ancestor was a naval architect in the British Navy?" He said he did not, and I remarked: "Now, I can understand the peculiar traits of my two boys. They are both in the army, but whenever they are off on furlough they are either engaged in sailing or building boats."

Among the old New York and New Jersey families whose ancestral lines extend several generations back of their settlement in this country may be mentioned the Schuylers, the Livingstons, the Hamiltons, the Piersons, the Talmadges, the Stevenses of Hoboken, the Stuarts or Stewarts, the Rikers, Davisons, or Davidsons, and a few others who have maintained the prestige of their families and evince the same characteristics of their ancestors down to the present time.

If parents would familiarize themselves with the law of heredity, and endeavor to develop the best characteristics inherited by their children, they would soon improve the human race and have something really to feel proud of. There are families who simply boast of their ancestry who have never done anything worthy the name they bear. It is hoped that Prof. Castle will be successful in his further experiments with the human species, and that in time we shall have a higher and purely American standard, in which marriage shall no longer be considered a failure.

CONTRASTS BRIDGE EMPLOYES

The Automobilist Finds That He Gets Far Better Treatment on the Manhattan Bridge.

To the Editor of the Eagle:

The automobilist generally has the public down on him, so that whenever he receives any recognition it ought to be acknowledged. It is said by those who ought to know that the man who shows the most consideration to the automobilist is the trolley motorman. He is doing work somewhat similar to that of the chauffeur and appreciates the difficulties that are added to such work by the fact that a machine has no tracks to run on. It is the consensus of opinion that the motorman has always given the chauffeur a show.

By way of contrast to this courtesy shown by motormen, the difficult trip across the old bridge is in no way helped by the attitude of the sellers and takers of tickets on the roadways. Some of these ticket takers are very disagreeable. A chauffeur has all he can do to handle his machine without stopping to handle either tickets or money. If the ticket happens to be dropped, the bridge employe fumes with rage, it making no difference to him whether or not there happen to be ladies in the car. This is in sharp contrast to the men who occupy the same position on the new Manhatian Bridge. They are always polite, and it is much more plasant for the automobilist to travel over that bridge, for that reason alone, if for no other.

FEARS ANY SUBWAY DELAY.

Taxpayer Opposes Idea of a Change of Route to Avoid Fulton Street.

To the Editor of the Brooklyn Eagle:

I noticed in last night's Eagle that a writer advocates a change in the Fourth ave. subway. Now that the thing is settled, that would be very foolish and expensive, as it would mean new plans and new surveys and another long delay. It seems it is not generally understood that this property that is to be taken on Fulton street can be sold back after the subway is finished, and that would cut that expense down to a very little.

In justice to our retail merchants, the Eagle and the rest of our local newspapers should insist that this part that comes on Fulton street should be put through at once, and should be covered up so that it would not interfere with business or traffic. If they can do this on Sixth avenue, Manhattan, there is no reason why it cannot be done here; and if our local papers will only insist on it, the merchants in that location will not suffer so much loss to their business.

HAS ALL 25 EAGLE ALMANACS.

Nicholas W. Brown of 1555 Flatbush Avenue Has Read the Eagle for 45 Years.

To the Editor of the Brooklyn Eagle:

Some time ago, I read in your valuable paper a letter by some party having eight copies of your Eagle Almanac.

Last night another letter appeared in your Eagle from another party having eighteen copies, now I will say that I have the whole twenty-five copies and think they are very valuable, as, if we wish to find information on most any subject, all you have to do is to consult the Eagle Almanac and you have it.

I have taken and read your Eagle forty-five years in my own home and in my parents' home, as soon as I could read.

INTRODUCED TO THE EAGLE.

Manhattan Man Finds It Full of Interest and Admires Its Frank Editorials.

To the Editor of the Brooklyn Eagle:

Being curious to know further the teachings seen in the Herald of Monday, given by one Pastor Russell, I asked my news man, "Have you a copy of the Eagle?" His answer was, "Yes." I have been looking it over. I confess I have learned something that I did not know, viz., that your paper is second to none of the New York dailies. First, your editorials on "Platt and the Labor Question" stand out with an emphasis for truthfulness that is not any too common in these days. We often think of the courageous Beecher. There seems to be no such champion in the pulpit, or any platform, for telling the world what is needed for it to know.

For news, interesting news, your paper is immense. For Sunday teachings on the pulpit platforms, its enterprise is complete. But I protest against most of its theology. Why? We say this, "The peril of culture without Christ." The pulpit has got the doxology of Christian life construed into theology. In other words, intellectuality before revelation. It must be revealed to the intellect. There is no divine knowledge outside of revelation. Satan put the lie in Eve's ears, and the pulpit is going astray believing it. I am full of praise for your enterprise. The Eagle shall be my Monday paper hereafter.

NEW YORKER.

P. S.—I sometimes query what the editor of a newspaper thinks may be in the mind of the laymen regarding the Bible, and should the editors give such a showing in their columns the pulpit might stand aghast.

FOR INEBRIATES COLONY.

George J. Corey Approves Grady-Lee Bill Now Before Legislature.

To the Editor of the Brooklyn Eagle:

As a regular reader of your paper I want to place myself on record as being in favor of the Grady-Lee bill for the establishing of a hospital for inebriates, which your Sunday paper so ably explained. I know of the great and good work done in Massachusetts along the same lines as proposed by these bills, and the number of actual cures prove that we here in New York are not doing right by these unfortunate individuals in neglecting to provide some proper and reliable assistance.

The man who is discouraged and sick physically and morally would receive fresh inspiration, and with the building up of his system by regular schedule work would be put in a place to become once again a help rather than a hindrance to the community at large. The farm colony is just the place for the inebriates rather than the house of idleness on Blackwell's Island. G. J. COREY.

TUBE TO HAMILTON AVENUE

Advocated by "J. T. T." as of Value to About 75,000 People.

To the Editor of the Brooklyn Eagle:

I see in the papers that our eminent bankers want to have the city build another subway tube opening at their front doors, and they want it right away. This, of course, is all right, but don't you think the Public Service Commission would be justified in asking these men to wait a while until other parts of our borough had secured some kind of rapid transit?

The old Red Hook Point section seems to be entirely forgotten, and it is now beautifully isolated. A tube from the Battery, Manhattan, to Hamilton avenue, Brooklyn, taking in Governor's Island and connecting with Fourth avenue subway will greatly benefit about 75,000 people. It will benefit the public in general, as they will have two ways to reach Coney Island, and it will also help the Rapid Transit system by relieving the pressure on the existing tube.

The Eagle's valuable assistance in this will greatly help matters along.

GUARD JAMAICA BAY.

Private Interests Said to Be Already at Work to Grab Increment of of Improvement.

To the Editor of the Brooklyn Eagle:

A very interesting address was delivered on Thursday evening at the Brooklyn Democratic Club by Major Edward R. Gilman. More interesting still were the stereopticon views explained by Captain Campbell on the subject of "National, State and Local Waterways." Mr. Gilman and the captain both contended that the railroad interests had persistently discriminated against the port of New York, and when regulation was attempted the railroads threatened to bring on a panic. That the terminal and wharfage facilities being in private hands, excessive toll was exacted, which was driving commerce away from this port. That "the only safety was for the government to have its own highways of transportation, the waterways of the country, which should be open at all times to the people free from any monopoly and free to all the people."

Mr. Gilman admits the actual presence of the disease of private ownership of public utilities. Will he transplant the germ of this disease to Jamaica Bay? Or if it is already there will he assist in voting it out? Private interests are already at work. One corporation has already acquired 400 acres, in a location most desirable for the wharves of the future. Others who are members of the Jamaica Bay Improvement Association have interests there. Among the members of the Jamaica Bay Association are the commissioner of docks and ferries, the commissioner of public works of this borough, two ex-controllers, one ex-borough president and one ex-postmaster. Will they lend their time and influence to the clearing away of private interests in Jamaica Bay before the public is taxed for this improvement? If the present deplorable conditions, as stated by Major Gilman, are repeated in this new harbor, which it is proposed to acquire, it will be the fault of those now holding the reins of government and they will commit the offense with full knowledge of the effects. WOMAN CRUSHED TO DEATH IN HOSPITAL ELEVATOR

HAD UNDERGONE OPERATION.

Mrs. Forsell, the Victim, Was Being Conveyed From Operating Room to Ward—Orderly Held in Court.

Mrs. Anna Forsell, 30 years old, who was the wife of John Forsell, a cabinetmaker, living at 512 Forty-fifth street, was instantly killed in the Methodist Episcopal Hospital about 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon by being crushed in the elevator shaft between the ceiling of the second floor and the stretcher on which at the time she was lying unconscious from the effect of ether administered for an operation that had just been performed.

Mrs. Forsell was being removed on this stretcher, which was on wheels, from the operating room on the third floor to a wardroom on the ground floor. The elevator was in charge of Alfred Taylor, 24 years old, of 120 Tenth street, an orderly.

Taylor lifted the lift from the third floor and it dropped to a position six or seven inches below the floor level.

In the car with Taylor and Mrs. Forsell was Miss Edith Darrell, one of the nurses. Miss Darrell remained in the elevator and Taylor climbed out. The two tugged at the stretcher trying to lift it to the floor. It was raised so that the forward wheels were on the floor, while the other wheels were still on the elevator. Then it was found to be too heavy to be removed from the elevator in this manner. Taylor reached through and grasped the rope to raise the elevator the necessary few inches.

The car got beyond his control and it continued to shoot upward. Taylor told Magistrate Geismar in the Fifth avenue police court this morning that he realized, as the car continued up, that he could not manage it, and the shocking tragedy resulted.

Miss Darrell cried out and nurses and surgeons ran to the elevator. Power was shut off and the lift was lowered.

Magistrate Geismar this morning held the orderly in $1,000 bail for examination on March 29, pending the coroner's inquest.

Dr. Hartung, Coroner Rooney's physician, performed an autopsy this morning at the hospital. He found that Mrs. Forsell came to her death from fractured ribs and a fractured breastbone. Her body was removed to her home.

NEW GOLDEN SEAL OFFICERS.

Washington Camp Holds Installation Ceremonies at the Imperial.

St. Patrick Day was celebrated by many members of the Order of the Golden Seal at the Imperial last evening. New officers of Washington Camp, No. 529, were installed by the District Supreme Organizer for Brooklyn, Barrie B. Conlin, and a reception and dance followed.

The new commander of the camp, Fred W. Kirk, was for a long time an active member of the National Provident Union. The Washington camp is composed almost entirely of former members of the N. P. U. who desired to continue as an organization because of their many social connections. The speaker of the evening was Supreme Lecturer Rev. George Franklin Snyder, who outlined the advantages and benefits of membership in the organization.

The officers of Washington camp for the current year are: Commander Frederick W. Kirk; past commander, James Hannaford; vice commander, Harry Daly; chaplain, Celia Nelson; orderly, May Miller; assistant orderly, Katie McGrath; picket, Charles E. Johnson; scout, James Kennelly; secretary, Ernest M. Hedberg; treasurer, Thomas Hannaford; trustees, Miss Susie M. Cooper, one year; Mollie Flynn, two years; Rose Sutherland, three years.

FOLLOW-UP MEETING.

The second "follow-up" meeting of Baptist laymen interested in the widespread Laymen's Missionary Movement was held in the parlors of Emmanuel Baptist Church, last evening. George G. Dutcher presided. Haywood Smith was secretary. Reports were made from thirteen or fourteen churches as to the efforts of the different churches in the matter of following up the interest in the general mission fields. Mornay Williams of the Baptist Co-operating Committee of Manhattan delived an impressive address upon the need of deeper personal consecration to this important part of evangelical work. He emphasized the great need of prayer. The Brooklyn committee is composed of Orrin R. Judd, chairman; William R. Dorman, George G. Dutcher, Frank Harvey Field, J. P. Goodwin, E. L. Harriott, James M. Hudnut, Hayward Smith and George V. Taylor.

NEW TORPEDO STATION ON PACIFIC COAST

Eventually It Will Become a Serious Competitor of Brooklyn Manufactory.

LATTER NOW HAS MONOPOLY.

Reserve Store of 1,673 Torpedoes to Be Acquired by the Navy Department.

608 Fourteenth Street.

Washington, March 18—The naval appropriation bill, as reported to the House to-day, contains an item authorizing the establishment of a government torpedo station on the Pacific Coast. It is believed that eventually this station will be developed into a manufacturing plant and that the Navy Department will become a serious competitor of the E. W. Bliss Company of Brooklyn in the manufacture of torpedoes.

The Brooklyn firm at the present time enjoys a monopoly of furnishing the Navy Department with torpedoes. It controls the British patents on the type of torpedo used in the Navy and is doing a big business. Within the past year the Bliss Company has received contracts from the Navy Department for more than $1,000,000 worth of torpedoes. The present bill authorizes the purchase of $500,000 worth of additional torpedoes, and the contract for them will doubtless go to Brooklyn.

The appropriation for a government torpedo plant is $145,000, and reads as follows:

"For the purchase of land for a torpedo station near the Pacific Coast of the United States, and toward the clearing and grading of the land, protection of the waterfront, wharf; firing and observation stations with all necessary buildings and equipment for the station, and the employment of such clerical and expert assistants as may be required for the prosecution of the work; $145,000."

This provision was put into the bill on the recommendation of Admiral Mason, chief of the Bureau of Ordnance of the Navy Department. He stated that the $145,000 was wanted simply as a starter. The ultimate cost of the station will be $350,000. The initial appropriation is to be employed merely for the purchase of two hundred acres of land. Admiral Mason's recommendation was so framed as to leave little doubt that the station is intended eventually to be a manufacturing plant.

Representative William M. Calder of Brooklyn foresaw the danger of government competition with the local company and endeavored to put a limitation in the law which would prohibit the government from going into the manufacturing business at the Pacific Coast station. Mr. Calder urged the committee to specify in the appropriation that the station should be used exclusively for repair purposes. His efforts were unsuccessful, however. It is believed that a point of order against this appropriation would be recognized by the chair. In this event, Mr. Calder, or someone else, probably will raise an objection. In view of the pressure from the Navy Department, however, the item doubtless would be restored in the Senate.

Admiral Mason has furnished the members of the Naval Committee with strong reasons why a Pacific Coast station is essential. He says that this is to be a station subordinate to the one at Newport. He says he wants the facilities and the skilled workmen to be as good as those at the Rhode Island station, but on a somewhat smaller scale "for the present."

Admiral Mason made the point that the navy yards are not equipped with the facilities, inspectors or mechanics necessary to handle the delicate work of repairing torpedoes. These complicated devices must be shipped from all over the world to the Newport station to be overhauled and put into condition for use when found defective. In explaining this Admiral Mason said:

"The Pacific fleet, which includes all the vessels in Pacific and Asiatic waters, has its quota of torpedoes and torpedo tubes. In case of injury to a torpedo during the necessary drills and target practice, effort is, of course, first made to repair the injury by the force on board familiar with this arm. In case, however, the repairs are beyond the capacity of the ship's force, which most frequently happens, it is necessary to pack this torpedo up and ship it to the Atlantic Coast, to the naval torpedo station, Newport, R. I. This necessitates a great expenditure for transportation charges, and a loss of time which is much more valuable, a loss which would become vital in the event of war.

"Owing to the increasing importance of the Pacific and Orient, so far as the disposition of our naval forces is concerned, the need for such repair facilities is becoming more imperative day by day. We need this plant, and we need the material—torpedoes, accessories, repair facilities and skilled mechanics—and in the even of war the lack of these facilities would be fatal to the efficiency of this arm. It is to meet this demand of the future and to have a plant capable of properly caring for the torpdoes now in the Pacific under proper supervision that this plant is planned and estimated for."

Although the Newport station was established primarily for repair purposes it is now engaged in the manufacturing business. Admiral Mason states that twenty torpedoes of the latest type are now being constructed at the government plant. This station has also been useful for experimental purposes. Officers in the service have made many improvements on the Whitehead torpedo and these developments have been engrafted upon the improved type.

The Navy still needs a large number of torpedoes. It is the purpose of the government to obtain a reserve store of 1,673 torpedoes, which will furnish a complete complement for all vessels. At the present time the department has seven hundred and fifty-four torpedoes, with two hundred and ninety-two contracted for. This will give 1,046 torpedoes on hand by July 1 of this year.

Bellmore, L. I., March 18—To-morrow before Justice Norton and a jury, Principal Hilton, of the Smithville South public school, will be tried on a charge of assault which Mrs. L. P. Hedges has lodged against him, alleging that Eva Schoelstein, an eleven-year-old child which she procured from the Brooklyn Children's Aid Society, was handled roughly by the principal without cause.

The principal denies the accusation, claiming that he merely disciplined the girl. The Aid Society has not, so far as known, taken any action in the matter.

NEW CIGAR BOX NOTICES.

Washington, March 18—Hereafter, in accordance with a ruling of the commissioner of internal revenue, the caution notice required to be affixed to each box containing cigars may be imprinted or indented directly on the wood, metal, paper or other materials used separately or in combination for packing cigars or cigarettes.

The new form of notice will take the place of labels and will result in a considerable saving of time and money to the manufacturers.

PLAN TO AID NEGROES

Mass Meeting Held for Colored Orphan Asylum.

Establishment of Industrial School on Long Island Is Threshed Over by Those Present.

A public mass meeting in interest of the Howard Colored Orphan Asylum Industrial School which is to be established at St. James, L. I., was held in Bethany Baptist Church, Clermont avenue, last evening. A large gathering filled the auditorium and a cash offering was realized.

The Rev. Seth W. Timms, pastor of the Holy Trinity Baptist Church, Classon avenue, presided. A chorus of twenty-five children of the institution, rendered inspiring selections. Speeches were delivered by the Rev. Dr. M. W. Gilbert of Mt. Olivet Baptist Church, Manhattan; the Rev. Dr. A. A. Crooke of Floet Street Memorial Church; Fred R. Moore, editor of the New York Age; the Rev. H. H. Powell, pastor of Bethany Church, and the Rev. James H. Gordon, superintendent of the institution.

Dr. Gilbert spoke on "Education" and said "Where people are deprived of the Bible and school you will find them backward."

Mr. Moore boasted that he was the father of eighteen children and said: "Dr. Gordon's responsibility of everybody's children in the three hundred in the institution should be an object lesson to us. We want to be taught to take pride in the negro race."

The Rev. Dr. Gordon said: "We have a farm for this institution at St. James, L. I., worth $75,000, with an indebtedness of $8,500, and we want money to erect dormitories and an academic hall so we can take these children out on the earth and train them to be useful men and women."

MRS. CLINTON PETERS' ART.

Miniatures by a Former Brooklynite at the Residence of Mrs. Chester B. Lawrence.

There are many visitors each afternoon this week to the home of Mrs. Chester B. Lawrence, 317 Washington avenue, Brooklyn, to view the collection of miniatures painted by Mrs. Clinton Peters, a former Brooklyn artist, having a studio now at 360 West Twenty-third street, Manhattan. Mrs. Peters shows twenty examples of her lovely art, one of the most striking being a three-quarter length likeness of Nazimova, the Russian actress. This is veritably a likeness, and also gives a good impression of the remarkable personality of this gifted artist. The figure, draped in a silk kimona of elaborate design, and the texture especially well rendered, stands with head thrown back and half-closed lids, in thoroughly characteristic pose. The hands clasped in front are well-drawn and expressive.

Another full-length portrait of a little boy in white dress, called "Bob," is extremely charming, and there are two or three small ovals of young girls. One of them, named "Elizabeth," in particular, is noticeable for delicacy of treatment, the mauve background adding delightful color.

The "Mrs. J. H. Whittemore" of Naugatuck shows the artist's versatility in rendering different types of subjects, for extreme delicacy and refinement distinguish this one. In conspicuous contrast to it is the latest-finished miniature, that of "Mlle. Menthe," a fascinating French model, treated with greater breadth and richer color, more after the manner of the French miniature painters, with one of whom Mrs. Peters studied.

The portrait of Miss May Ovington of Brooklyn again shows the artist's ability to gain a likeness. The pictures, through the courtesy of Mrs. Lawrence, who has thrown open her parlors for the occasion, may be seen until Saturday, March 19, inclusive, and the public is cordially invited.

WASHINGTON CLUB DANCE.

Women Friends of Members Lavishly Entertained.

"Women's Night," at the Washington Club was celebrated last evening with a very successful St. Patrick's Day dance at the club rooms, Vanderbilt avenue and Prospect place. About 500 guests were entertained with bowling, dancing and vaudeville.

The success of the entertainment was due to the social committee, of which John P. O'Brien was chairman, and S. Berliner, secretary. It was announced that the club would give a theater party on Easter Tuesday night, March 29, at the Orpheum.

POUNDS MAKES PLEA FOR MUNICIPAL BUILDING

Tells Board of Estimate It Is The Principal Improvement Needed by Brooklyn.

GIVES FACTS AND FIGURES.

Chief Engineers Fort and Sheridan Speak on Sewer and Pavement Needs of the Borough.

At the hearing on the corporate stock budget before the Board of Estimate yesterday afternoon, Public Works Commissioner Pounds insisted that the principal improvement which Brooklyn desired is the erection of a municipal office building. This should be given preference over every other improvement he declared. Inquiry developed the fact that the borough president has five different sets of plans for the proposed building.

Commissioner Pounds did not know which plan would be used. He said that the best features of the five might be incorporated in a new plan. He said it was useless to discuss plans until the site for the proposed building had been definitely determined upon. He said that the scheme to put up a building which made it necessary to acquire the site on which the Polytechnic Institute stands had been abandoned.

"We still propose to take the land on which those old buildings on Court street are located," said Mr. Pounds. "We won't disturb the Polytechnic Institute."

He said that an appropriation of at least $500,000 would be required this year, and that next year an appropriation of $3,000,000 would be necessary to complete the building.

"If you give us the money," said Mr. Pounds, "I can assure you that we will have the building finished within two years."

Chief Engineer Fort of the Sewer Bureau explained to the committee that an appropriation of $1,254,000 for the Classon avenue relief sewer was absolutely necessary this year. This relief sewer was part of the plan under which the Gold street relief sewer was constructed. If the sewer is not built, Mr. Fort said that the space which is to be the third track for the Fourth avenue subway would have to be continued in use as the line for a sewer. The delay in building this relief sewer would also affect the Broadway-Lafayette avenue loop, Mr. Fort said.

Chief Engineer John C. Sheridan of the Bureau of Highways made a request for $2,000,000 for repaving purposes. He said it was his intention to repave forty miles of streets during the coming spring and summer, and that it would cost about $50,000 a mile. In describing the paving conditions in Brooklyn he said that in the borough there are still eighteen miles of cobble stone pavement and thirty-five miles of belgian block pavement. Then there are 140 miles of granite block pavement, one-half of which is laid on sand. Part of this will have to be reconstructed.

Commissioner Pounds explained that an immense improvement could be effected in street pavements if the board gave the present administration $5,000,000, as was done under the Swanstrom administration.

President Mitchel asked for a statement which would form a basis for determining the appropriation which is to be allowed this year.

"I can give you that now," said Commissioner Pounds. "There are exactly ninety miles of streets in Brooklyn which should be repaved."

It was finally decided that Chief Engineer Sheridan should make up a list of streets which he believes should be repaved this year. The more important streets are to come first, and Mr. Sheridan is to state what kind of a pavement he proposes to lay.

MR. WOODY HAS HIS SAY ON MUNICIPAL BATHS

Opposes Controller Prendergast's Plan as "Absurd and Unnecessary."

"RIFF-RAFF WOULD BENEFIT."

Tilt at Meeting of Special Committee of Board of Estimate—Controller Stands Unmoved.

The prompt manner in which Controller Prendergast has taken up the plan to establish a municipal bathing pavilion at Coney Island apparently has aroused the jealousy of officials in the office of Borough President Steers. At least, the attitude which they assumed yesterday when the special committee of the Board of Estimate held a public hearing on the corporate stock budget created that impression. Efforts were made to pronounce the plan as absurd, but these criticisms ceased abruptly when Mr. Prendergast, in emphatic language, declared that he favored the plan, and that he intended to make an exhaustive investigation, as requested by the resolution of Alderman Alexander S. Drescher.

Superintendent Howard Woody of the Bureau of Public Buildings and Offices assumed the role as the principal critic. Just on what he based his criticism he did not make known.

The matter came up when the board took up an item in the corporate stock budget of the Borough President of Brooklyn requesting an issue of corporate stock in the sum of $500,000 for a municipal bathing house. It was made under the former borough administration, when President Coler prepared an elaborate set of plans for the bathing house. The Coler scheme, too, involved the acquirement of land from private owners. It was never considered a feasible proposition, and that is the reason why it was never taken up by the McClellan administration. The cost was too prohibitive.

Public Works Commissioner Pounds spoke up. He said that the item might just as well be stricken from the budget. "I see the Controller has taken up the question and is at work devising a plan," he remarked.

"That is perfectly true," replied Mr. Prendergast. "A resolution was passed in the Board of Aldermen on the subject with a request that I make an investigation and a report. I have already made a preliminary investigation, and I am going to make a further and more detailed investigation. The plan is entirely different from that suggested in connection with this item of corporate stock. The acquirement of land will not be necessary. Only the bathing house itself will have to be erected by the city, and the appropriation will be so far away from $500,000 that there will be no comparison."

Mr. Prendergast's frank statement that the plan was feasible enough to bear a thorough investigation rather took the wind out of the sails of the representatives of President Steers. As long as he regarded the plan he had under consideration as one that might be carried out, Mr. Prendergast let it be known that he did not care a rap what the borough officials thought.

Superintendent Woody then had something to say.

"It is absurd; it is unnecessary," he said. "We don't believe it to be wise. It would be much better if the city utilized the money in erecting public bathhouses which are open all the year than to spend it for a bathinghouse which is open only two months in the year."

Woody Doesn't Want a Bathhouse for the "Riffraff."

But the special committee did not take his remarks seriously. Later on, when Mr. Woody was asked to explain his remarks, he siad that a municipal bathinghouse at Coney Island would only be used by the "riffraff of the town."

"Well, don't you think the 'riffraff'—the poor people—are just as good as the rich?" Mr. Woody was asked.

"Oh, certainly," he replied. "Remember I am not against the Coney Island bathinghouse. I thought it would be better to use the money for baths that are open all the time."

"Don't you know that in the two months the municipal bathinghouse at Coney Island is open more people will take advantage of it than the number who will visit the two public baths during the whole year they are open?" he was asked.

"That may be," admitted Mr. Woody, "but you will have to get policemen to keep the people in line."

If the city adopts the plan, the bath will not be under the jurisdiction of the boorugh president. It will be under the control and management of the Park Department.

ITS LARGEST MEMBERSHIP.

Brooklyn Teachers Life Assurance Association Has 2,045 Members.

Its Meeting.

There was an unusually large attendance of the board of governors of the Brooklyn Teachers—Life Assurance Association, held at the Training School for Teachers on Wednesday afternoon.

It seems that some one who had dreamed dreams or seen visions had circulated the rumor that the amendment, mentioned in the call for the meeting, was in regard to raising the assessment from 50 cents to $1, and the benefit from $300 to $600. As a matter of fact, the amendment, offered at the January meeting by Dr. Crowell, requiring notice of and action at the March meeting, was to make it constitutional to pay the $300 benefit to the estate of any member who had died without a living assign. The matter about which rumor had been so busy was all threshed out years ago and by a practically unanimous vote, settled in favor of the present mode of procedure.

Both the largest amount up to date, paid by a teacher, $63.50, to join the association, and the largest membership, 2,045, were reported by the financial secretary, Edward Bush. It is worthy of note that the teachers of Queens Borough are taking advantage of their eligibility to membership by joining the association in increasing numbers. The association has just cause for pride in its progress and prosperity. Inquiries in regard to membership should be made of the collector of the school or of Mr. Bush, principal of Public School No. 18.

HISSES FOR ALDERMEN

Eichorn and Grimm Hold Up East New York Improvement.

New Sewage Disposal Plant Not Authorized Yet—Trade Boards Indignant.

When the proposition to install a biological plant of sufficient capacity to care for the sewage discharge at the Twenty-sixth Ward disposal works came up yesterday afternoon before the New Lots Local Board, it caused a warm argument, both Commissioner of Public Works Pounds and Alderman Alexander Drescher strongly urging the need of the improvement and Aldermen Grimm and Eichorn opposing it. Alderman Drescher said that the Canarsie Board of Trade and the Brownsville Board of Trade wanted the improvement as did all those who lived out in that section and they could not understand why it was repeatedly blocked. He said it looked like somebody had an ax to grind somewhere.

The disposal works now has only a capacity of about 4,000,000 gallons of sewage per day and this is entirely inadequate for a section that has grown so enormously. Ald. Drescher pointed out that the original plant was intended for a population of 20,000 persons, whereas the population had now grown to 156,000. This, he said, was surely a strong enough argument in favor of the proposed improvement, especially as those who lived in the vicinity were actually in danger of illness as a result of the leakage from the insufficient plant.

Commissioner Pounds also made a strong argument in favor of the improvement. He stated that the expense would not be so large and that the point had been reached where it was absolutely imperative that such an improvement be made in order to protect the health of those who lived near the plant. He said that the proposition had been up before, but for some strange reason had always failed to be adopted.

Both Aldermen Grimm and Eichorn did not seem to know just why they opposed the improvement. Eichorn silently voted against it and Grimm made a rambling talk, the gist of which was that the proposed plant would cost too much. When it came to a vote both he and Eichorn voted in the negative and Commissioner Pounds and Alderman Drescher in the affirmative.

When the result became known there was considerable feeling displayed by those present from the locality of the disposal works. The Canarsie Board of Trade and the Brownsville Board of Trade were strongly represented and there were other representatives present in the interest of those yachtsmen, all of whom are anxious to abate the nuisance by having an adequate plant installed.

Those who were present yesterday fully expected that at last this improvement would be authorized and some of them hissed the aldermen who opposed the measure and caused it to be laid over.

WOMAN FLAYS LEGISLATORS.

Says They Only Consider Bills Accompanied by "Something for the Boys."

The Brooklyn Women's Republican League held a reception and social yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Perkins, 11 South Portland avenue. Fifty women, well known in literary, art and social circles, assembled in the parlors which were decorated with cherry blossoms and Japanese streamers.

Much interest was manifested in the exhibition of Robert Adair's group of ebony and mother-of-pearl Japanese plaques and panels. Mrs. Charlotte Schulte, a well-known society leader of Orange, N. J., addressed the members of the league on "Equal Suffrage."

"Legislators of these days," said Mrs. Schulte, "only consider bills that are accompanied by 'something for the boys up here.'" She advised the women to work for the election of men who are above accepting a bribe or levying blackmail.

After several musical and vocal numbers, the hostess, assisted by Miss Grace Perkins, served a luncheon to the guests. Among those present were: Mrs. C. W. Fiske, Mrs. C. H. Blakesley, Mrs. Lee Barker, Mrs. Mann, Mrs. E. G. Entwistle, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Oscar Miller, Mrs. Charles Sample, Mrs. R. Yale, Mrs. Rodell, Madame Chapelle, Miss Harriet Foster, Miss J. Faurot and Miss Jennie Rodell.

TRUCKING MEN HEARD.

Suggest Means to Improve Waterfront Congestion.

The trucking interests were given an opportunity to suggest means to alleviate waterfront congestion in New York City at a public hearing held by Dock Commissioner Tomkins at the main office of the department, Pier A, North River, yestreday afternoon. They advised the commissioner that the slow methods of the railroad companies in handling freight and the asphalt paving along the river was largely responsible for crowded conditions.

For the New York Teamsters Association Isaac Goldberg said that granite block should replace the asphalt, thus helping traffic, but making it easier for the horses to keep their feet with snow or ice on the ground. He also said that the floats could be unloaded much faster if the companies could be induced to employ enough men to handle the freight in reasonable time. J. K. Orr and William Middleton of Middleton Brothers, expressed similar views.

Commissioner Tomkins intimated that he would take steps to compel the railroad companies to handle freight with less delay. He believes that freight in transit should not be landed in Manhattan, but taken to South Brooklyn or Staten Island.

ANNUAL MASONIC SERVICE.

On Sunday evening, April 24, the fifth annaul Masonic service will be held in the Central Congregational Church, Hancock street, between Bedford and Franklin avenues. A fine musical programme will be rendered, and the main auditorium will be reserved for the members of the craft. Dr. Cadman was reappointed to the office of grand chaplain by Most Wor. Samuel Nelson Sawyer, grand master of Masons of the State of New York, immediately after the last session of the grand lodge. Rt. Wor. Desmond O. Everhard, district deputy grand master of the Second Masonic District, and Rt. Wor. James S. Lawson, district deputy grand master of the Third Masonic District, are joint chairman of a large committee consisting of the masters of the various lodges.

TWO MUSICAL SERVICES.

The Easter music, morning and evening, in the Lafayette Avenue Presbyterian Church, under the direction of John Hyatt Brewer, will be as follows: Morning: Organ prelude—Allegro, Sonata VI, A. Guilmant; introit, "Most Glorious Lord of Life," John E. West; Hymn 179, "Jesus Christ Is Ris'n To-day"; anthem, "Easter Morn," John Hyatt Brewer; offertory duet, "Power Eternal!" NEW COURT-MARTIAL OFFICERS

Sweeping Changes Are Made in Navy Yard Board.

Captain W. C. Cowles of the Hancock Is the Presiding Officer—Several Men Retired.

Secretary of the Navy George L. Meyer has caused practically a complete shake-up among the members of the general court-martial at the Brooklyn Navy Yard. The president of the court, two other members and the judge advocate have been removed and others have been assigned to their places.

Captain W. C. Cowles, commanding officer of the receiving ship Hancock, has been made president of the court-martial; Captain R. R. Wallace of the United States Marine Corps is now judge advocate; Captain Halford of the Marine Corps and Paymaster Stanley, U. S. N., have been put on as members.

Captain J. E. Roller, retired, formerly president; Commander Albert Moritz, retired, and Commander Thomas W. Ryan, retired, have been relieved and ordered home, and Judge Advocate Lieutenant Garret, U. S. M. C., has gone to the marine barracks at Newport. The old members to retain their positions are Commander J. F. Hubbard, U. S. N., and Chief Sailmaker Barr, U. S. N.

One reason assigned for the change is that the court failed to get through quickly enough with the cases that are constantly accumulating. It is stated on good authority that the judge advocate wanted the court to meet in the afternoons three times a week as well as in the mornings, because of the amount of work to be done. He is said to have advocated this only a few days ago, and then came orders from Washington relieving him and the three retired officers.

It was officially denied at the yard that the cause of the changes was slow work. The reason given was that the move was in accordance with the policy of the Secretary of the Navy in removing retired and elderly officers.

The three retired officers who have been removed will be put on retired officers' pay, but they will be subject to recall at the pleasure of the Secretary.

IRISH NAMES FOR FIRE HORSES

Bath Beach and Bensonhurst Steeds to Be Called After Counties of the Old Sod.

Controller Prendergast's recent orders, decreeing that the names of all horses in the Fire Department be changed, was a sad blow to Chief Patrick A. Maher's fire laddies in Bath Beach and Bensonhurst, and the smoke eaters attached to Engine No. 143, located on Eighteenth avenue fear that Jim, Dan and Baby, the three big grays who pull the engine may be Hackensack, Bound Brook and East Orange next week.

The Controller's order has to do with the official reports for shoeing, and although each horse wears a neck strap with a number attached, they must further be designated by names which do not conflict. At present they are nearly all Dans, Jims and Mikes. Chief Maher is Irish, that goes without saying, and nearly all the men under him claim Irish parentage, so to prevent their beloved horses from being named after Pullman cars, they are advocating a scheme by which the horses will be re-christened after the several counties in Ireland.

In Engine House No. 143 all the horses are gray, with the exception of Frank, the chief's brown gelding. They are named Lem and Charley on the tender, while Pat and Mike draw the truck.

In Bensonhurst Jim and Lem are on Engine No. 153, while Pat and Bill are on the tender, and Joe and Harry draw the truck. If the boys have their say, and these names are no longer officially recognized, they will be Mayo, Cork, Galway, Donegal, Tipperary, Roscommon, Connough, Limerick, Kerry, Antrim and Meath.

TO IMPROVE THREE CANALS.

Enthusiastic Start Made on Plans to Deepen Those at Shinnecock, Quogue and Westhampton.

(Special to the Eagle.)

Greenport, L. I., March 25—There was an interesting and enthusiastic meeting in Village Hall, Wednesday evening, of prominent residents of Suffolk County to consider the best methods of securing immediate improvements for Shinnecock, Quogue and Westhampton canals. At the present time there is insufficient water there for oyster boats and small yachts.

It was voted unanimously that a committee be appointed consisting of representatives of the different villages interested in this work to solicit subscriptions and have power to expend money so collected. The following committee was named:

Leonard L. Bishop, Gaston E. Bishop, Charles H. Redfield, Westhampton; Erastus F. Post, Quogue; William Groutage, East Moriches; Waubope Lynn, Good Ground; William J. Mills, Henry D. Kerr, Frederick M. Lewis, Frederick Rohik, Greenport; Newton Mosher, Sayville; Arthur P. White, Blue Point; E. T. Southard, Baldwin; Edmund Brown, Bayport; Jacob Ockers, Oakdale.

Marcus C. Griffing and Gaston E. Bishop were appointed a committee to secure from the upland owners the dedication of the Shinnecock Canal to the state.

It was the opinion of every one present that if a sufficient fund can be raised to improve these waterways connecting Peconic Bay with the Great South Bay transportation will be increased tremendously.

HOSPITAL BLAMED FOR DEATH

Coroner's Jury Gives Verdict on Elevator Accident.

Woman Was Killed on March 17 While Being Taken From Operating Room to Ward.

At the coroners inquest yesterday, at which Coroner Rooney presided, held to inquire into the cause of the death of Mrs. Anna Forsell, the woman who was crushed to death by an elevator in the Methodist Episcopal Hospital on March 17, the jury found the death was due to "negligence on the part of the operator and negligence on the part of the Methodist Hospital in employing incompetent help."

Charles Hammond, an inspector of elevators testified that he had inspected the elevator December 30. At that time the car was in good order. He saw it the day following the accident and found the safety valve broken.

The nurse, Miss Darrell, told of the incidents which led up to the accident. Taylor was not allowed to testify, since he is now under arrest.

It was brought out through the testimony of Miss Eugenia Frost, supervisor of nurses and orderlies, that there was no regular operator for the elevator, any of the orderlies being supposed to be able to operate it. It was further shown that Taylor was in the employ of the hospital only six weeks at the time of the accident. The jury, after the verdict, was thanked by Coroner Rooney.

BUSINESS NOTICE.

Special and Regular Edison Phonograph Records for April.

"The Cubanola Glide," sung by Collins and Harlem with the New York Military Band, and "By the Light of the Silvery Moon," by Ada Jones and chorus, go on sale with the April lists of Edison phonograph records, the selling date on these two selections (which regularly belong to the May list) having been advanced so that the public might have the opportunity of securing them now while they are at the height of their popularity. Both selections are unusually tuneful and splendidly recorded.

The forty-two records, four and two-minute, which make up the April lists offer as wide a choice of selections to please a variety of tastes as any that the National Company has ever placed before the public. There are five grand opera records by Florencio Constantino, Marguerita Sylva, Blanche Arral, Ernesto Caronna and Walter Soomer.

There are two records in Hebrew from the musical play, "The Jewish Soul," sung by Sadie Rosenthal, a prominent soprano soloist of New York City.

Spirited band records, tuneful orchestra selections, mesmerizing "rag" melodies, dainty love songs, saxophone and concertina solos, side-splitting vaudeville sketches and monologues, recitations, impressive sacred numbers, solos, duets and quartets.

Scanning these April lists are seen the names of such prominent artists and entertainers as John Philip Sousa, Victor Herbert, H. Benne Henton, Alexander Prince, the American Symphony Orchestra, the New York Military Band, Marie Dressler, Edgar L. Davenport, Edward M. Favor, Manuel Romain, Golden and Hughes, W. H. Thompson and Cal Stewart, besides the regular members of the Edison staff.

HOLY WEEK SERVICES.

Meeting in Lafayette Avenue Presbyterian Church Pays Tribute to Fanny Crosby.

John R. Mott, secretary of the international committee of the Y. M. C. A., made the principal address last night at the holy week services at the Lafayette Avenue Presbyterian Church. The meeting last evening was under the auspices of the Presbyterian Union for Church Extension. D. W. McWilliams, an elder of the church and president of the union, presided and before introducing as the first speaker Alfred E. Morling of the Laymen's Missionary Movement, referred to the celebration in Connecticut yesterday of the ninetieth birthday of Fannie Crosby and asked the large audience present to join in singing one of her hymns.

"By common consent," said Mr. Marling, "the Christian world to-night has its eyes on Calvary. God spoke through the crucifixion. If God could have spoken in any other language surely He would have done so. The suffering of Jesus Christ was the only language we could understand."

Mr. Mott's theme was the reality of the living Christ.

"There is nothing," he said, "in the growing observance of holy week we should watch with more solicitude than that this observance, which was designed to be such a help to us, does not become a form.

"What is the secret of having Jesus Christ become and remain very real to you? Jesus Christ becomes and remains real to those who continue to exercise their minds upon what Christ said and did and upon what He was and is. Any person to be real to us must be known by us. Chinese Gordon had a startlingly vivid knowledge of Christ. I recently saw at Windsor, among that wonderful collection of gifts to Queen Victoria on the occasion of her jubilee, the old Bible of Chinese Gordon, which had been sent from the Sudan. It was so worn in places you could scarcely read the print.

"Christ becomes and remains real to those who obey Him and seek to conform their lives to His example."

Dr. Cleland B. McAfee, the pastor of the church, in closing the services said: "This is the night for us to set out on that path, the path that is plainly before us. We can tread that path and come close to Him."

IN ST. ANN'S CHURCH.

In St. Ann's Church on the Heights, Clinton and Livingston streets, the Rev. C. Campbell Walker, rector, the Good Friday services consisted of morning prayer, 10 A.M., and three hours service, "The Seven Words From the Cross," 12 to 3, with addresses by the rector.

At 8 P.M. there will be a special musical service, when the large male choir will sing the "Crucifixion." The Easter services will be especially attractive. Under Mr. Goldsworthy's management they have been arranged as follows: Holy Communion, at 7 A.M., at which the Girls Choral Club will sing; morning service and sermon by the rector, at 11 A.M. The male choir will sing. Sunday school festival, at 3:30, when an Easter cantata, consisting of carols and Scripture recitations, will be sung by young people. Evening service and sermon by the rector at 8, Schnecker's Easter cantata, "The Risen King," will be given by the combined choirs of St. Ann's Church.

BROOKLYN SHIPPING NEWS.

The Anchor Line's steamship Italia sailed yesterday from the Union Stores for Leghorn and Naples. She has on board a small number of passengers and a cargo of copper, oil and general merchandise.

For Malta and Piraeus.

The Greek National Steam Navigation Line's steamship Patria sailed yesterday from Pier No. 32, foot of Degraw street, for Malta and Piraeus. She carries some passengers and a miscellaneous cargo.

Shipping Is Very Slow.

The shipping business is very slow in some sections of the waterfront with the exception of sugar carriers. The Wacousta arrived yesterday with 24,500 bags from Matanzas consigned to the American Sugar Refining Company and the Cznakow, Rionda & Co., and the Kare has arrived with nearly 14,000 bags consigned to order. The long drawn out uncertainty that prevailed about the French tariff bill has been a serious injury to trade with that republic. Shipments have fallen off greatly, especially in cotton seed oil and lubricating oil. Pretty nearly every ship leaving here for French ports carried from 5,000 to 10,000 barrels of these oils. Now they are practically nil. Importers last year anticipated a tariff war and brought in a vast amount of these oils, one firm alone having a contract to deliver 75,000 barrels at Havre alone. Now that the tariff is practically settled it is hoped that business will return to its old form.

HERE AND THERE IN NASSAU CO

The temporary grand stand built last fall on the grounds of the Queens-Nassau Agricultural Society at Mineola is being razed to make room for the permanent building.

Garden City is developing some very fine boulevards in its easterly portion, which borders the Long Island motor parkway.

The grounds surrounding the County Court House at Mineola are being prepared for the season. The extensive lawn has been cleared of its winter covering used to fertilize the grass and with a few warm rains, followed by sunshine, a fine carpet of green is anticipated. Shrubbery and trees are also receiving annual spring care. The county grounds are looked upon with pride by Sheriff Joseph H. Foster, who has the care of them, and also by residents generally.

There is talk in Hempstead township of calling a special election to vote to sell the almshouse farm, as a result of the burning of the house on the property a few weeks ago. The farm contains over sixty acres, and is located at Uniondale, about two miles east of Hempstead. It is argued that such a large tract is not needed for the almshouse, and the proceeds from its sale could be applied to the purchase of a smaller parcel and the erection of the fireproof almshouse.

Residents of all the villages east of Freeport—Seaford, Wantagh, Bellmore and Merrick—are awaiting with eagerness construction of the South Shore Traction Company's trolley line, which will give those villages transit facilities east and west, which are much needed. The line will run from Bellport to Manhattan via the Queensboro Bridge.

A special school meeting is to be held in the Munson district on April 11, to vote on three propositions. One is to decide whether $10,000 shall be appropriated for a site and to erect a primary school at Franklin Square. Another is to determine whether a similar amount shall be appropriated for a site and building in another section of the district, and the third to determine if $30,000 shall be spent for an eight room building and site on John street, north of the present building.

The Nassau County supervisors, requested some time ago by a committee of the Bar Association to enlarge the court house, to provide more room for the various departments, have consulted an architect, who has made a tentative plan to enlarge the present structure. The extensions to the building are suggested for the west, north and south sides and to be two stories high and 130x65 feet, extending five feet north and south beyond the lines of the present building, connected by a short corridor at the rear of the present county clerk's office with the court house.

The town board of Hempstead has fixed the time for cutting grass on the common marshes as the first Tuesday in August at sunrise; on the common meadows at East Rockaway and also on cow meadows at Hungry Harbor on Monday, August 1, at sunrise. A penalty of $12.50 is prescribed for any person cutting grass on either tract prior to the dates mentioned.

Mr. Caruso Writes an Advertisement

The Value of a Testimonial

Being the first advertisement ever written by Mr. Enrico Caruso

A TESTIMONIAL to be of real value—to really represent the unbiased opinion of an artist—must be accompanied by the personal use in the home of the instrument recommended.

The piano used in the home of a singer, be he an opera star or a beginner, is of such vital importance that it can either mar a great voice or help to build up a small one.

Do you know that Caruso, Slezak, Zenatello, Martin, McCormack, Jorn, Amato, Tetrazzini, Destinn, Alda and Pasquali have voices some of them worth to their owners as much as $250,000 a year?

Do you think they could chance using in their homes for practice—for studying new operas and songs—anything but the best of pianos, and are you aware that they all, without exception, use the Hardman piano exclusively?

This is what makes a testimonial valuable as a guide for those who feel they need the advice of an expert musician in the selection of an instrument.

MAE WOOD WILL SUE ESTATE OF T. C. PLATT

Does Not Want Money; Seeks Merely to Prove Herself His Widow.

SAYS ESTATE IS VERY SMALL.

Declares Platt Gave His Favorite Son, Frank H., $3,000,000 Years Ago.

Julesburg, Col., March 26—"I'm not surprised; it's what I expected; it simply means that now I shall contest the estate. I am Mr. Platt's lawful widow." In these words Mae C. Wood replied when told that the will of ex-Senator Thomas C. Platt had been filed in New York, and under its terms he not only ignored Miss Wood, but Mrs. Lillian T. Janeway, the woman he married in 1903, and whom he recognized as his lawful wife, although he had been separated from her for the past few years.

"Who gets the estate?" asked Miss Wood. She was told that under the will the estate reverts to Senator Platt's three sons by his first marriage to Ellen Barstow. "The estate amounts to little annyway," explained Miss Wood. "Years ago, while his first wife was still living, Senator Platt turned over his entire estate of $3,000,000 to Frank H. Platt, his favorite son. If Senator Platt made any extensive fortune after that it is not known to me. Of course, he had some money, but what he had, or a great portion of it, he made over to Mrs. Janeway Platt when he separated from her a short time after their marriage in 1903. When the couple separated they entered into an agreement whereby Mrs. Platt was to receive $75,000 in cash and a deed to Tioga Lodge; so you see there cannot be much of an estate," insisted Miss Wood.

"That, however, makes no difference to me. What I am fighting for is not a share of the money—I don't care for that—but I am Mr. Platt's lawful widow, and I'm going to continue fighting until I establish my claim."

Miss Wood added that she would never have started any fight on Senator Platt if she had not been harassed and kept virtually a prisoner in her rooms by his agents at the time he married Mrs. Janeway.

BABY FRANK SURPRISED BY THREE STORY FALL

Not One Bit Hurt, but Full of Wonder Because Doctor Comes.

AMAZES THE SURGEONS.

They Can't Understand at All Why He Didn't Break All to Pieces.

Frank Kelly, aged 2, dropped into Bond street from the third story window of No. 191, at 6:20 o'clock last night, looked a bit surprised, sat up, gazed about him and then began to whimper. Frank's mother, terror-stricken, ran into the street from the house, picked him up, and darted back home again with him, hugging him in her arms and smothering him with kisses.

The boy had been in his crib, in front of the open window, in his parents' apartments, watching what was going on in the street, 30 feet below. Something that was happening interested him mightily, and he "hunched" closer to the window, and then overbalanced himself and fell into the street.

It seemed amazing that he was unhurt, but the closest maternal scrutiny did not reveal even a bruise or a scratch. But the neighbor women came in and told Mrs. Kelly that he must be hurt somewhere, and said that she should at least see a doctor about him.

"You can never tell what may come of this, Mrs. Kelly," said one of the neighbors, counsellingly. "Better get a doctor."

The counsels of the multitude prevailed and a call was sent for an ambulance. Dr. Klepper came with it, from the Long Island College Hospital, and the surgeon was told all about what had happened. He, too, was astonished to discover no evidence of any injury. Every little bone was manipulated and every square inch of skin was closely scrutinized. Frank seemed to wonder very much, but he was good-natured about it and bore the examination without any marked objection.

Surgeon Klepper was quite sure that the boy was unhurt, but he determined to take him to the hospital for a while, for observation. And when he got to the Long Island College Hospital with his little patient and told the internes about it, they all had a look at him. If nothing develops within the next twelve hours, he will be sent home to his mother.

GIRL WIFE IS MISSING

Man Searches Coney Island for Lost Spouse.

Young Husband Asks Police Aid and Says That Youth Also Has Disappeared.

Frantic at the loss of his girl bride, Charles Reade, a driver, of 338 West Twenty-fourth street, Manhattan, has searched the resorts at Coney Island one by one, for days, and last night he confided in the police. He is 24 years of age and he says his wife, Mary Reade, is but 19. He believes that she has been enticed to one of the resorts on the Island, and he has gone on a still hunt for her, willing to take her back, and anxious to see her to express his forgiveness. He appealed to the police, and consequent publicity in a last desperate effort to trace her.

He describes her as being pretty, a blonde, with gray eyes, and five feet five inches in height. He told the police that she left home last Tuesday wearing a black skirt, black shoes and stockings, a blue coat, and a large black picture hat. He says that he has been compelled to give up living at his cozy little home where they were very happy for over a year, because he cannot bear the sight of the flat without her. He is now boarding at 152 Houston street.

According to Read's story, a young man who lived in the neighborhood is also missing. He says that the young man is out on probation from the Coney Island police court on another charge, and he has furnished a description of the man to the police.

Lieutenant Essen of the Coney Island station told Reade to go to police headquarters and have a general alarm sent out for the missing woman.

RUSSELL MAY BUILD ANOTHER "ZION CITY"

Said to Be Contemplating Plan That Will Make Dowie's Look Small.

BIG PURCHASE OF PROPERTY.

Representatives in Brooklyn of Tabernacle Pastor Are Extremely Reticent About Undertaking.

The first step in a big movement by Pastor Charles T. Russell of the Brooklyn Tabernacle, to found a settlement that will rival the late John Alexander Dowie's Zion City, was taken the other day at Binghamton, N. Y., when the Rev. G. E. Raymond, assistant pastor of the Tabernacle, bought thirty houses and lots in Binghamton that take up an area of several entire streets, each house being valued at from $3,500 to $4,000. The property was sold to the Rev. Mr. Raymond by Henry Frey of Binghamton. It also became known yesterday that, in addition to this large purchase of real estate, the Brooklyn Tabernacle has acquired in the name of the Rev. Mr. Raymond an entire township in Hammondsville, a suburb of Pittsburg, Pa. The value of this land is estimated at $233,000.

In buying the property Mr. Raymond stated that he represented the Bible Tract Society, which is another adjunct of the Brooklyn Tabernacle, which has grown so wealthy as a result of the interest taken in the sermons of Pastor Russell, that it is necessary to find some way to profitably invest the money, and the report in Brooklyn yesterday was that Pastor Russell was planning a number of social settlements in various parts of the country modeled after the Dowie plan, and to be inhabited by those admirers of "Russellism" who have already done so much to advance the cause of the pastor.

Considerable anxiety was manifested at the Brooklyn Tabernacle yesterday when an Eagle representative tried to learn something of Pastor Russell's plans. A young woman who is engaged in clerical work in the publishing department of the Brooklyn Tabernacle asked the reporter what he wanted, and when he replied that he wanted to learn something of Pastor Russell's new scheme to amalgamate the interests of the Tabernacle and found a town for the followers of Pastor Russell, she smiled knowingly and vanished into the next room, where she held a hurried conference with someone.

In a few minutes another man emerged and wanted to know what the report was. He froze instantly when asked about the Binghamton plan and said he would have to refer the matter to F. H. Robinson. A thin, esthetic-looking man, with a curly Vandyke beard, stepped forward and said that he was Mr. Robinson and that he was secretary of the Brooklyn Tabernacle.

Mr. Robinson was most suave and sidestepped the main issue with infinite tact and diplomacy. No, he didn't think that Pastor Russell was trying to "Russellize" the town of Binghamton. It was true, he admitted, that they did own interests in Binghamton, but the value was greatly exaggerated.

"Is Pastor Russell planning to found a social settlement somewhat on the order of Zion City?" was asked him.

"Oh, no; nothing of that kind!" said Mr. Robinson deprecatingly. "It is merely a little investment, that is all. As far as I know, nothing in the nature of a social settlement is being planned."

"Where is Pastor Russell?" inquired the reporter. "Perhaps he can throw some light on the subject. Is he in the city?"

"Yes, I believe he is," said Mr. Robinson.

The reporter asked if it would be possible to see him and find out just what his Binghamton plans are.

Mr. Robinson was very, very sorry, but he hadn't the slightest idea where Pastor Russell could be found.

Mr. Robinson admitted that the Rev. Mr. Raymond is assistant pastor of the Brooklyn Tabernacle, but just before Mr. Robinson was called into the conversation, the young woman who first talked with the Eagle man had denied emphatically that the Rev. Raymond was the assistant pastor. When the reporter asked if the Rev. Mr. Raymond is in Binghamton now, carrying on a deal for Pastor Russell, Mr. Robinson said he did not know and could not tell where Mr. Raymond could be located.

Pastor Russell has made a big reputation by preaching on such topics as "To Hell and Back" and other bizarre subjects, and out West, especially in St. Louis, he attracted much unfavorable comment. In the latter city he held services in the Century Theater and a number of women became so wrought up by his sensational utterances that they fainted and had to be carried out.

He was divorced from his wife, Mrs. Maria Frances Russell in 1906 and in a letter he wrote to his wife he said, "I do not think it right for persons of strong mind and character to marry."

He began his Brooklyn career in February, 1909, by opening the old Plymouth Bethel near the foot of Hicks street, which he renamed the Brooklyn Tabernacle, and he has preached a number of sensational sermons in Brooklyn, the women always trooping to hear him, as his subjects made a strong appeal to the female sex.

Shortly after opening the Brooklyn Tabernacle he made Brooklyn the headquarters of the Millennial Dawn and Watch Tower Society, of which he is the head, as he is of everything connected with the Brooklyn Tabernacle.

In May, 1909, a telegram received here from Pittsburg stated that Pastor Russell—he hates to be called doctor or reverend—had been sued by his wife for failure to pay her $100 per month allmony, which was the order of the court when his wife was divorced on the ground of cruelty. An attachment for his arrest was issued in Pittsburg at that time.

Last June Pastor Russell returned from a tour of Europe, and stated that ten of his friends had turned over to him receipts in full from his wife and her attorneys, aggregating more than $9,000 in unpaid alimony money. This paid up his alimony for several years in advance.

COAXING PEOPLE TO CHURCH.

Result of a Canvass on the Subject in the City of Providence, R. I.

Providence pastors have been asking themselves and the so-called "pillars" of their churches the question: "What shall we do to increase the attendance in the churches of this city? How shall we rouse the people, more particularly the men, from the indifference to religious matters which is prevalent, and what methods will be most successful?" In order to change the condition of affairs in church matters, a campaign has been organized among some of the Protestant bodies in the city, says a writer in the Providence Journal. Committees of ministers and members of the church have been organized to spur the ungodly on to a sense of their duty. Pastors are preaching sermons warning the people against non-attendance. All the orthodox methods are being put into practice.

There are, however, many cases in which the orthodox methods do not seem to give any promise of success. No matter how impassioned the appeal of the preacher, no matter how zealous the work of the members of his congregation, no matter what the quality of his discourses, he sees no increase in church membership. If he is unable to intercat people by the usual means, others must be employed, and among the churches in Providence there are some that are following this course.

"Of course," said the minister of a large and fashionable East Side church, "our church cannot and does not need to use the devices that some other churches are both obliged and enabled to use. The congregation of my church would not, colloquially speaking, 'stand for it.' At the morning services the attendance is quite satisfactory, but it is at the evening or afternoon services that we strive to reach the non-churchgoing element of the neighborhood.

"This we endeavor to do in our case by having a vesper service, at which the music is the attraction. We have an unusually fine choir, and we advertise the vesper services, sometimes giving the musical programme. When the people come, as they do, to hear that, they are practically obliged to hear what the minister has to say in a short address, and if he has anything to say that is worth while, these people—or, at any rate, some of them—will come to hear him in the morning."

"No, we certainly do not use any other means than straightforward preaching of the gospel to induce people to come to our church," said a woman, indignantly. She is a prominent member and worker in one of the large Episcopal churches on Westminster street. "I think it's disgraceful," she went on, "that people must have some inducement to serve the Master. It's just as bad as the quarterly meetings when we transact the business of the church. We used to serve ice cream and cake, and we continued it until I overheard a conversation one day between two ladies who were members of the congregation and usually faithful attendants at the quarterly meeting.

"Said one of them: 'Are you going to the meeting to-night?'

"'No,' replied the other, 'I don't believe I will. You see, my stomach's a little out of order, and I couldn't eat any ice cream and cake!'

"When I heard that," concluded the member who told the story, "I, as president, stopped the practice of having refreshments served. If that was all the people came for, I thought it was time to end it."

One device which is used largely consists in preaching sermons which are supposed to appeal to certain classes. Sermons "for men only," talks for the especial benefit of mothers and for boys and girls are frequent, and sometimes get large audiences. There are also services for workingmen, for college students, for all sorts of men and women who represent certain classes in society.

"They may do good, may add to the membership of the church," said one divine who disapproved of that sort of attraction, "but I doubt it. Dr. Hale once told me of an incident which happened to him in Boston. On a suggestion made by one of his congregation, he set aside two pews in his church especially for the use of the students of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, whom he urged to come. Those pews were conspicuous throughout the winter by their emptiness.

"It went to show that the students objected to being put on exhibition, as it were, in a class by themselves. I think if I were a workingman I should object to making it known by attending a service for my especial benefit, instead of being able to go into church and take my place as a regular member."

Another minister took another view:

"I believe," he said, "in the method of special sermons on special topics to interest special classes of people. My church is in a district where there is almost entirely a working population—30,000 people. It is at the evening service that the ordinary non-churchgoing man is found, and so I advertise my topics to get him, because I think he'll be interested, and if I haven't enough to say to make him want to come again I've got no business to be in a pulpit! 'Christ and the Workingman' is the topic I shall speak on in the near future, and I expect to have a large attendance. This choice of subjects designed to attract a certain class may be a device, but as far as my church is concerned it is successful in increasing the congregation."

It is often said that in love "the way to a man's heart is through his stomach," and judging from the practice of two Episcopal churches in the city, it is thought by them to be equally true in religion. In one of them, on North Main street, afternoon tea is served on Sunday afternoon.

This is said to be somewhat in the nature of a mission, getting the poorer and the well-to-do of the church together in a social way and at the same time refreshing the inner man. It is a custom adopted with the idea of making people feel at home in the church, and drawing them into the fold.

At the other Episcopal Church breakfast is served every Sunday morning. There is a reason given for this practice, indicating that it is not, perhaps, a device for enlarging the attendance, but as far as the morning service is concerned that is precisely what it does. And it has been remarked that were the practice discontinued there might be a falling off in the attendance.

This church is very "high" and there is a communion service at 7 o'clock in the morning. No good ritualistic Episcopalian takes communion on a full stomach, and there are a number of people who come from some distance who wish to take the communion properly and to stay to the services that follow. For these people a breakfast of coffee and sandwiches is served in the parish house every Sunday morning and the custom is believed to attract many people who would otherwise stay away from the regular service.

One device for attracting people to the church is advertising. Bulletin boards on the premises or at the doors of the church announce in large letters that the pastor, whose name is given, will preach on this or that topic at the morning or evening service. Like any other sign or advertisement it is designed to catch the eye and, if possible, stimulate sufficient interest to induce the reader to attend the service.

"I think," said the pastor of one church who advertises regularly, "that it is a good thing to advertise. Let people know what the church is doing, announce the subject on which you are to preach, and someone who has otherwise no intention of going to church will see the advertisement, discover that the topic is one which appeals to him—and there is an addition to the congregation."

There is a large church on the West Side which has had frequently at its Sunday evening services talks on religious subjects illustrated with a stereopticon. This is not general in Providence churches, but in this particular instance it always draws a large audience and has been the means of increasing the morning attendance. It is looked upon askance by some of the more orthodox pastors.

"These moving pictures and illustrated lectures," commented one, "seem to me to create an appetite. The people get to expect them and if they are not forthcoming they stay away from church. I admit that it isn't the case in such Providence churches as have these, but I have known elsewhere several pastors who employed these devices to enlarge their congregations and not one of them kept his pulpit over two years."

"It holds the interest of the congregation," said another minister, "especially of the younger people, and pictures representing the Holy Land and scenes in the life of Christ make the gospel more real to those who hear it preached and read the Bible. In the churches of this city these illustrated lectures are not regular affairs, but occur only occasionally, and some of the non-members who attend them are influenced to come into the church."

A well-known church downtown has for the past two summers held lawn services widely advertised and largely attended. These have been said by some of the people in the vicinity who were able to hear all that went on to smack too much of Salvation Army methods for a regular church. An augmented choir, a cornet and other pieces of music to take the place of the organ, and not only the verses of the hymns sung, but also pictures thrown upon a screen arranged for the purpose seem, to those who disapprove, sensational, or at the best, undignified measures for attracting people to the services.

One clergyman who preached at one of these services at the invitation of the regular pastor was of a different opinion from the critics.

"I do not think," he said, "that there was anything in these services to call for such criticism. There was music of a different sort from that in the church as far as the instruments were concerned, and as it was dark the hymns had to be shown on the screen, but it did attract people who otherwise might not have come. The night I preached there were at least 200 there who were non-churchgoers, and some of them after attending the lawn services during the summer have announced their intention of joining the church."

In addition to the words of the hymns, pictures of the Rock of Ages and other Biblical emblems or scenes were portrayed upon the screen. These the speaker considered were quite proper under the circumstances. It was not denied that these things were devices out of the ordinary to attract people, not only in this instance, but in others, but they were held by churches and pastors to be quite justifiable owing to conditions at present.

So-called institutional churches have many ideas which ultimately result in increased membership. Of this case a well-known church in Edgewood is a striking example. A gymnasium, a body of cadets, games, contests, classes, social events and functions of all kinds are arranged or instituted by and center in the church. The people who participate in these various activities are made to feel that they are a part of the church life, whether or no, and those who are church members exert, through their affiliations with a church having so many outside interests, such an influence over non-members that the latter are brought into the congregation in large numbers.

Brotherhoods, men's clubs and other societies employ similar devices to those of the church as a whole and corresponding organizations of women work to increase attendance, "to waken," as one of them put it, "the spiritually different from their lethargy and bring them into the House of God." The feature of all these devices is the absence of attempting to increase church attendance by the minister's preaching of "straight Gospel."

There are no unusually bizarre means used by any of the churches in Providence as there are reported to be elsewhere. The daily press recently gave an account of a church in another state in which the Sunday service was enlivened by a vaudeville performance, and of another where the men were permitted to smoke.

In every instance in which it was admitted that extraordinary means were used the idea of bribery of any sort was emphatically disclaimed. Said one pastor:

"If I chose to offer some material advantage dependent on regular church attendance I could more than crowd my church, but it would be in the end like an incident a man told me the other day. This man in his younger days had a friend whose father promised to give him a pool table if he would attend Sunday school regularly for two years. This the youth did and the pool table arrived. The Sunday after its arrival the recipient of the gift failed to appear at Sunday school.

"'Where were you yesterday?' inquired his friend the next day, 'I didn't see you at Sunday school.'

"'No,' replied the other, 'I've got my table and I'm spending my Sunday school time playing pool!'"

Ministers who believe in adopting out-of-the-way devices to increase the attendance at their churches and ministers who do not are sometimes impelled to more or less sarcasm at each other's expense. One of the former type, speaking of a pastor of a large church who stated distinctly that he used no devices, remarked:

"I suppose if he saw twenty extra people in his Sunday morning congregation he'd faint away!"

And on the other side of the question one of the conservatives observed of a brother:

"If he has to resort to the measures he uses to get a large audience I'm sorry for him!"

THE DISCOVERY OF NEPTUNE.

A Striking Illustration of the Power of Scientific Method by Astronomers.

There is perhaps no more striking illustration of the power of scientific method than that relating to the discovery of Neptune in 1846. The planet Uranus, until then the outermost known member of our solar system, refused to follow the path computed for it by mathematical astronomers. With the progress of time the discrepancies between its predicted and observed positions grew constantly larger until, in the early eighteen-forties, the discordance amounted to fully 75 seconds of arc. This is a small angle—not more than one twenty-fifth the angular diameter of our moon—yet a very large angle to refined astronomy, for a discrepancy of two seconds would have been detected with ease. The opinion gradually developed that Uranus was drawn from its natural course by the attractions of an undiscovered planet still farther from the sun than itself. Adams in 1843 and Le Verrier in 1845, independently, and each without knowledge of the other's plans, attacked the then extremely difficult problem of determining the approximate orbit, mass and position of an undiscovered body whose attractions should produce the perturbations observed. Regrettable and avoidable delays occurred in searching for the planet after Adams' results were communicated to the astronomer royal, in October, 1845. Le Verrier's results were communicated to the Berlin Observatory in September, 1846, with the request that a search be made. The disturbing planet, later named Neptune, was found on the first evening that it was looked for, less than one degree of arc from the position assigned by Le Verrier. If an energetic search had been made in England the year before, the planet would have been discovered within two degrees of the position assigned by Adams.—Professor W. W. Campbell of the Lick Observatory, in The Popular Science Monthly.

SAD DEATH OF A CHERUBIM.

"Two city boys," relates E. S. Bruce of the forest service, "went shooting in the woods. As they passed a ruined house on their way home at dusk, a huge owl flew out. One of the boys raised his gun and fired. The owl, with an unearthly shriek, fell fluttering to the ground. The awed boys peered through the twilight at the great, round face and outspread wings.

"'Gosh!' whispered the younger. 'Dear knows what'll happen to us. We've gone an' shot a cherubim!'"—Everybody's.

CHRISTIANITY IN KOREA.

To Be First of the Far Eastern Country to Be Evangelized.

That Korea will be the first of the countries of the Far East to become evangelized is the opinion of the Rev. Dr. Arthur J. Brown, the secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church, who has just returned from a tour of the world, says the Boston Transcript. It was particularly unfortunate, thinks the Rev. Dr. Brown, that a Korean fanatic should have assassinated Prince Ito, and especially so just at this time. The prince was the best friend Korea had in Japan, and had maintained certain reforms for Korea against considerable opposition at Tokio. Down to fifteen years ago there were fewer than two hundred Christians. Now there are 200,000, with Sunday schools among the largest in the world. The Rev. Dr. Brown attended a prayer meeting where 1,800 adults were present.

Not long before his death in Manchuria the Rev. Dr. Brown had a long interview with Prince Ito, who told him of Japan's plans in the Korean dependency. He was not unmindful of mistakes that have been made, especially following the close of the war with Russia, but he believed the reforms inaugurated would eventually benefit the Koreans and also the Japanese, whose interests he felt to be identical. He commended highly the work of the Christian missionaries, and mentioned having appointed as chief justice of Korea, Judge Watanave, a Presbyterian elder, and also lawyer and gentleman of the highest type. The prince admitted having many times squared his plans for Korea by the teachings of the missionaries, for he said he was fully aware that any reforms to be permanent must rest on moral character and uprightness of action.

The Japanese have gone into China, as they have upon the Pacific Ocean, and have been bold to enter into competition with British and American enterprises. For years British capitalists have charged Chinese any rate they pleased for carrying freight on the great river of their own empire. The Japanese enter and establish a line of vessels between Hankow and Shanghai, and charge different rates. They do the same with ships plying to the Pacific ports of this country. Hatred of the Japanese is general throughout the Far East. Every foreigner resident there is either for Japan or against it, most always against it, unless they happen to be in Japanese employ or to be Christian missionaries. Born of the hatred are many stories of Japanese performances; stories that may or may not be true. To say they are hated is not of necessity to criticise the Japanese.

The growth of Christianity in China within the last nine years has been very great. It was said in 1900, after the Boxer troubles that missions there would be long in recovering. Instead, the number of Christians has increased since then by 150,000, or larger, by 50,000, than had been the increase for all time up to 1900. Conferences had by the Rev. Dr. Brown with leading Christian Chinese discovered an attitude of great hopefulness for the future. Politically the empire is just now at sea in its opinions and policies, with a growing feeling against the dynasty; but it is believed that there will be no serious troubles and that within a few years conditions will right themselves.

The Rev. Dr. Brown was much impressed by the possibilities of Siberia. Its appearance is not unlike that of Canada, and even morse sparsely settled. But with its broad plains available there need not be, for some time at least, any land famine. The trip across the continent took ten days but was comfortably made. Speaking of transportation, the Rev. Dr. Brown pointed out that in 1863, when the Rev. Dr. Hunter Corbett, the first American Presbyterian to enter China, made the journey thither, he consumed eight months in the task. Dr. Brown returns now after an absence of five months, during which he made a tour of the world, spent fifteen days in Japan, twenty-five days in Korea, fifty-six days in China, and ten days crossing the continent of Asia. He believes that Christian missions have made progress in the same forty-six years comparable in most respects to the progress in transportation.

SHE WAS FEELING SAD.

An attractive woman, who lives near City Park, had several callers last night. About 9:30 o'clock, when the lights were low, she went over to the piano and began playing sad airs like "Take This Bible Back to Mother," etc. At the time an animated discussion of "Pork Chops and Their effect on the Human Stomach" was going on. One of the callers, a young man who works for the Colorado and Southern, had just said: "I never eat more than six chops at one meal, but I often fill up on the gravy," when the discussion was interrupted by the hostess. She was feeling blue, indeed.

"Do you know, folks," she said, "the saddest moment in a woman's existence is when she discovers that she is absolutely safe in a tunnel."

Then she struck up "Ben Bolt," and the pork chop discussion was resumed.—Denver Post.

NO HOSPITAL FOR HIM.

Italian, Fractured, Battered and Bruised, Refuses Ambulance Surgeon's Pressing Invitation.

Despite the urgent appeals of Ambulance Surgeon Madden, of St. Mary's Hospital, Louis Dilanaso, an Italian, 67 years old, of 2284 Atlantic avenue, East New York, strenuously objected to being removed to any hospital after being knocked unconscious by a fall which he received while alighting from a Hamburg avenue trolley car, at the corner of Rockaway avenue and Pacific street, late yesterday afternoon. Dilanaso attempted to get off the car while it was coming to a stop. As his feet touched the ground he fell heavily, and received numerous wounds.

A possible fracture of the skull, a fracture of the chin and ear, a serious wound in the groin, and bruises all over the body, were sustained by Dilanaso. His injuries rendered him unconscious for a time, and it was while he was in this condition that an ambulance was summoned. The clanging of the bell on the ambulance brought him to his senses. The surgeon proceeded to dress the wounds, and Dilanaso was then ordered to get into the ambulance and go with the physician to the hospital.

"Me no wan' to go to hosp', Mist' Doc," said Louis.

"Well, you are going whether you want to or not! Do you want to die?" exclaimed the surgeon.

"You tinka so? Me no tinka so. Me get my sup and feela mucha betta. So long, doc."

With this Dilanaso walked away to his home.

STORY BRINGS EASTER GIFT.

Mrs. Brown Goes Out Shopping Alone—and Returns With a Young Son.

Mrs. Mamie Brown, aged 32, of 784 Madison street, was shopping last night on Broadway. She stopped at several stores, and purchased candy and Easter eggs, and was walking slowly toward her home, when in front of 1237 Broadway she was seen to stagger and fall. She was carried into a hallway, and the stork arrived a few minutes later with a bouncing baby boy. Ambulance Surgeon Jayne from the Bushwick Hospital, responded to the hurry call sent in, and he pronounced the boy strong and healthy and the mother in good condition. Mrs. Brown and the baby were taken home in the ambulance.

THE QUIET MIND.

"There is no place in our busy world for the man who sees responsibility coming his way and steps aside to let it pass," writes Professor Curtis Manning Geer, in Practical Ideas, concerning the power of religious faith in making for health and happiness. "We want the man who will take his share and not be irritated by the burden. The work of the world is done by men like the bank president who can go to his office in his steam yacht and automobile, or hanging to a strap in the street car with equal complacency; who in his day's work can settle questions involving millions of dollars and equally well meet the petty vexations of ordinary life; who can face and endure big sorrows that come to him without being greatly disturbed. Such a man has the calm of the ocean depths. It may be because of his great self control and strength of character. He has trained himself through long years of experience to do the big things quietly. If sorrow and reverses come to him he says to himself, 'It's all in a day's work.' We admire such men, but somehow that is not a common experience. Most of us are easily disturbed, and spend our days in nervousness and weakness; but it is true that quietness and confidence and strength are possible to everyone."

SPOILT THE SET.

Colonel Falsom was reading the morning paper at the breakfast table, when he exclaimed in a horrified tone of voice:

"What a terrible misfortune!"

"What is it—somebody got married?" his wife asked in an indifferent manner.

"No, but a married woman in a fit of rage threw a coffee cup at her husband. The cup was shivered into fragments, and one of them, cutting his jugular vein, he died on the spot. The reporter says the grief of the unfortunate woman was dreadful to witness. She was frantic with remorse, and made several attempts to put an end to her existence."

"Poor creature!" said Mrs. Falsom, with a sigh; "the broken cup must have belonged to her new china set."—Pearson's Weekly.

INSINCERE OPTIMISM.

"You have had a great deal of sickness in your family."

"Yes," answered the cynic with the hollow smile.

"It must be very discouraging."

"Oh, I don't know. It's getting to be almost as cheap to go to the drug store as to the grocery."—Washington Star.

CRUSADE ON AUCTION ROOMS.

Aldermanic Deputy Sergeants Start In to Enforce the "Sunrise to 6 P.M." Regulations.

Acting under orders from John Purroy Mitchell, president of the Board of Aldermen, they asserted, John J. McGlynn and John J. Cleary, deputy sergeants-at-arms in the aldermanic chamber, caused the arrest last night of a West Forty-second street auctioneer in Manhattan. The cahrge was selling jewelry without a license, but the deputies intimated that the president of the Board of Aldermen has commenced a crusade against certain auctioneers who sell after 6 o'clock at night, and concerning whose methods complaints have been made.

The deputies went into the auction rooms at 21 West Forty-second street, about 8 P.M., and watched the auctioning off of a watch.

According to the deputies, the auctioneer claimed the watch was worth $20. It was finally knocked down to a bidder for $2. After completing their investigation, the deputies called on Detectives Oppenheimer and Ward of the East Fifty-first street station, and caused the arrest of the auctioneer. The prisoner was taken to the East Fifty-first street station, and there he said he was Nathan Rogers, an auctioneer. He gave the West Forty-second street place as his address.

Auctioneers of jewelry and the like are licensed by the city, and they pay $100 a year for the privilege, and are allowed to sell or auction off articles from sunrise to 6 P.M. Deputies McGlynn and Cleary said that many persons have been insulted in some of the night auction rooms and that complaints have been made from time to time as to the methods pursued. They said Mr. Mitchell's secretary, John O'Connor, had given them their orders, but would make no more extended statement.

PLAN BIG WILD WEST SHOW.

Members of Third Battery Will Give Exhibition of Frontier Riding.

A wild west show, which promises to eclipse anything of the kind ever undertaken by amateurs, will be given under the auspices of the Third Battery, Field Artillery, commanded by Captain Chauncey Matlock, Friday and Saturday nights, April 15 and 16, at the armory on Clermont avenue, near Myrtle avenue.

About fifty members of the battery will participate in the event in the dress of Mexicans, Indians, cowboys, clowns, acrobats and strong men. There will be an exhibition of throwing mules, an attack on the emigrant train, a fight over the water hole, an attack on Trapper Tom's cabin and stealing of his daughter, and a quadrille and Maypole dance on horseback. There will be a band concert each evening. There will be cowgirls as well as cowboys, and the entire exhibition is being planned on an elaborate scale.

A Gymkhana is announced for next Wednesday night. The event will consist of mounted exercises by members of the battery, en masque, under command of Lieutenant Julian C. B. Stokes.

TRAFFIC DROPS; CUT MADE BY THE UNION FERRY LINE

Opening of Manhattan Bridge Causes Boat Business to Take Big Tumble.

TIME SCHEDULE REDUCED.

Gangs Are Discharged in Attempt to Make Revenue Meet Expenses.

Because the opening of the Manhattan Bridge for vehicle traffic has still further reduced its much-shrunken business, the Union Ferry Company has discharged three gangs from the Wall, Catherine and Fulton street ferries, and has changed its non-rush-hour service from a ten-minute to a twenty-minute schedule. Julian D. Fairchild, the president of the Union Ferry Company, had no comments to make on the change beyond stating that it was made to bring expenses into a more approximate relation to the reduced receipts.

A little more than two years ago the company endeavored to establish a fifteen-minute service on the Wall, Catherine and Fulton street ferries, at the same time that it abandoned the running of night boats. Public complaint and the evidence of real congestion at certain points led to a recall of the order establishing a fifteen-minute service and to make it a ten-minute service on the three lines affected by the latest change.

The new factor in the situation is the opening of the Manhattan Bridge, which has very much reduced the truck business of the Catherine street ferry, and has also affected the Fulton and Wall street lines. The passenger traffic had ceased to be profitable long before, when the Brooklyn subway was first opened, and more than a year ago the company abandoned its former practice of carrying passengers over the river for a one-cent fare during certain hours of the day. The fare was made three cents straight, and the company's officials said it caused only a very slight falling off in the passenger traffic.

Gauged by the number and amounts of the declared dividends, the Union Ferry Company has been losing money for some time. It had passed dividends for several years, until there was a rumor in January of this year that a small dividend had been declared.

Several years ago much discussion resulted from the announced purpose of the Union Ferry Company to stop running its boats. Its lease with the city had expired and the company had continued the operation of its boats, presumably as a hold-over tenant. The company failed to pay the rental of 7½ per cent of the gross receipts named in the old lease, and the city began suit to recover the amount due. In 1905 a bill allowing the city to purchase the Union Ferry Company's property was vetoed by Mayor McClellan, because he believed it was too much of a one-sided measure. An investigation of the company's books showed that it had made good money until the opening of the Brooklyn subway. On the basis of this investigation a new arrangement was entered into by which the company paid the city some of the back rent and agreed to pay a 2 per cent. rental in the future on the basis of the receipts.

FORESAW DOOM AND DODGED

Accomplices of Majos in Korn Murder Plead Guilty.

Inform Justice Crane That Man Named Miller Engineered Plot to Rob the Bank.

Evidently frightened at the conviction for murder in the first degree yesterday of their associate in the killing of Selig Korn, on January 6 last, Victor J. Danowics and Kvan Wasylow, who were indicted with Lajama Majos, asked permission this morning of Justice Crane in Part V of the Supreme Court to plead guilty to manslaughter in the first degree. As there was abundant proof that Majos fired the fatal shot, and that Danowics and Wasylow did not use their pistols, Justice Crane and District Attorney Clarke decided to accept the plea. It was announced that the three men will be sentenced on Friday.

On the morning of January 6 two of the men entered the private bank of Hyman Korn, at 1020 Manhattan avenue, while the third remained in the street with his pistol ready to keep out anybody likely to interfere with the operations of the two inside. While Majos kept watch, his companions demanded of the paying teller his money or his life, at the same time reaching through the cage for what money they could seize. Selig Korn, the brother of the banker, ran out to grapple with the bandits, and Majos shot him down. Then the three tried to escape, but were captured.

After Danowics and Wasylow pleaded guilty this morning they were questioned by Justice Crane at length about their participation in the hold-up. Both men said that they had been put up to the crime by a man named Miller, who had escaped. It was he who laid out the plan and told them it would be easily carried out. It was he, they said, who had given them the pistols. They denied that Majos had been associated with them in any other attempted hold-up, or that they had ever done that sort of thing before. Danowics admitted that he had been in trouble with the police of Newark over a blackmailing scheme, but he had not been convicted, he said.

Assistant District Attorneys Ross and Roy had charge of the prosecution, and Lawyers Edward J. Reilly and Charles Russell appeared for the defendants. Lawyer Reilly afterward said that, owing to the youth of Majos, a effort will be made to get Governor Hughes to commute the death sentence, which Justice Crane will impose upon him, to a life sentence.

NURSE CRUSHED TO DEATH IN L. I. COLLEGE HOSPITAL

Fell Down Elevator Shaft When Taking Supper to a Patient.

SHE HAD USED FREIGHT LIFT.

Foot Was Caught Between It and Corridor—Tender Raised Lift and She Fell.

Miss Rosalie Street, a senior in the Long Island College Hospital Training School for Nurses, died in the hospital to-day from injuries she received last night in a fall of five stories through the elevator shaft. Miss Street was a Canadian, 26 years old, and one of the most capable young nurses at the institution.

Miss Street died at 7 o'clock this morning, but it was noon before a report of the accident was made to the police.

By all accounts, the young woman's fall was not due to carelessness on her part. She was on her way with the evening meal for a private patient on the third floor. She had ascended by way of the freight elevator on the Amity street side of the building, which is at Henry, Pacific and Amity streets. It was said at the hospital, that her foot caught between the floor of the elevator and the floor of the corridor as she was alighting, and that she was unable to release it.

The elevator man, John J. McFadden, thought to release her by raising the elevator. He raised it too much, and as the lift rose Miss Street fell backward into the shaft. Her body crashed to the sub-cellar, five stories below, breaking her ankle, leg and hip bones. She also received internal injuries.

Miss Street was given every possible attention by Drs. Rushmore, Bristow and Wood, but without avail.

The operator of the elevator, McFadden, who is 41 years old, was arrested to-day on a charge of homicide, and locked up in the Amity street police station. He will be held until a thorough investigation is made by the police.

Miss Street had no relatives in Brooklyn, but was distantly related to persons in Manhattan. She came from Ottawa. She was in the third year, or graduating class of the training school at the hospital, and would have completed her course next June. A brother, living in Ottawa, was sent for to take charge of the body.

SHOT IN A SALOON FIGHT.

Alfred Shaffer Was Seriously Wounded and Four Men Running Away Were Arrested.

Alfred Shaffer, 42 years old, of 341 Lexington avenue, Manhattan, was shot in the back of the head during a row in a saloon at the corner of Fortieth street and Seventh avenue, Manhattan, this morning and was removed to the New York Hospital in a serious condition.

Patrolman Falke of the West Thirtieth street station, entered the place when he heard pistol shots and cries for help, and found Shaffer on the floor of a rear room unconscious and four men fleeing upstairs. He compelled them to surrender at the point of his pistol, and with the assistance of Patrolman Gorman, made them prisoners. When taken to Jefferson Market Court for arraignment they said they were Edward McCue, 30 years old, of 690 Seventh avenue; Charles McClunn of 257 West Thirty-eighth street; Charles Young, an actor, living at 495 Eighth avenue, and J. F. McQuade, a sailor on the battleship Wisconsin.

The saloon was searched by Falk, who found a 32-caliber revolver with four chambers empty in the basement at the foot of a flight of stairs. None of the prisoners would talk and all the wounded man was able to say was that he was set upon and shot.

The four men were arraigned before Magistrate Barlow and held without bail for examination to-morrow.

The town board may submit the matter to a special or biennial town meeting, and on the petition of at least twenty-five taxpayers in the town must submit to a biennial town meeting a proposition for the acquisition of land in the town for park purposes and for the issuance of bonds.

BUILDING LOAN BILL PASSED.

Albany, N. Y., March 30—The bill introduced by Senator Travis, of Brooklyn, which revises practically all the laws governing building and loan associations, passed the Senate this morning. This bill affects more than 250 associations in New York state. Its provisions are favored by the State Department of banking and welcomed by the associations themselves, for it makes uniform regulations concerning their business and abolishes many old contradictory provisions of the law.

FELL INTO HOTBED—IS DEAD.

Fred Ulrich, a gardener, aged 38, of 211 East Twenty-sixth street, died in the Kings County Hospital last night, where he had been conveyed following injuries he received by falling into a glass covered hotbed in Charles Zeller's garden at 442 Clarkson avenue. BOLD BAND OF BURGLARS, WITH ITS 'KING,' CAUGHT

Captain Dooley Met the Gang Carrying Off a Butcher's Cash Register.

THERE WERE FIVE OF THEM.

Parents Thought Their Sons Were in Bed and Asleep at Time of Burglary.

The arrest early this morning of five diminutive burglars whose ages range from 14 to 11 years, developed the fact that they were part of an organized band of juvenile thieves known as the "Night Hawks," and that an older boy, who was termed "the king," was their leader. The boys were arrested by Police Captain Dooley and Detectives Tracy and Meehan after they had robbed the butcher shop of Charles Kaplan, at 142 Grand street.

The prisoners described themselves as William Smith, 14 years old, of 162 Metropolitan avenue; Louis Sagaski, 12 years old, of 272 Bedford avenue; Wandel Garrison, 13 years old, of 223 South First street; William Real, 11 years old, of 272 South Second street, and Richard Bolcher, the same age, of 268 Grand street.

Captain Dooley, of the Bedford avenue station, was returning from duty in the vicinity of the sugar refineries, where a strike is in progress. As he walked along Grand street he saw the boys carrying some heavy object. When the boys saw the captain they dropped their burden and ran. It was the butcher's cash register.

The captain shouted to them to stop, and when they saw that they were headed off by Detectives Tracy and Meehan, who were close behind Captain Dooley, they came to a halt.

The police afterward found the boys had passed through an alleyway adjoining the butcher shop and used an iron bar to force open the rear door. They first removed five large hams and five sides of bacon, which they hid in another alley in North First street, near Wythe avenue, and then returned for the register, which they were taking to a vacant lot to break open.

At the station house the two smaller boys exhibited fear of the older boy and declared that they would not "snitch." When taken aside, however, Captain Dooley learned that they were thoroughly organized, and that Smith was their leader, or "king," as they called him. It was also admitted by the boys that their parents thought them presumably fast asleep in bed, but that they were in the habit of leaving the house at a certain hour and meeting outside. The burglary of Kaplan's shop had been previously planned. The parents of each were surprised when told of the arrest of their sons.

The boys were charged with juvenile delinquency and placed in the shelter of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, and later to-day taken to the Children's Court.

DIGS HIMSELF OUT

Laborer Buried by Cave-in Does Not Wait for Help.

Uses Bare Hands in Clearing Away Sand That Almost Engulfs Him.

An Italian laborer, Nicola Galsticio by name, 28 years old, who was buried by the caving in of a sand bank at Sixty-seventh street and Eighth avenue to-day, dug his own way out and then cried out for help.

Galsticio was at work with a gang of Italians on street improvement work. He was in a ditch of his own digging, apart from the other workmen, and was alone in the hole when the sand gave way.

The ground buried him almost up to his neck, but his head and hands were free. He at once set to work frantically using his hands as shovels. He scooped away sufficient sand to enable him to wriggle out and then collapsed. He had sufficient strength to let out a yell and the gang rushed to him.

Dr. Hunter of the Norwegian Hospital dressed the man's injured legs and took him to his home.

RABBITS ATE BABY'S FINGERS.

Sayville Child Caught Hand in Meshes of Animals' Hutch While Feeding Them.

(Special to the Eagle.)

Sayville, L. I., March 30—Florence Gamage, the 14-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gamage of this place, was allowed the range of the back door yard yesterday. The child was alone for a short time, and amused herself by thrusting bits of grass through the wire meshes of the rabbit hutch. The animals were eager to grasp the first evidences of spring, but the baby got her fingers wedged in the wire meshes and could not pull them out.

When the animals had devoured the herbage they began to gnaw at the ends of the baby's imprisoned fingers.

The screams of the child brought the mother quickly to the rescue, who upon liberating her child's hand found the end of one finger eaten through to the bone.

After deliberating for fifteen hours, the jury in the case of William T. Evans, art collector and chairman of the art committee of the Lotos Club, against William Clausen, dealer in paintings, reported to Justice Page in the Supreme Court, Manhattan, this morning that they could not agree and were discharged.

The case was on trial for two weeks and attracted widespread attention, not only in the art world, but among the general public. Evans in 1903 bought two paintings from Clausen—then one of the leading art dealers in the country—which Clausen said were by Homer D. Martin, a noted American artist, since dead, paying $5,350 for them. After having them in his possession for several years Evans gave the paintings, "Near Newport" and "Old Mill Near St. Cloud," to the Corcoran Art Gallery, Washington. There someone suspected their genuineness and so reported to Evans. The latter took the paintings back and brought suit against Clausen to recover the money he had paid for them. He also caused Clausen's arrest in connection with the suit, and the art dealer spent several days in jail. Clausen was also forced into bankruptcy, and is now conducting a small picture framing business in striking contrast to his former magnificent art galleries.

In discharging the jury Justice Page, who had instructed them to agree upon a verdict if possible because of the time it had taken to try the suit and the enormous expense to both sides and to the state, thanked the jurors and said that he believed they had done their best to reach an agreement. It was learned after the jury had been discharged that the jurors had stood 9 to 3 in Clausen's favor on many ballots.

Frank R. Lawrence, president of the Lotos Club, and one of Evans' counsel, said that a new trial would be at once asked for by the plaintiff. He declared that Evans was not actuated by any sordid motive in bringing the suit, but had done so in the interests of art and American artists.

"We want the truth," he added, "and intend to get at it if possible."

The defendant in the suit is a member of the Lotos Club, as are also many of the witnesses who were called to testify during the two weeks of the trial, including Arthur Dawson, a picture restorer, who Evans alleged had "faked" the two paintings in dispute for Clausen.

HAD BLACKJACK IN POCKET.

Saloonkeeper Tells Magistrate He Carries Weapon for Self-Defense.

Policeman Charles Petterson of the Fifth avenue station received a tip to the effect that Charles Wilcovich, 31 years old, proprietor of a saloon at Third avenue and Twentieth street, was carrying a concealed weapon. Petterson stopped Wilcovich, late yesterday afternoon, on Twentieth street, and says he found a blackjack in Wilcovich's overcoat pocket.

Wilcovich was arraigned in the Fifth avenue police court, this morning. He told Magistrate Geismar that some one had threatened to kill him, and that was why he was carrying the weapon. He pleaded not guilty to the charge and the magistrate held him in $500 bail for examination April 13.

WORKMAN'S LEG BROKEN.

Peter Hanson, 42 years old, of 191 Conover street, while at work early to-day in the rosin yard of George L. Hammon, at the foot of Dykeman street, sustained a fracture of right leg. Hanson was rolling a barrel of tar weighing 500 pounds, and in some way his leg was jammed against the string piece of the dock. Dr. Klepper removed Hanson to the Long Island College Hospital.

AGASSIZ HAD HEART FAILURE.

The cause of the death of Professor Alexander Agassiz, the naturalist and president of the Calumet and Hecla Mining Company, who died on the steamship Adriatic, due here to-morrow, was heart failure. A wireless message from the Adriatic to-day says that Professor Agassiz passed away last Sunday morning from heart failure.

PASTOR RUSSELL DENIES BUILDING OF ZION CITY

Every City Is a Zion to Him, If There Are People of God in It.

TALKS ABOUT WIFE'S ALIMONY

Five Men Made It Up for Several Years, So That Pastor Might Be Free.

Pastor Charles H. Russell, who came to Brooklyn a year ago, and opened the old Plymouth Bethel on Hicks street, near Fulton, as the Brooklyn Tabernacle, denies the report that he is to establish a Zion City something like that built by Dowie in Illinois. Recently the society of which he is the head, acquired a piece of property in New York state, which led to a rumor that Pastor Russell and his associates intended to establish a new Zion City.

Pastor Russell, in denying the report, had a great deal to say about his creed, which is largely constituted of opposition to all other creeds and dogmas, and to the organization of church membership.

"A report gained circulation recently that our society, the Watch Tower Bible Society, was about to build a duplicate of Zion City," said Pastor Russell. "There is no foundation whatever for such a rumor. Every city is Zion City to us, if in that city there are people of God who hunger and thirst after righteousness and better understanding of the Scriptures, and a more intimate acquaintance with their Creator and Redeemer.

"Some twelve years ago a piece of vacant land in Pennsylvania was donated to our society. Being unable to dispose of it we recently effected an exchange for improved property in New York State, with a view to selling the same as quickly as possible, and using the proceeds in the further spread of the Gospel, without money and without price, to all who have the hearing ear.

"We are much encouraged in the many manifestations we have of the Lord's blessing upon our humble efforts. We are in correspondence with Christian people in all parts of the world, and receive, on an average, of from three hundred to six hundred letters a day. Our tracts and Scriptural studies go out phenomenally. The public attends our meetings. For instance, last Sunday, when I was in Boston, Tremont Temple was crowded, although it has a capacity of 2,600. Moreover, it was remarked that probably two-thirds of the congregation were men and that two hundred on the platform were men.

"I note that rumor has it that there are some very wealthy women in the Brooklyn Tabernacle congregations. I assure you that I do not know the first thing about the financial condition of any of them, and have never talked on the subject of money with any of them at any time.

"I see rumor has it that these wealthy women a year ago, during my absence in Europe, made up a purse and paid off certain debts of alimony that were against me. This is a mistake. So far as I have any knowledge of the matter, not a single woman had one dollar or any sum in that kind donation for my comfort. The nearly $10,000 was made up by five men, one a resident of Washington, one a New Yorker, one a Connecticut man, one a Massachusetts man and the fifth is now residing in New Brunswick.

"Having made, as I thought, reasonable provision for my wife, I donated all the remainder of my property to our society, of which I am president. Subsequently my wife's attorneys prevailed upon the court that the alimony should be increased. This increase of alimony I was unable to meet, for the reason stated, and rather than have me annoyed, and the general work interfered with, my friends, as above stated, during my absence paid the alimony required for several years in advance.

"I am sure that I deeply appreciate their kindness, but I may add that I would not have thought any the less of it if one or more of the friends had been women. To my understanding in Christian work, and Christian fellowship, the Apostle's words are true: 'There is neither male nor female, bond nor free, in Christ.'"

SUICIDE IN FAIRMOUNT PARK

Joseph Rottman Went to Philadelphia From Brooklyn.

Body Identified by His Sweetheart.

Business Losses the Cause of His Act.

Philadelphia, March 30—The body of the well-dressed man who shot himself while seated on a bench in Fairmount Park was positively identified yesterday as that of Joseph Rottman of Brooklyn, the identification being made by Miss Eva Goldberg of this city, who, the police say, was the man's sweetheart.

Rottman went into the park and sat down on a bench. Those who noticed him told the police that he appeared depressed. People were passing at the time when he suddenly whipped a revolver from his pocket and fired a bullet into his brain. Several women saw the act and became hysterical.

Miss Goldberg stated that she and Rottman were engaged to be married, but that the date for the wedding had not been decided upon. She was unable to assign any reason for his act other than the fact that he had lost considerable money in his laundry venture. Rottman, when in Philadelphia, made his home at Miss Goldberg's house. He was there for the Easter holidays and Saturday night they attended the grand opera together. There was no indication of despondency, but on the contrary he was in rather high spirits.

Before leaving her home Monday Rottman took an affectionate farewell of Miss Goldberg and told her he was going down town to attend to some business. A letter found in Rottman's pocket after his death and addressed to Miss Goldberg led to his identification. In this letter Rottman expressed fears of his inability to recoup his losses in the laundry business and despaired of ever being in a position to marry her.

HILPRECHT WRONG AGAIN

Professor Who Deciphered Deluge Tablet Is Scored.

His Theory Riddled by Professor George A. Barton, Who Says Inscription Is Almost Modern.

Professor Herman V. Hilprecht, of the department of archeology of the University of Pennsylvania, is again in trouble, this time with respect to his alleged discovery of a tablet upholding the Biblical story of the deluge.

Several weeks ago interest was aroused by the Professor's discovery of a tablet bearing an inscription which, he said, supported in every particular the priestly document of the Pentateuch. Hilprecht presented the paper on his discovery to "the elite of the Philadelphia fast set," a feminine audience, instead of waiting for the meeting of the American Oriental Society. Professor George A. Barton, of Bryn Mawr College, who punched holes into Professor Hilprecht's alleged discovery of the famous "Platonic number" a few years ago, set to work examining this latest contribution, and yesterday, at a meeting of the Oriental Society in Baltimore he presented evidence to show that Professor Hilprecht had displayed little erudition and much imagination in translating the tablet inscription.

Professor Barton said: "Dr. Hilprecht claims that the tablet was written some time between 2137 and 2005 B. C. Any student of the Oriental languages could tell that the tablet belongs several centuries later."

Many who have examined the tablet agree with Professor Barton that Professor Hilprecht's announcement was not based on facts.

DR. BOYNTON'S ANNIVERSARY.

Has Been Five Years at Clinton Avenue Church—Trustees Tender Reception.

The Rev. Dr. Nehemiah Boynton has just completed the fifth year of his pastorate at the Clinton Avenue Congregational Church, Clinton and Lafayette avenues, and he was given a reception last night by the trustees. During the five years Dr. Boynton has endeared himself to the hearts of his parishioners and the church has never been so prosperous. It stands third on the denomination list financially. The parlors of the church were becomingly decorated with ferns, roses and spring flowers, the receiving party standing in front of a bank of palms.

The reception committee included the president of the board of trustees, Dr. A. R. Fajne, and Mrs. Paine, president of the board of deacons, Professor W. S. Perry and Mrs. Perry, and the president of the Woman's League, Mrs. Charles H. Terry, with Mr. Terry.

The committee in charge of the whole affair was composed of members of the Woman's League—Mrs. L. D. Brown, Mrs. N. B. Hoxie, jr., Mrs. A. K. Sloan, Mrs. Clarence Howard and Miss Lydia Benedict.

The choir quartet of the church, composed of Mrs. A. E. Chandler, soprano; Miss Marguerite C. Dunlap, contralto; Forrest R. La Mont, tenor, and Willard G. Ward, bass, rendered several selections, accompanied by the director, Herbert Stavely Sammond, on the piano, and during the evening each member of the quartet gave individual selections.

Since Dr. Boynton took charge of the church there have been 425 new members enrolled. The Young People's Association is obtaining better results than before and there has been a Men's Club formed. J. William Greenwood is president of the Men's Club.

The missionary endeavors of the church have also been extended. Now the church is supporting a missionary in China—L. C. Porter. Dr. Boynton has three assistants—the Rev. Samuel W. King, the Rev. W. S. Woolworth, pastor of the Atlantic Avenue Chapel, and Theodore F. Savage, who, although he is not yet ordained, has charge of the Sunday school and of the Young People's work.

Dr. Boynton in a short speech last night expressed himself as being thankful that he was able to live in the Borough of Brooklyn and thought that the borough is growing in power and influence. He was grateful for the opportunities of the ministry and especially for those offered by the Clinton Avenue Church. He said that he felt very much "like a whale who had come to the surface to blow."

Among those who attended last night were Professor and Mrs. A. H. Howe, Mrs. M. Wyckoff, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Halstead, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Scudder, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Hassell, Mrs. T. B. Mills, Miss Grace Mills, Mr. and Mrs. J. Williams Greenwood, Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Sloane, D. B. CASTAWAY'S ADVENTURES

Rowed in Dory All Day Without Food.

Later, He Mutilated His Hand and Suffered From Weakness and Starvation.

Valdez, Alaska, April 2—The steamship Dora arrived from Unalaska yesterday, bringing Charles Burns, the last of the boat crew that left camp of the castaways of the steamship Farallon at Illiamana Bay, after the Farallon had gone on the rocks, January 5. Burns refused to accompany the remainder of the crew when they left Kadguyak Bay to cross Shelikof Strait to Kodiak Island, saying that he would try to reach Cold Bay on the Aleutian Peninsula, to catch the steamer Dora.

Burns set out alone in a little open dory, with a small quantity of dried salmon for food, and headed southwesterly, skirting the coast. His supply of salmon became exhausted and he rowed his craft a whole day without food, the bleak shore offering no inducement to land. Finally Burns sighted a prospector's cabin, and made a landing. In the cabin was a shotgun and ammunition. Burns shot a number of wild ducks, cooked them and feasted and rested.

In shooting more ducks the gun accidentally was discharged, tearing off a finger and otherwise mutilating his hand. The wound bled profusely and Burns could not stop the bleeding. He pushed off in his boat and rowed twenty miles, the blood continuing to flow. Burns landed and camped. While he slept, exhausted from loss of blood, the tide carried away his boat and the cooked ducks that were in it. Weak and hungry Burns started on foot through the snow for Katmai. He arrived within sight of the town, but could not drag himself farther and went into camp.

The next day he reached Katmai, where his wounds were treated. He finally reached Cold Bay in company with the census enumerator.

MANY ATTEND RIDING FETE

Crowd Sees Clever Feats in the Tanbark Ring.

Crowd Applauds Big Show of Brooklyn Riding and Driving Club at Final Ride.

The largest crowd in the history of the Brooklyn Riding and Driving Club, save on the big horse show nights, assembled yesterday evening around the familiar tanbark ring to witness the final ride for the season of the Friday evening class, with Colonel John N. Partridge in the saddle, and to see some capital and brilliantly contested equestrian sports.

Colonel Partridge opened the programme, leading thirty-two of his faithful followers in a fine exhibition drill—Edward T. Horwill, Dr. H. C. Allen, Winthrop Murray Tuttle, Edgar F. Luckenbach, Frederick V. Clark, Arthur L. J. Smith, William Beverley Winslow, Edwin A. Ames, Thomas Hovenden, F. W. Lafrentz, Ludwig Nissen, Frederick De Mund Mackey, Dr. Victor Robertson, Henry Bowers, John J. Kuhn, Thomas Hovenden, Samuel D. French, Arlando Marine, George A. Fleury, Robert A. Shaw, W. W. Walsh, jr.; George Hadden and Herbert L. Smith among them.

An exhibition by the trick horse St. Gordon, shown by his owner, S. M. Van Allen, followed. Then the games came on, with a ball race first of all. This was a complicated contest. Frederick V. Clark proving victorious in it. The contestant had to ride across the ring over to a box, don the contents, dismount after riding some more, pick up and open an umbrella and ride again.

Ludwig Nissen was judge of all of these and his decisions were never once impeached. There was to have been a Roman race between Edgar F. Luckenbach and W. W. Walsh, jr., but this was given up. In its place was put a Cossack race, in which Dr. H. C. Allen won. John S. Simmons carried off the manikin race brilliantly, and the wrestling or horseback was won by the red team captained by William Murray Tuttle, comprising in addition Frederick V. Clark, Arlando Marine, J. A. E. Tenney and W. W. Walsh, jr.

Beverley Winslow carried off the honors in the "over, under or through" contest, and there was a most brilliant game of push ball that resulted in a tie. Each team took a goal, and the red was about to make another, the ball just going into the blue's goal, when time was called. Two men were thrown, one came out with a sprained ankle and one horse was slightly hurt.

The push ball team as lined up were:
Blue team—E. F. Luckenbach, captain; Dr. H. C. Allen, W. M. Tuttle, Victor Robertson, J. A. E. Turney.
Red team—C. F. Cartledge, captain; S. D. French, E. T. Horwill, W. W. Walsh, jr.; W. B. Winslow.

LITTLE NECK HILLS SALE.

Tract of 175 Acres Acquired by Dwight-Murray Realty Company. Plans for Development.

One of the largest realty deals of this week has been the purchase of 175 acres in Little Neck, L. I., by the Dwight-Murray Realty Company, for a consideration reported to be between $500,000 and $600,000. The property acquired comprises 166 acres of the Van Nostrand estate and 9 acres of the Weeks estate. In January of this year the company also acquired 18 acres from the Bloodgood Cutter estate, making the total holdings 193 acres.

The price paid has not been made public, but recent sales in that section at $2,500 an acre and the fact that property in the same region not as well located is being firmly held at $3,000 an acre, makes it probable that the 193-acre tract represents an investment of approximately

Brooklyn Society

One of the largest audiences the Academy's Music Hall has ever brought together assembled last night, at the second and final concert for the year, of the Woodman Choral Club. There was much fashionable gowning in the audience and an array of distinguished Brooklynites. That so many should give up last evening to listen to purely feminine chorus work may best be explained in the fact that the Woodman Choral Club stands as one of the three big women's singing orders of Brooklyn in social personnel, and takes its place alongside of the Brooklyn Amateur Musical and the Chaminade.

Thus, in the chorus of last night, which was all in white, and presented a most attractive appearance (it numbers eighty-three in all), there were, among others, Miss Janet Burns, Miss Maud Ethel Jones, Miss Carol Thomae, Miss Ruth Benedict, Miss May Belle Williams, Mrs. Francis Wilson, Miss Beatrice Frazier, Miss Helen Burns, Miss Elsie Blake, Miss Daisy Hyatt, Mrs. Mortimer S. Reynolds, Mrs. Clark Burnham, Miss Ethel Mackay, Miss Amy Dunlap, Miss Constance Trowbridge, Miss Janet Pearson, Miss Elida Pearson, Miss Juliet Hollenback, Miss Isabel Broon, Miss Insa Hinrichs, Miss Ella Louise Adams.

Miss Florence Hinkle was the soloist, and R. Huntington Woodman led. A selected orchestra of eight pieces accompanied. The club was in fine vocal form, and gave three numbers, in addition to some others, that aroused keen enthusiasm. One of these was Offenbach's barcarole, "Lovely Night," that came in the second half of the programme. The audience liked this best of all, and applauded most enthusiastically. Then, De Fontenailles' cantata, "The Legend of Miana," a very striking number, and this time with no accompaniment, a song, composed by George A. Burdette of Boston, and dedicated to them; 'A May Madrigal" this was called, and the club gave it its first public presentation.

This made an admirable chorus programme. Miss Hinkle had some very effective songs as well. She sang—her gown was of beaded bronze and very becoming—the "Songs My Mother Taught Me," Rumnel's "Ecstasy," and, as one of her other numbers, one of Mr. Woodman's spring songs, "A Birthday." This pleased the audience more than almost anything else during the evening.

There was a big bridge party in the Chateau du Parc yesterday afternoon that proved one of the especially charming bridges of the year. Though close to a hundred girls and young matrons attended it, this was not one of the philanthropic festivities so often connected with bridge nowadays, but a purely private function, an "engagement party," in fact, of a very well-known uptown girl. Miss Edith Marion White of 1254 Dean street was the fiancee thus geted. Her mother, Mrs. Joseph L. White, gave the party in her honor.

Progressive bridge was played, and the top score was made by Mrs. W. W. Harding, jr. There were sixteen prize winners in all, the others being Miss Carrie Bacon, Mrs. George Davis, Miss John Ruston, Miss Aline Newton, Miss Marjorie Turnbull, Mrs. George T. Moore, jr., Mrs. W. W. Brush, Mrs. Arthur Meuter, Miss Mabel Story, Miss Nina Kissam, Miss Addie Herring, Miss Bessie Croquet, Miss Lila Blandy of Manhattan, Mrs. Litchfield, Miss Grace Burn.

Miss White's prizes were exceedingly pretty. All were different, and the winners had a wide choice. Among these prizes were a silver framed picture, a French mirror, a lace parasol, a silver and glass perfume bottle, a cut glass powder jar, a Sevres vase, a picture ("The Lady With the Fan"), a pair of brass candlesticks, with candles and shades, a brass vase to hold American Beauties, a hand painted pin tray, a gilt basket for ferns, a cut glass mayonaise dish and plate.

Among the other girls and young matrons who played were: Miss Sadie Seaman, Miss Grace Ingersoll, Mrs. Syruc Trecartin, Miss Eleanor Fink and Mrs. William Correa of Manhattan, Miss Golda Correa of Hoboken, Miss Edna Sanford of Jersey City, Miss Edna Burr, Mrs. Edwin Parke Benson, Mrs. Floyd E. Woolsey, Miss Mortina Balch, Miss Enid Lima, Miss Louise Clement, Mrs. Bert R. Clement, Miss Maie Spadone, Miss Clara Belden, Miss Rita Belden, Miss Henrietta Borgmeyer, Miss Anita Latson, Miss Nellie Kuhlke.

Miss Martha Comer, Miss Elizabeth Somerville, Miss Loretta Swan, Mrs. Russell Parker, jr., Mrs. Lawrence Ackerman, Miss Arline Terry, Mrs. Arthur Waterman, Miss Vivian l'Heureux, Mrs. Clinton Howell, Mrs. Ray Mercer, Miss Anita Rorer, Miss Ethel Hawes, Miss Helen Wilson, Mrs. Kennahan, Miss Mabel Croquet, Mrs. Walter McMillan, Miss Mina Clement, Miss Virginia Rockwell, Miss Melinna Eldredge, Mrs. Percy Morrell, Mrs. Doyle, Miss Florentine Coombs, Miss Leonore German, Miss Mattie Burden, Mrs. Harry Pushal Williams, Mrs. William Wallace, Miss Ethel Swain, Miss Aline Rogers.

FATHER IS PENITENT NOW.

Son Broke His Head When Old Man Went for Him With a Knife. Drink.

Joseph Boligan, a middle-aged man, walked into the Gates avenue court today with his head bandaged, and asked that he be permitted to give bail for his 22-year-old son, Arthur, who was in jail, charged with felonious assault. Boligan, the father, has been in the Bushwick Hospital, where he was sent Monday night, after a fight in his home, at 159 Reid avenue, when it was believed he had a fractured skull, the result, it was said, of a blow delivered by his son.

Young Boligan, when arraigned before Magistrate Harris in the Gates avenue court, the following day, admitted he had committed the assault, but in self defense. He was sent to jail in default of $1,000 bail. Mrs. Boligan later said her husband had come home under the influence of liquor the night of the assault, and had proceeded to break up the furniture and bric-a-brac. When the son remonstrated with his father, the latter drew a knife and started for the son, who caught up a vase and struck the father over the head.

SHOCK OF BANK'S CLOSING IS KILLING ITS MANAGER

Frederick Marble of Stuyvesant Branch Unconscious and Slowly Dying.

WAS STRICKEN IN HIS OFFICE.

Friends Wanted Him to Leave the Union Bank and Become President of a New One.

Frederick Marble, manager of the Stuyvesant branch of the Union Bank at 1572 Fulton street, that closed its doors on Tuesday, is dying at his home, 647 Greene avenue, as a result of the shock received Tuesday at the news of the bank's closing. He didn't know anything about the trouble until he reached the bank and saw the notice posted on the door.

Manager Marble was seen to stagger somewhat as he saw the notice about the bank in which he had always taken such a devoted interest, but he braced up and went inside, trying to appear unconcerned over the bad tidings. He went over the affairs of the bank and managed to put up a brave front until noon, when he suddenly placed his hand to his head and collapsed.

Employes of the bank rushed to Mr. Marble's assistance and he was taken into a private room, where Dr. C. O. Tupper, of 1182 Dean street, was called in to attend him. Dr. Tupper saw at once that the manager's condition was critical, and ordered him removed to his home.

The stricken bank official was hurriedly taken home and Dr. Frank E. Wilson of 1242 Bushwick avenue was also called into consultation. Dr. Wilson said that the banker was suffering from cerebral hemorrhage. Later pneumonia developed and Mr. Marble's condition became more critical.

Wednesday and Thursday Mr. Marble grew steadily worse, and this afternoon little hope is held out for his recovery by the physicians. Dr. Wilson said that his condition was due to the great shock that he had received upon hearing tidings of the bank's closing, coming, as it did, so unexpectedly.

On the very day that Marble was stricken in the bank his friends were devising means to organize a new bank, of which he was to have been made president. Friends who knew and trusted the manager of the Union Bank wanted to see him do well, because there is no more popular man in that section than Marble. The news that he had been stricken in his bank and was in a serious condition, cast a damper upon the meeting of his friends, and they adjourned without taking any action.

Ever since Wednesday Mr. Marble has been unconscious at his home, and to-day there was no improvement for the better. At noon to-day the end was said to be only a matter of a short time. Mr. Marble has a wife and two children. Ever since the news of his illness became known the house has been besieged by his friends.

WANTS $10,000 FOR A DOG BITE

Platt C. Place Sues Neighbor Meyer of Huntington, Who Demands Particulars.

Claiming damages to the extent of $10,000 for a dog bite, Platt C. Place of Huntington, L. I., is suing Edwin L. Meyer, also a well-known resident of that village, and the defendant's attorney this morning asked Justice Marean in the Special Term of the Supreme Court for a bill of particulars. It is claimed that the defendant had two dogs and the defendant wants to be informed of the color, size and nature of the dogs. The plaintiff's attorney was in another court and his representative wanted an adjournment.

"Let me take the papers and I'll see how much of a bill of particulars the defendant is entitled to," said Justice Marean.

The plaintiff's complaint elaborates upon the nature and alleged vicousness of the two dogs that attacked him on Friday last on Main street, Huntington, and he insists that they were owned and harbored by the defendant. One of the dogs, he says, laid hold of his leg and knocked him down while the other dog grabbed him by the arm and rolled him over and over in the mud, biting him in the leg and other places. The plaintiff is said to be an octogenarian.

TIPPLER DUPES POLICE BY FAKE RIOT CALLS

Lieutenant Tries in Vain to Eat While Telephone Bell Rings.

ALL SLEUTHS ARE BAFFLED.

Merry Drunken Man in 'Phone Booth Is Cause of Much Trouble.

Lieutenant Ayres sat behind the desk at the Fourth avenue police station at 6 o'clock last night and mused as to whether he would down his sandwich and milk and his triangular slab of pineapple pie right off or wait until he should go off duty two hours later. He decided he was hungry enough to begin at once and was about to do so when the telephone bell rang sharply. A voice from police headquarters told him there was a riot in progress at Third avenue and Fifty-fourth street. Lieutenant Ayres sent forth a couple of brave men.

Lieut. Ayres hates to be interrupted during a meal to have to write stuff down in the blotter, because sometimes he gets his food inky, and he sat back to wait for the return of the brave ones before he should eat. They returned with a "nothing doing on any riot" report and Lieutenant Ayres picked up his sandwich. The telephone bell rang sharply again.

This time the same voice told him there was trouble in another part of the precinct. Lieutenant Ayres sent two more brave men out and sat back once more to wait for their return. They came in with the same report and Lieutenant Ayres started on his sandwich a third time. The telephone bell rang insistently a third time. Again two brave men returned without having located a riot.

Lieutenant Ayres shoved his lunch under lock and key and did some telephoning himself. He learned that a man in a drugstore at Thirteenth street and Sixth avenue had been responsible for the messages from headquarters. Lieutenant Ayres called up Lieutenant Hansfield at the Fifth avenue station and Lieutenant Hansfield sent out Policeman Carlson, Gerstenfeld and Platt. These three found a muscular six-footer drunk in a telephone booth at the drug store. He was calling police headquarters again with a message that there was a riot in Bay Ridge. The man was nabbed.

At the station house he said he was Hans Ohlsen, 41 years old, of 5302 Fourth avenue. He said he was foreman painter employed by the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company. He was charged with intoxication and spent the night in the lockup. This morning Policeman Platt arraigned Ohlsen in the Fifth avenue police court. Ohlsen said he was "crazy drunk" and didn't realize the seriousness of calling up police headquarters. Magistrate Geismar handed out a reprimmand, and suspended sentence on Ohlsen's promise to keep sober.

About 8 o'clock last night Lieutenant Ayres finished his sandwich and milk and his triangular slab of pineapple pie.

HAS HUSBAND ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF FORGERY

Mrs. Rothenbucher Accuses Him of Signing Her Name to Insurance Policy.

SAYS HE'S IMPOVERISHED HER.

He's Her Second Husband—They Were Married Over a Year Ago. Live in Astoria.

George Rothenbucher, 52 years old, who says he is a capitalist, engineer and promoter, with an office in Nassau street, Manhattan, was held in $1,000 bonds for examination by Magistrate Smith in the Long Island City police court this morning, on a charge of forgery. Mrs. Augusta Rothenbucher, wife of the prisoner, was the complainant in the case.

According to her story in court Mrs. Rothenbucher conducts a fashionable dressmaking establishment in Central Park West, Manhattan, and has been accustomed to make yearly trips to Paris to view the new styles. Up to fifteen months ago she was a widow, with two children and a comfortable bank account, together with considerable property.

In the course of her business she met Rothenbucher, who is of fine appearance. She understood that he was wealthy and they were married and went to live in a house owned by Mrs. Rothenbucher at 87 Woolsey street, Astoria.

Inroads were speedily made on her savings by her new husband, according to the story she told the court. She said that the understood the money was being spent in her husband's different ventures, and she was finally compelled to mortgage her home. This was followed, last June, by a demand from him that she take out a policy of $5,000 on he rlife in his favor. This she refused to do, when, she declares, her husband brought an agent to the house to draw up the papers, but she remained firm in her refusal.

Nothing further was heard in the matter until three weeks ago, when she alleges she received notification that a judgment had been entered against her home for $130.50 with interest. Then she says she began an investigation which disclosed that her husband had obtained a policy of $5,000 on her life and had given in payment a payable note at the Carnegie Trust Company for the amount of the first premium, to which her signature had been forged. The note was issued in June and fell due in October of last year.

She declared everything in connection with the transaction a forgery, and made application for the warrant for her husband's arrest. He was taken from his home, 87 Woolsey street, Astoria, this morning by Court Officer Burke, and when arraigned, beyond denying the charge, refused to have anything to say until he could consult his counsel. He also said he expected to find a bondsman before the day was over.

WOMEN KNEW CHARLES WEST.

He Is Accused of Robbing Homes After Being Hired as a "Handy Man."

A young man who says he is Charles West, hails from Pittston, Pa., and has been living for some time in a Mills hotel, Manhattan, was held for the Court of Special Sessions by Magistrate Harris in the Gates avenue court to-day, on a charge of larceny. He was arrested last night at Atlantic and New York avenues by Detective Lieutenants Downs and Ruddy of local headquarters, and is believed to be the youth who has been robbing Bedford section homes for sometime.

West's method has been to hire out as a handy man in some well-furnished home, and then gather up what he could in the way of valuables, and depart. He was employed by Mrs. Emilie Latshaw, 7 Macon stret, and helped himself to $15.

He thought himself alone in the house, but was surprised by Dr. Barlow, and hastened away.

When taken to court to-day Mrs. Julia Wessells of 12 Hart street and two other women were there to get a look at West. He was placed in line with fifteen other men, and each woman in turn picked him out as a thief who had operated in their homes. Additional complaints will be made against West.

NOT A GOOD CLIMBER.

Boy Falls From Tree and Almost Loses Eye.

Daniel McAvoy, 9 years old, of 125 North Fourth street, was trying to climb a tree near his home last evening, when he slipped and fell. In falling a protruding nail caught him on the side of the face, causing a severe laceration. For a time it was thought his sight had been destroyed, but Dr. Cohen, the house physician of the Eastern District Hospital, could find no injury to the eye, but had to put three stitches in the wound. The injured boy was then taken home.

NEW BILLS BY LEE AIMED AT CORRUPTION

One Abolishes the Statute of Limitations in All Cases of Conspiracy.

MANUFACTURING CO. TAXES.

Borough Measure Reported Favorably—Dep't of Correction Force Pension Fund Proposed.

(Special to The Eagle.)

Albany, April 8—Assemblyman Warren I. Lee of Brooklyn introduced two bills to-day, aimed at preventing legislative and official corruption.

The first one proposes to amend section 580 of the Penal law, which makes conspiracy a misdemeanor, by making the crime a felony if the object of the conspiracy is a felony; also if the means contemplated for the accomplishment of the conspiracy would amount to, or involve, directly or indirectly, the commission of or an attempt to commit, a felony; or if the conspiracy be to cheat the government of the state or of any of its political subdivisions; or if it be to obtain money or property from such governments; or if it involve, directly or indirectly, any breach of duty on the part of any public officer.

The second bill proposes to amend the code of criminal procedure by abolishing the statute of limitations in all cases of conspiracy to cheat the government of the state or any of its political subdivisions; of conspiracy to obtain money or property from such governments, and of crimes which involve, directly or indirectly, any breach of duty on the part of any public officer.

Senator Reuben L. Giedhill of Brooklyn introduced a bill to-day to amend the charter of New York City by establishing a uniformed force in the department of correction, and creating a pension fund for the force.

* * *

The borough bill, providing for the taxation of manufacturing corporations was reported to-day by the Senate Committee on Taxation and Retrenchment. It provides that every manufacturing corporation organized under the laws of the state shall pay an annual tax upon each dollar of the par value of its issued capital stock, to be computed at the rate of one-eighth of a mill for each 1 per cent. of dividends paid or declared during the year ending June 1. If there is more than one kind of issued capital stock the rate is to be computed for each kind separately. If the corporation owns real estate and machinery located outside the state, the amount of issued capital stock taxable is to be such a proportion of the total issued capital stock as the value of its real estate and machinery within the state bears to the total value of its real estate and machinery.

The taxation and retrenchment committee also reported the Meade bill, prohibiting the sale of stock transfer stamps without the written consent of the state controller, by any corporation, except those organized under the banking laws of this state or the United States, or an authorized agent of the controller, except that a broker making a sale may affix a stamp. It also prohibits the sale of any stamps for less than its face value without the controller's consent. Violation is made a misdemeanor.

A bill designed to abolish theater ticket speculation was introduced to-day by Assemblyman Foley of Manhattan. Violation is made a misdemeanor, punishable by not more than $500 fine or imprisonment not exceeding one year, or both.

ADVERTISING PHOTOGRAPHY

Justin McCarthy, Jr., Gives Picture Makers Points.

Tells Convention of Artists How Their Business Can Be Improved.

Justin McCarthy, jr., advertising manager of Abraham & Straus, made an address at the annual convention of the New York State Photographers Association, Metropolitan Life Building, yesterday afternoon. His remarks were in part as follows:

"For some years I have been advertising men, women and things. I have advertised teachers, actresses, presidents, governors, assemblymen, congressmen and the like. I have advertised everything to wear, clothing, dresses, hats, shoes, even hair; everything to dress the house, too—floor coverings, pictures, draperies and the like; everything to dress the garden; medicines to dress up the system; theaters, circuses, menageries—it seemed to me everything that occurs or is in the world, but for some mysterious reason there is on topic that neither I nor anyone else seems to have advertised to any extent, and that is the most fascinating and one of the most important of all professions—photography.

"When your president, Mr. Bliss, asked me to talk on advertising it seemed to me the simplest of topics. All that was necessary was to cull from magazines and papers the best of the advertising, boil it down and dish it up to you as my own advice.

"What was my amazement to find that so little has this great profession appreciated the magic of advertising that the few efforts in that direction are so far behind the development of the subject as to seem almost harmful rather than helpful.

"Why, gentlemen, everything advertises. The male bird trills his finest songs in his advertisement of his own charms and wins his mate thereby. The hen cackles to advertise the egg. It seems to me that even nature advertises when and how to do things. Yet photography that reproduces all has nothing to say of itself commercially.

"It is the more puzzling to me because it possesses every essential to good advertising. It appeals through flattery and sentiment to every coaxable attribute of humanity. A photographer who can get best results, who has some special feature in his work, should have talking points to bring all the world to his studio.

"Why our newspapers have not teemed with the intensely interesting advertisements of the experts, I cannot see. Why has not some one advertised of pictures as we do of hats that they can be made becoming?

"The old-fashioned coupon system is very crude. Why could they not be a little more carefully written, giving some idea of the work to be done, and setting regular bargain days—as the stores do—just to bring new trade.

"Butler of Brooklyn some time ago ran a coupon in the Eagle—merely mentioning the date the offer of reduced price would close. No mention of the superior work, no mention of his beautiful studio or any 'reason why' talk.

"A photographer of children in Brooklyn carried a few advertisements of similar character, but did not dilate sufficiently upon his specialty—a very important point in a home town like Brooklyn. Psychology could have been used to advantage there.

"Why do you not tell the public what you do and how you do it? If a store known all over the world has to keep on telling the people what it can do for them, do you think a photographer can sit down and wait for the people to advantage?

"Are you doubtful of your ability to write an advertisement? Sit down nights and begin to write how good you are, just as if you were talking to a customer; write as flatteringly about yourself as possible. Then boil down what you have said to about twenty-five words and print it in the best paper you know. Of course, if you simply cannot write, go to the newspapers, and some one will listen to your explanation and write it up for you.

"In addition to that, get the nearest advetising man to write an advertisement for you. Keep on writing yourself, but give him your stuff to touch up. Lay aside 2 per cent to 2½ per cent. of your gross business expenditure to advertising. Do not expect to have to call out the police the first day to keep away the crowds. Be patient and let your talks do their work."

WOMAN DIES IN CHAIR.

Sat Down to Rest After Sending Children to Work—Found by Neighbor.

Mrs. Elizabeth Elfert, 65 years old, was found this morning apparently unconscious in a rocking chair in her apartments, at 414 South Fifth street. She had given her children their breakfast and started them for work, when, feeling fatigued, she sat down in the chair. She had been in poor health for sometime and was being attended by a physician.

When Mrs. Mary Herbert, a neighbor, dropped in later, she found Mrs. Elfert in the chair, and receiving no response called for help. Dr. Hughes responded from the Williamsburg Hospital and pronounced the woman dead. He expressed the opinion that death was due to apoplexy.

GOT NEEDLE IN FINGER.

While her mother was absent this morning Esther Hersehkowitz, 6 years old, of 168 Berry street, played with the family sewing machine and punctured the index finger of her right hand with the needle, the point of which broke off. The cries of the child brought her mother, who tried to remove the point, which, however, was embedded in the bone. The child was then taken to the Eastern District Hospital, where the piece of steel was finally extracted by Dr. Cohen.

NOTHING AGAINST DR. ADAMS,

But Patchogue Methodists Want the Rev. Mr. Henderson to Remain Pastor There.

(Special to The Eagle.)

Patchogue, L. I., April 8—At a meeting of the official board of the M. E. Church last night, after the regular prayer meeting, the committee on pulpit supply, John M. Price and Daniel Chichester, reported having, with District Superintendent W. A. Layton, visited the Rev. Dr. John E. Adams, who was appointed pastor.

They told him that they had nothing against him, but that they believed the church would be greatly upset if it did not get the Rev. Mr. Henderson. Dr. Adams had nothing to say except that he was in the hands of the cabinet.

The prayer meeting last night was a solemn affair. All the people want Mr. Henderson returned to them, and they think they should get him in order to preserve the church from disaffection. They declare they have nothing against Dr. Adams, but it is the wish of not only the church people, but of the residents, that Mr. Henderson remain as pastor. He has a funeral to-day and three to-morrow and Sunday, and feels it his duty to remain on the ground.

FELL DOWN L STAIRS.

Mrs. Rosanna Wohlstadt, 54 years old, of 223 East Thirty-ninth street, Manhattan, while descending the elevated railroad stairs of the station at Broadway and Marcy avenue last evening, lost her balance and fell. She received lacerations of the forehead and left eye, besides suffering from shock. She was attended by Dr. Laub of the Williamsburg Hospital.

TWO STATEHOOD BILLS NOT LIKELY TO PASS

Republicans Fear New Mexico and Arizona Would Elect 4 Democratic Senators.

TAFT WANTS PLEDGE KEPT.

Status of the Measure Will Be Fixed After Railroad Legislation Is Out of Way.

608 Fourteenth Street.

Washington, May 27—There seems little chance that New Mexico and Arizona will be admitted to the union of states at this session in spite of their long wait outside the portals and the numerous pledges in Republican platforms that they shall be taken in. President Taft is laboring hard in behalf of the territories, but he is opposed by what seems to be a hostile combination, too strong to be overcome.

The statehood bill will come up in the Senate after the railroad bill is out of the way. Its status will be fixed in some way next week. Senator Bailey is making trouble. He declares that the Democrats will not consent to a final vote on the railroad bill until an agreement is reached that something shall be done about statehood. He insists that the statehood bill shall at least have the privilege of being voted down. He proposes that the Republicans shall go on record.

At a recent White House conference of the senatorial leaders the President bore down very heavily in favor of action on statehood. Aldrich and Root were there and they both indicated the impossibility of enacting the bill. Senator Borah created something of a sensation by declaring that the Republican leaders were dishonest in their attitude toward this bill and that he for one would join with the Democrats in keeping Congress in session until the fall or until a vote was had on the bill. In fact, Borah said that he had an arrangement of this kind with Senator Bailey on behalf of the Democrats.

Borah's plain talk created a stir. He said the Republican platforms for the past twelve years had promised statehood and now that the House had passed such a bill the Republican leaders in the Senate deliberately were planning to kill it. Senator Aldrich attempted to placate Borah. He intimated that if Borah would recede the Senate would pass the bill authorizing a $30,000,000 bond issue for irrigation projects in which Borah is interested. The latter was not swayed from his position by this temptation.

The plain truth is that the Republicans are afraid of the statehood bill for political reasons. It is feared that the territories would send to Congress four Democratic senators and this naturally is not to the liking of the Republicans. They have at present a majority of 26, but they see chances for political accidents this fall in New York, Ohio, Indiana, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Montana and Missouri, and possibly elsewhere. The election of Democratic senators from those states, together with four new ones from New Mexico and Arizona, would reduce the present Republican majority to 8. The total Republican senators would be decreased to 52 and the Democrats increased to 44. There are now 59 Republicans and 33 Democrats in the Senate.

Furthermore, such a change would strengthen the hands of the insurgents and render the control of the Senate by the regulars more uncertain than ever. So there is not much enthusiasm in Republican ranks for the admission of the two territroies. President Taft, however, is insisting that the platform pledges shall be redeemed and in every list of Taft legislation that he puts out he includes the statehood bill.

Meantime, Senator Beveridge of Indiana, who is chairman of the committee on territories and therefore sponsor in the Senate for the statehood bill, is in a public way, doing seeming good work for the statehood bill, but it is confessed all around that in private he is talking in a way that shows he would shed no tears if the measure should die. Beveridge says that he is anxious to get the bill through, but that the leaders of the Senate are against it.

ANNUAL Y. W. C. A. EXHIBIT.

Awards Made to Honor Students in Typewriting and Stenography Classes.

A typewriting exhibition and speed contest was held in connection with the annual exhibition of the work done at the Young Women's Christian Association, last night. The contest was conducted by Mrs. M. B. Brown. The early part of the evening was taken up with preliminary practice, and at 8 o'clock students of the first grade who were enrolled on September, 1909, second grade, enrolled the last three months of that year, and third grade, who began their studies in January and February, 1910, entered the contest copying from new matter to decide honor students in each grade. The honor student in the first grade is Ingrid J. Nelson, with Blenda A. Ekberg, honorable mention; second grade, Ruth J. Moon, honor, and L. Estelle Poole, honorable mention; and third grade, Charlotte Joubin, honor, and Lillian G. Conlon, honorable mention. An award of the department gold star was also given by Miss Dunbar for best class-work in typewriting to Ingrid J. Nelson; for best speed work in stenography to Rose Jaffrey and Gertrude Grimshaw; for best graduate work in stenography and typewriting, L. Estelle Poole. This same programme will be repeated for evening students to-night.

The other classes have splendid work on exhibit, and the educational committee feels that the past year has been the most sucessful. The millinery class has reason to be proud of its work, for a large number of pupils have been able to earn money while learning the trade. Many have certificates to teach in the public schools, and two are teaching in the high schools. Some follow the trade of making wire frames, and others just make raffia hats; thus there are several courses taught in one. The embroidery department has some unusually artistic designs, beginning from the simpler and working up to center pieces and other articles, both useful and decorative. The cookery department has a splendid assortment of jellies and other dainties, as well as the more substantial foods. The sewing department, with simple designs, shows the thoroughness of the instruction given. The dressmaking department has a tasteful display of gowns both for in and out door wear, and the attendant nurses' course shows a splendid equipment.

The members of the Bay View Yacht Club will hold their annual sociable at their clubhouse, Holland Station, Rockaway Beach, on Sunday next, afternoon and evening. It is expected that there will be a large attendance, as the officers and members have invited all their friends.

A euchre was held last evening in Beck's Casino, for the benefit of the Church of the Blessed Sacrament, at Euclid avenue and Fulton street. The attendance was large, and the church fund was increased by a very substantial sum.

NAVAL BAND GIVES CONCERT.

A musical entertainment was given last evening at the Central Baptist Church, Adelphi street and Myrtle avenues. The band of the Second Battalion Naval Militia of New York, of which Alfred D. Fohs, the organist of Central Church, is bandmaster, and Herbert R. Wiley, also a member of the congregation, is cornet soloist, rendered ten numbers during the evening.

It was announced that the Rev. J. A. Hanson, the pastor of the church, would deliver a course of lectures on "Great Crimes," beginning May 29. The subtitle on that evening will be "Weakness." The addresses will be continued weekly next month.

TRIANGLE CIRCLE CONCERT.

Entertainers Score Hit and Individual Numbers Are Well Applauded.

A concert was given last evening at the Ascension Hall on Java street, under the auspices of the Triangle Circle class No. 26 of the Union Baptist Bible School of Noble street, of which the Rev. W. Ewart Mounteney is the pastor.

The Misses Margaret Andrew and Bessie Cunningham scored quite a hit in a duologue entitled "The Same Man." Another hit of the evening was in the form of a rainbow hoop drill, in which seventeen young girls took part. A. Armand Heyman accompanied by Miss Molly Goldstein were well received and drew an enthusiastic applause by singing "In the Garden of My Heart." Others who helped to entertain during the evening were Hazel Quick, Minnie Bockmann, Ethel Lang, Roberta Tibbitts, Alfrida Peterson, Grace Strauch, Minnie Shurrer.

The proceeds are for the benefit of the church. Miss Christina Halliday, pianist. The entertainment was under the personal direction of C. J. Schulter.

CELEBRATE CRYSTAL JUBILEE

Columbus Council, K. of C., Hold Big Banquet.

Speeches Are Made by Several Prominent Men and Work of Organization Reviewed.

The crystal jubilee of Columbus Council No. 126, Knights of Columbus, was celebrated with a banquet and speech-making at the Montauk Club last night. About fifty members of the council were assembled, when John J. Foote, G. K., who presided, responded to the toast, "Fifteen Years," and gave a brief retrospective account of the council's history in that time. He spoke highly of William H. Bennett, G. K., in 1895, one of the men whose pioneer work did so much to give the council a good start.

Controller William A. Prendergast talked on the subject of "Men." He extolled men who are good and denounced men who are bad, and expressed his belief in the kind of manhood for which Columbus Council stands.

William P. Oliver delivered an eloquent oration, interspersed with political quotations on "Women." He eulogized the home woman and the mother, the kind of woman, who, as Marion Harland put it, "If given a broom and a baby could make a home in a dry-goods box turned upside down." He was most heartily applauded when he said a word against women's suffrage: "In my mind, woman's place is not far removed from the cradle, but very far removed from the ballot box."

Peter P. McLoughlin kept the diners laughing heartily while he gave them a humorous talk, the text of which was "Children."

Maurice Breen spoke briefly on the movement tending toward a greater unification of the various councils of the order.

CHILD SHOOTS HIMSELF; FAMILY BAFFLE POLICE

Little Peter Ganetsczy Finds Revolver and Ends Life by Accident.

MOTHER SEEKS TO HIDE FACTS

Sleuths Have Hard Work in Finding Out About Fatal Occurrence.

To hide the fact that a revolver was kept in the house and that with it little Peter Ganetsczy, 4 years old, shot himself, Mrs. Lena Shimke of 280 Sackman street and her four young daughters, after secreting the weapon, maintained for more than five hours yesterday afternoon that there was no revolver ever kept in the house, and that they did not know how the lad was killed. For five hours Captain Isaac Frank of the Brownsville precinct, Detectives Burton and Hoerter and Inspector McCafferty worked without a minute's let-up to find out how little Peter received the gunshot wound that caused his death. And the more they questioned Mrs. Shimke, the more that woman insisted on making a murder mystery out of the case by declaring that her original story was gospel truth.

The police were working absolutely in the dark until Coroner's Physician Wuest came over to the police station and performed an autopsy, which showed that the pistol which killed little Peter was held not more than four inches from his right eye. The autopsy revealed that death was instantaneous.

Prior to that time the police had nothing to work on except the many statements made by Mrs. Shimke and her daughters. These daughters had to be rounded up at the various places where they went in hiding.

The case came to the attention of the police shortly before 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when Policeman Jenkins found Mrs. Shimke carrying Peter Ganetsczy to the corner drug store. Dr. Madden came from St. Mary's Hospital, and said the boy had been shot and instantly killed.

Jenkins investigated hurriedly and made a precursory examination of the two story frame house which the Shimkes occupy at 280 Sackman street. He could not find a revolver anywhere. When Captain Frank and Detective Burton and the reporters came over from the station house and asked Mrs. Shimke hundreds of questions, she told all the same story. She made it appear that the little fellow had stood by an open window and that he was shot down in cold blood.

They asked the woman about a revolver. She denied that there ever was any weapon in the house.

Katie, the 14-year-old girl, was at the home of the dead boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ganetsczy, who live at 400 Glenmore avenue, half a mile away. Mrs. Ganetsczy is Mrs. Shimke's sister. Mary Shimke, 12 years old, was at school. Annie, aged 4, was at the kindergarten. Sophie, the 3-year-old child, was at home. Even this little toddler lisped into the ears of Captain Frank that there was no "shooter" in the house. Katie, the eldest, also made a denial, although questioned for nearly an hour.

After three hours the police tried a new tack. They left the place and made it appear they had lost interest in the case. But they worked on the case elsewhere. Captain Frank, Inspector McCafferty, Burton and Hoerter, suddenly descended on the Shimkes. They sat Katie on a chair in a corner and after she had been coaxed and questioned for half an hour, she told the whole business.

Mrs. Shimke and her four children; a woman who lives on Powell street, and two of her children, and Peter Ganetsczy were all eating lunch. Peter got off his chair and explored the bedroom. He found the revolver under the pillow and shot himself through the right eye. While Mrs. Shimke hurried the other children off, she instructed them never to say a word of what happened, and Katie laid the revolver on a shelf in the very bedroom where Peter shot himself. The police found it there. It was a .32-caliber revolver, the property of Antony Shimke.

Peter's father, Joseph Ganetsczy, is a tailor in a Manhattan sweatshop. He had one other child, a daughter of 3. Peter had been left at Shimke's by his mother, who had gone marketing.

CHURCH CONCERT A SUCCESS.

Grace Presbyterian Fete Is Given Under Auspices of Ladies Aid Society.

The concert by the choir of the Grace Presbyterian Church, given under the direction of the Ladies Aid Society of the church last night, was a success in every respect. While all the numbers on the programme did exceedingly well, the efforts of Mr. Leonard, baritone soloist, were especially pleasing, and reflected great credit upon the able coaching of Eugene C. Morris, director of the choir.

The programme was rendered by the following: Mrs. Pendreigh, Mr. Leonard, Mrs. Van Wart, Miss Godbold and Mr. Osborne.

In the chorus were Mrs. Percy Van Wart, Miss Genevieve Lockwood, Miss Sarah Godbold, Miss Mabel MacLaurin, Charles Osborne, Lewis Ziedler, Albert Leonard and Charles Schaible. Eugene C. Morris, director.

COMET STILL HIDING.

Heavy Banks of Clouds Obscured It From View of Institute Gazers.

Through occasional openings in the clouds of the mid-heavens, fleeting and few views of Jupiter and Castor were had by those using the Brooklyn Institute telescope at the Academy of Music last evening, and some stars were dimly seen. The occasion was a special observation arranged because it has been impossible to see the comet on evenings scheduled for observation. But the usual heavy bank of clouds hid it last night, and whenever it would seem that this was breaking some chimney sent up a cloud of steamy smoke that added to the veil. Even Liberty's light was subdued, though the telescope broke it into four as if it were a doubled double star.

Albert J. Brooks and B. G. Way, the Institute astronomers, told interesting things about comets and astronomy in general while waiting on the roof for Halley's to appear, and Mr. Brooks spoke of some of the questions asked him about astronomy. Among them, one woman inquired something about heaven, which he interpreted as applying to the heavens. But she said no, that she meant Heaven, the abode of the blessed, and that she had thought an astronomer must have a very definite idea of it. He could not enlighten her.

The observatory will be open to-night from 8 to 9:30 o'clock.

PHILLIPS, INDICTED, SCORES MUCKRAKERS

Queens Undersheriff Says Stories of Grafting Are Hurting the Borough.

DEPRESS REALTY VALUES.

Phillips Also Fears Result Will Be to Disorganize Democracy and Put Republicans in Power.

Quick action was taken late yesterday afternoon in the case of Under Sheriff John M. Phillips of Queens County, against whom the Queens County Grand Jury, which is investigating alleged grafting in that county, had returned an indictment containing three separate charges. He went from the sheriff's office in the county court house, where the jury had been sitting, was arraigned on the charge and admitted to bail, and within less than a half an hour thereafter his resignation had been accepted as under sheriff by Sheriff Thomas M. Quinn.

The grand jury returned eleven indictments. Some of these were for minor criminal offenses, but besides the one against Phillips it is understood that at least another is against a public official and was obtained after the examination of the cashier's books in the Water Department of Queens. It is expected that the official mentioned in the indictment may be arraigned to-day or Monday.

Phillips Expected His Indictment.

The jury reported after 3 o'clock. Phillips, who was prepared for some findings against himself as the result of rumors that have been going about, was waiting in the sheriff's office with Frank Trudden, his father-in-law as his bondsman. As soon as the grand jury had left the court room, Phillips came in. He was not represented by an attorney. He found that there was one indictment against him, but it contained three counts—the first charging that he had presented a fraudulent claim against the City of New York; the second, charging him with grand larceny in collecting from the city the sum of $422.08 for plumbing work that was done in the Queens County Jail, and the third charged that he did, with force and arms, secure the warrant for the $422.08.

The witnesses named in the indictment, who had been examined by the grand jury, were former Public Works Commissioner Alfred Denton, William E. Everitt, chief clerk in the Bureau of Public Buildings of Queens; B. O. Sullivan, an inspector in the Finance Department of the city; William A. Allen, the plumber who did the work in the county jail; Henry O. Sleth, a clerk in the sheriff's office; Charles Hangan, John Mally and Edward Kron.

Plea of Not Guilty Entered.

Phillips pleaded not guilty to the charge and bail was fixed by Justice Garretson in $2,500. It was furnished by Trudden. From the court room Phillips went to the sheriff's office and was closeted with Sheriff Quinn for half an hour. When Phillips left the sheriff announced that Phillips had tendered his resignation as under sheriff and it had been accepted. The sheriff paid a compliment to the retiring official, saying that he had been very faithful in the discharge of his duties. He said that he had not decided upon a successor, but that there were several applicants.

The sheriff also made public the resignation handed in by Phillips and it is by far the most interesting document that has come from any of the men who have been involved in the graft hunt in the borough. After paying a compliment to the administration of Sheriff Quinn, Phillips goes on to say:

Indicted Official Rebukes Queens Investigators.

"As you are aware, an investigation of the public affairs of the Borough of Queens has been in progress for some time under the supervision of the commissioner of accounts of the City of New York, and in the course of such examination there has appeared in certain newspapers reports of alleged irregularities in the conduct of the business of some borough departments, which widespread publication of alleged official misconduct has resulted in immeasurable injury to the property owners of Queens County, and, to my mind, is responsible for the present real estate depression in our borough, and has served to bring discredit on the Democracy of Queens County to such extent that it is not at all improbable that this county will elect Republican officials at our next election, at which election other counties are likely to run up unprecedented Democratic majorities.

Is Confident of Exoneration.

"In making these assertions I am not doing so because of pique or in anger at my present unenviable position—an indicted public official—for I am confident of exoneration at the hands of twelve conscientious men, when my case comes before the court which tries accused men, not on hearsay reports or publications in newspapers, which are using this investigation for the purpose of increasing their circulation in our borough; but on the evidence presented, and not the result of prejudice. I will then have the opportunity to fully vindicate myself and expect to regain the confidence of the people of Queens County.

"I am certain that a considerable amount of the scandalous stories are now being circulated by renegade Democrats in the hope of bettering their political fortunes, although I am not the kind of a man to retaliate. I will leave that to the rank and file of the Democratic party, which will mete out to these people their just deserts. On my part I shall always support the Democratic party.

"I now respectfully tender you my resignation as under sheriff of Queens County, which action is due to the false and scandalous stories that have been circulated about me, and the consequent prejudice of those who are investigating affairs in this borough."

Phillips an Important Figure in Queens.

The indictment of Phillips in the present investigation is second in importance only to that of Municipal Justice John M. Cragen. He has been a most important figure in the political life of the borough. He has always been known as one of the eminently "practical" political leaders of the borough. His indictment shows how fearlessly the present investigation is being conducted, for it has been understood that if old-time methods would have availed to prevent an indictment Phillips would have been saved his present humiliation.

He is the acknowledged leader of the Democrats of the First Assembly District. He has been long in politics, and, while he has had considerable money, it has been spent in giving food and clothing and loans to those whom he attached to his organization. It was Phillips who lined up twenty Republican district captains in Long Island City for Joseph Cassidy when Cassidy was running for borough president against ex-Sheriff Dahl, and it was this action that gave Cassidy his election. It was Phillips who turned the tide for Sheriff Harvey in Long Island City and Harvey, when elected to office, made Phillips his under sheriff. It was Phillips also who cemented the forces in Long Island City for Dresser and defeated Cassidy in the last election in what Cassidy believed was his stronghold.

The indictment of Phillips, therefore, is a direct blow to the old political regime in Queens County, which was an alliance for victory on the part of both "practical" Republicans and Democrats.

TRADE BOARD STRIFE LEADS TO ARREST

John Jena Asked to Answer Assault Charge Made by Louis Stang.

NEW LOTS IS INTERESTED.

Men Are Prominent in Rival Organizations, and Feud Waxes Bitter.

Behind the appearance of Julius Jena in the New Jersey avenue police court on a charge of assault preferred by Louis Stang of 715 New Lots road, lies the story of as bitter a feud between two civic organizations as Brooklyn has seen in many years. The simple entry in the police court records conceals the fact that the case of Stang vs. Jena is in reality the case of the New Lots Taxpayers Association against the New Lots Board of Trade. The varying opinions held by these two organizations, or their members, concerning certain conditions in the New Lots section of the Twenty-sixth Ward, are primarily responsible for this row. The situation to-day promises some rather startling developments in the near future and if a battle royal ensues before a week is passed, it won't surprise anybody along the south side.

When Mr. Jena answered to the call of his name in the police court yesterday morning, it developed that he had engaged the law firm of Holbert & Rathborne of Manhattan, to look after his interests and that Mr. Stang was equally determined to push the matter to the bitter end by retaining Luke O'Reilly to do his best to legally wipe the floor with Mr. Jena. The latter's attorneys are confident that the floor wiping will be done in Mr. Jena's behalf and the declarations of both sides show how deep seated is the hatred that has stirred the feud into activity.

It seems that there was a fierce scrimmage one night on Mr. Jena's front lawn. Isador Jena, the father of Julius, told an Eagle reporter that he and his son were sitting on the porch of their home, at 590 New Lots road, when several young men who passed by first hurled abusive language at the Jenas and then hurled rocks and other things. The Jena diplomacy withstood the epithets but the rocks resulted in the breaking off of diplomatic relations. Young Mr. Jena stepped out on the front lawn and immediately there was a fight.

Mr. Jena said that while he was busy handling the situation as his best judgment demanded, quite a number of young men ran out from the home of Louis Stang at 715 Hendrix street, which is not a hundred yards away, and piled on him. Mr. Jena jr. handled himself quite well, according to all accounts and he and his father thought that the rout of the enemy had settled the matter. They were mistaken. A day or two later, Mr. Jena was visited by Court Officer Dunn from Magistrate Hylan's temple of justice and shown a warrant charging assault in the third degree, Louis Stang was the complainant.

Right here it might as well be mentioned that Julius Jena is the secretary of the New Lots Board of Trade. This organization has existed for some years and has done lots of heroic work toward improving the conditions in old New Lots town, Jacob Hessel, the president, and the Jenas, who are among the leading lights in the hustling organization, have put up hard fights for improvements that will develop the section and build it up. Practically all of the city officials know them personally, and one department head, at least, has reason to know their ability to "produce the goods."

An object of special attention by the New Lots Board of Trade is a big cow stable which Abraham Bender conducts at Hendrix street and New Lots road. For several years the board members have waged a continual fight against it, have kept the officials on the jump and only recently succeeded in getting no less a personage than Health Commissioner Lederle to make a personal inspection of the place. As a result Mr. Lederle formulated certain sanitary rules for Mr. Bender to obey and the board of trade men were elated over their partial victory, for some of the things complained of had been thereby eliminated.

A few weeks ago the New Lots Taxpayers Protective Association was formed. Among the prominent ones in that movement are John A. Lumbrathy, the president, and Mr. Stang, in whose place at 715 Hendrix street the meetings are held. The new organization began its work by declaring war against the New Lots Board of Trade. Mr. Hessel was charged with ulterior motives in his crusade against the so-called cow-barn nuisance. The association announced that it would work for "real" improvements. Since its inception no mention has been made officially of the cow-barns of which Mr. Hessel and the Jenas have complained so bitterly The association does not consider them a nuisance.

At the door of the new association was laid a communication which recently got the members of the board of trade quite worked up. The communication purported to be from the South Side Kaffee-Klatsch Association and was signed with the name of John A Brady as president It advocated the establishment of a drinking fountain in New Lots and a war against the "Demon Alcohol," and made mention of the thirsty cattle which roam the streets of that section.

President Hessel, when Secretary Jena read the letter, got highly indignant He said it was the work of jealous people.

That was the beginning of the end and the end is not yet—not by a long sight. Next Tuesday, when Stang and Jena have it out in the police court, there may be some developments. But the most interesting part of the scrap will be elsewhere.

AGAIN THE WRONG BOTTLE.

Margaret Kusnack, 29 years old, of 128 North Fifth street, was seized with a coughing spell, yesterday, and without lighting the gas went to a closet for a bottle of cough mixture. She got hold of a bottle containing ammonia and drank a large quantity before she discovered her mistake. Her shouts brought the members of her family and a hurry call was sent for an ambulance. Dr. Frank responded from the Eastern District Hospital, who placed her out of danger.

AGED WOMAN LOSES HERSELF

Found Wandering Around Railroad Car Barns.

Doesn't Know Her Name or Her Address—Sent to Jail for Identification.

Patrolman Murphy of the Hamburg avenue police station picked up at the Ridgewood depot of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, last night, a wrinkled old woman of 85, who had forgotten who she was, where she lived, and where she wanted to go to. She was wandering around the station, in the chilly air, clad in a thin blue calico dress with a shawl thrown over her head, as if she were hunting for some one. But when the policeman questioned her she could not even tell who she was or remember the name of any relative or friend, or of any one who might take an interest in her.

Murphy took her to the station house for safekeeping over night, and this morning she appeared before Magistrate Higginbotham in the Manhattan avenue court. Here her memory came back to a limited extent. She recalled that her name was Elizabeth Scott. But she could give no address nor tell another word about herself. She did not even remember where she was born, but guessed she must be about 85 years old. She is white haired and feeble, bent over and meager and looks that old.

Magistrate Higginbotham sent her to jail until she could be identified.

The patrolman charged the boy with operating an automobile at the rate of twenty-eight miles an hour on June 7, while driving on Twenty-second avenue, near Sixtieth street. The boy was represented by counsel and pleaded not guilty to the charge. On trial he was found guilty and sentence was suspended.

ELDER CALLS GRANAT INTO CONFERENCE

Justice Rosenthal's Former Stenographer Closeted With Assistant District Attorney.

HE WON'T DISCUSS TALK.

Granat Refuses to Say Whether or Not He Has Preferred Charges Against Justice Rosenthal.

Assistant District Attorney Robert H. Elder sent for Louis Granat, stenographer to municipal Court Justice Alexander S. Rosenthal, this morning and was closeted with him for a half hour. Granat, on Thursday, in the First District Municipal Court, State and Court streets, in the course of a heated altercation with Justice Rosenthal, accused the justice of crooked work in connection with the duties of his office.

After the conference neither Mr. Elder nor Mr. Granat would talk very much. The assistant district attorney was exceedingly reticent and would not even admit that he would handle the case for the people. Granat, however, was more outspoken and after volunteering the information that he had been sent for defended himself against some attacks that appear in a morning paper.

The statements to which the stenographer took exception in his talk with an Eagle reporter, were those made in connection with the period when he worked under former District Attorney William Travers Jerome of New York.

"The criticisms come from a political lickspittle, a man I know well," Granat said, "and in due time will be shown up. I am glad they appear just at this time as they will make it easy for me to refute all accusations at once." The allegations in question refer to the way in which Granat left the employ of the New York County District Attorney.

"Have you filed any charges against Justice Rosenthal?" the stenographer was asked?

"I won't answer that question," was the reply, "as whatever matters passed between Mr. Elder and myself must be held confidential by me."

"Well, are you going to make any complaint against the justice?"

"I can't answer that, either," the stenographer said.

"But you have told reporters you would. Now, are you going to?" the interrogator persisted.

"I am going to stand pat on what has been done," Granat answered; "I have made my position amply plain, it seems to me."

The assistant district attorney and the stenographer went to Manhattan through the subway tube, taking a train at Borough Hall. Neither of the men would say where they were going.

Granat is about thirty-five years of age, is married, has a wife and two children and receives $2,000 a year as stenographer to Municipal Court Justice Rosenthal. On Thursday last he and Rosenthal exchanged picturesque greetings in open court, as a result of which Granat was yesterday served with a notice of dismissal by the court. The stenographer refused to quit, claiming that under the civil service law he could not be removed without a hearing. He stuck to his desk and took down all the testimony, although another stenographer, hired by the court, was in the room and took notes.

On Tuesday and Wednesday last Granat was absent from the First District Court. On Thursday, it is said, Justice Rosenthal thought that he should pay for the stenographer who substituted for him. The sum was either $5 or $10. Granat said he couldn't afford to pay the money and the justice said he ought to, according to people who were in court at the time. High words followed. Then the justice, according to the statement of a man who heard the words and repeated them to an Eagle reporter to-day, said to Granat, "You are a dangerous man." Granat promptly retorted and the breach between the justice and the stenographer became so wide it is believed to be unbridgeable.

George Gordon Battle is attorney for Granat in the case and Saul Myers of 60 Wall street for Judg Rosenthal. The justice in notifying Granat of his dismissal gave the following grounds: "Delinquency, absence without leave, insolence, the use of offensive language and insubordination."

Until the 15th of the month Justice Rosenthal will sit in the First District Court. He has temporarily discontinued his house telephone and was not at the court this morning.

DEBARASSO'S AIM POOR

Couldn't Hit Man at Whom He Fired Five Times.

Shots Sent at Close Range, Too—Now Shooter Has to Answer Felonious Assault Charge.

Even after firing five revolver shots almost point blank at the man with whom he had quarrelled Angelo Debarasso failed to hit his mark, and fifteen minutes later, after a heated foot race with Otto Boelson, one of the fleetest policemen in the Ozone Park precinct, he was arraigned, panting and breathless, in the Ozone Park station house.

It seems that Debarasso, who lives in Union avenue, near University place, Ozone Park, had engaged to do some work for Antony Frawmeni of 3948 Broadway, that place, and when the work was finished the two men had an argument over the remuneration which Debarasso thought he ought to receive.

They met at 6:45 o'clock last evening in a vacant lot in Union place, near Grafton avenue, Ozone Park. Debarasso drew a revolver and emptied its contents in the direction of Frawmeni at close range but by good fortune all of the bullets went wild.

The shots were plainly heard in the Ozone Park police station, a short distance away. They awakened the sleeping reserves, who crowded into the lieutenant's room even before he had rung the bell. Then they began scouring the neighborhood. Officer Boelson came first upon the scene and soon caught Debarasso.

Frawmeni followed the police to the station where he accused Debarasso of felonious assault. The latter did not deny shooting at Frawmeni and appeared in the Jamaica court this morning to answer the charge. He gave his age as 25 years. He had disposed of the revolver before he was caught and the weapon has not yet been found. Both men are Italians.

THOUSANDS OF DISHONEST SCALES SOLD HERE

Bureau of Weights and Measures Chief Summons Manufacturer to Explain.

OUTPUT OF 100,000 A YEAR.

Selling Agents and Purchasers of Scales Unaware They Do Not Register Accurately.

Commissioner Clement J. Driscoll of the Bureau of Weights and Measures has discovered that one of the biggest manufacturing concerns in New York City has an output of over 100,000 dishonest counter balance scales a year.

The fact that the scales are dishonest and that they are purposely manufactured that way with full knowledge of the firm was admitted by one of the concern's members when Commissioner Driscoll subpenaed him to the City Hall.

He found refuge in the excuse that if the scales were manufactured honestly it would probably cost the firm and the buyer a few cents more.

During the discussion with this manufacturer it developed that the scales manufactured by his firm were confiscated in Ohio and were condemned in Illinois. He admitted these facts when they were brought to his attention.

To supply proof that many of the selling agents of these scales and the small dealers who buy them are ignorant of the fact that the scales are dishonest Commissioner Driscoll subpenaed the principal members of several of the large selling firms in this city. When they saw the actual demonstrations proving that the scales they sold were dishonest they were astounded.

"We have probably several thousand of these scales in our place," said one of the selling agents. "If you will send an inspector there and if he finds the scales dishonest we will send every one back to the manufacturer if he places a violation on a sample of each scale."

Commissioner Driscoll sent an inspector as requested. He found that the counterbalance scales for which this firm was the selling agent were dishonest, just as Commissioner Driscoll said. He placed a violation on several of the scales and the firm sent back over a thousand which they had in stock to the manufacturer.

Counter-balance scales, in order to be honest, must have as their base a piece of steel which is a perfect parallelogram. This steel must be made in one piece. The scale turned out by the manufacturers, whose representatives practically admitted that their scales had been condemned in Ohio and Illinois, use these steel parallelograms made in two pieces. This is responsible for the dishonesty of the scales.

Commissioner Driscoll showed by a practical demonstration to the firm's representative that scales manufactured by them can be used either to the advantage of the dealer or the buyer. It just depends how the one, two or three pound iron weight is placed on the scales. If it is put in the center the weight is honest. But if these pound weights are put in any other place but the center the scales weigh falsely. Either the buyer will receive only ten ounces for a pound or the dealer will be giving eighteen or twenty ounces in selling his goods for a pound.

The unsuspecting dealer who does know the honest practices which are possible with the scale is liable to be cheated just the same as the unsuspecting customer. For that reason Commissioner Driscoll holds that a law should be enacted to punish the manufacturers of these dishonest scales.

The representative of the manufacturer protested when Commissioner Driscoll told him that he and his associates should be punished, rather than the unsuspecting dealer to whom they sold the scales. He said that the price they received for these scales made it impossible for them to take the precaution to turn out scales which would give honest weight.

"Well, I don't propose that you should be allowed to continue the sale of a lot of cast-iron junk, which you are pleased to call scales," said Commissioner Driscoll.

Commissioner Driscoll then inquired why the firm did not manufacture these steel parallelograms in one piece.

"Oh, we can't do that," was the reply. "That would cost more money."

Commissioner Driscoll also proved that where these counterbalance scales were equipped with the steel parallelogram in one piece, the scales balanced evenly, unless they were tampered with. How this tampering could be done Commissioner Driscoll showed with a scale where the side on which the goods are placed to be weighed was held down by a piece of elastic.

Raids were made again by Commissioner Driscoll's inspectors yesterday in Brownsville and the Eastern District. The raid showed marked improvements over last week. Only six dishonest scales were found to be in actual use in Brownsville. The raiding party found some dishonest scales which were not being used, and for the purpose of removing the temptation the inspectors confiscated these scales. They numbered four.

PLEA FOR PACIFIC STREET.

Concerns Sending Cut Trucks Asked to Keep Drivers on Atlantic Avenue.

Editor The Brooklyn Daily Eagle:

Will The Eagle in the interest of dwellers on the street, by name, Pacific, but, in reality, quite the reverse, kindly call the attention of our fellow citizens whose heavy drays and wagons use Pa- cific street as a thoroughfare, to the fact that Atlantic avenue is a parallel street, is a perfectly well adapted street for this sort of traffic and is little used consider- ing its good features for the purpose.

We feel sure that the transportation managers of several large concerns will order their teams to try Atlantic avenue when they realize our great need for quiet on this, a residential street.

PACIFIC.

Brooklyn, June 11, 1910.

DR. CHAPMAN IN TENTEVANGEL

The Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman, the well known evangelist, will preach the open- ing sermons in the Tent Evangel, West One Hundred and Twenty-fourth street, Manhattan, between Morningside and Amsterdam avenues, at 4 and 8 o'clock, on Sunday, June 26. This is the largest tent in New York City, seating 2,000 per- sons and lighted by electricity. Other noted speakers will also be heard in this tent throughout the summer, as the Rev. Dr. Len G. Broughton, the Rev. J. Stuart Holden of London, England, the Rev. Dr. H. M. Wharton, of Baltimore, the Rev. Dr. James M. Gray, of the Moody School, Chicago, and others.

IN THE PEOPLE'S PULPIT.

Pastor Russell will speak before the convention of the International Bible Students Association at Louisville, Ky., on Sunday. In his absence two associate ministers of the People's Pulpit As- sociation, on Hicks street, will address the congregation. J. G. Kuehn will speak at 3 P.M. on "Prayer." The evening ser- mon will be by C. A. Wise; topic, "The Inspection of the King's Guests." Seats are free and no collections taken.

MUSIC IN ST. MARY'S.

In St. Mary's Church, Classon and Wil- loughby avenues, at the regular afternoon musical service, 4:30 on Sunday, the choir will sing excerpts from Mendelssohn's "Lobgesang" (a hymn of praise); Goun- od's Magnificat in D flat will also be sung during the service, which will be purely choral throughout.

CONEY ISLAND.

Editor The Brooklyn Daily Eagle:

A new and elaborate "local volume (1909), in alluding to Coney Island, says, in a foot-note: "The Dutch of it was 'Conynen Eylant'; the rabbits upon it were doubtless mistaken for conies."

ADVANCE MANY THEORIES TO RELIEVE CONGESTION

Prominent Men Offer Remedies at Mayor's Commission Hearing.

MANN FOR LOWER TENEMENTS

Rapid Transit Extensions Suggested by J. G. Wall—Danger From Tuberculosis.

Every known sociological theory was advocated last night as the proper solu- tion of the congested population problem in Brooklyn. The mayor's commission on the congestion of population was holding the first of its public hearings at County Courthouse in this borough. The com- mission was anxious to receive informa- tion and suggestions from every stand- point, and the people who came to the hearing were not reluctant in complying with these requests.

Single taxation, municipal ownership, Socialism, rapid transit and a few other remedies were offered by the different speakers. They all developed into inter- esting discussions, and the commission received sugestions which undoubtedly will prove valuable when the executive sessions begin to formulate the recom- mendations which will end the conges- tion of population in different parts of the city.

Limit the height of tenement houses to three and four stories is advocated by Frank Mann, the deputy tendment house commissioner in a letter to the commis- sion. Also restrict the population of each floor to two families, is another suggestion from Mr. Mann. Tenement houses built and maintained by the city is the idea of some of the charitable or- ganizations. The development of the subway system and real rapid transit to the suburban sections is the solution offered by Tax Commissioner Judson G. Wall. Single taxation or making the taxation of unimproved property as high as the taxation on improved property is the remedy of Former Register Alfred J. Boulton.

The Rev. John Howard Melish believes that small parks as breathing spaces is the first step essential to relieve the con- gestion of population. People were al- ways ready to buy land for a small park.

"But we must have these parks," said Mr. Melish. "In spite of all the graft there may be in it. If it is necessary to deal with a grafter, let us go to him and pay his price."

Former Borough President Jacob Cantor of Manhattan, presided as the chairman of the commissio. Among the other mem- bers present were Gilbert Elliott, Alder- men Callaghan, Campbell and Dugat, John Adikes and Mr. Robinson. James J. Jen- kins, jr., of the Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis was the first speaker.

The congested population in the sec- tions of the borough near the Brooklyn Bridge, Williamsburg and East New York, he declared, were responsible for most of the tuberculosis cases. The death rate in Brooklyn from this disease was about the same as in Manhattan, if not a frac- tion lower. The congestion of population in Brooklyn is not as great per block or per acre as in Manhattan, but the con- gestion of population per room in the tenement houses exceeds that in Manhat- tan.

Mr. Jenkins said that the Board of Health should have inspectors whose sole duty should be to investigate these con- ditions of congestion in the rooms. The department now has about forty-five nurses who visit tubercular patients in the borough, and Mr. Jenkins suggested that they might be impressed into service to report the congested room conditions which came under their personal observa- tion.

If a building is unsafe, he said, it is condemned. He said that he did not see why a building which was infested with tuberculosis germs should not be con- demned by the city in the same manner. It was just as unsafe as the other build- ing. Mr. Jenkins suggested that a solu- tion of the problem might be found in the erection of municipal tenement houses. Otherwise, he suggested a re- striction on the height of these buildings and increase the number of breathing places by the establishment of small parks.

The herding of a great many people in one building he also said was undoubtedly due to the high rents and the poor pay received by the people who lived under those conditions.

Tax Commissioner Wall expressed sur- prise over the suggestions advanced by Deputy Tenement House Commissioner Mann. He said that the increased assess- ments and land values demanded that an owner should erect a building which would yield him a fair return on the in- vestment. The proposed restriction on the height of tenement houses would not solve the question of the congested pop- ulation. A man who could not afford to live in four rooms, Mr. Wall said, would put his family in two rooms and that was all due to the fact that he could not pay the high rent demanded for the four rooms.

The problem of congested population, he said, could be solved in two words—rapid transit. Proper transit facilities at a reasonable fare would permit the poor to take up their abode in the un- developed suburban sections.

George Wibecan, the well-known col- ored lawyer, spoke for the Lincoln Settle- ment Society, which is located in Fleet place. The congestion of population in the sections where the colored people lived, he said, was a disgrace to civiliza- tion. He cited several instances among them the noted "Chicago Row" on Atlan- tic avenue. He said he doubted if there was a worse condition anywhere in the country as was represented in this row. Hudson avenue and Navy street were al- so mentioned by him.

The poor colored lived in these sections not from choice, he said. It was near their employment and their means did not permit them to live elsewhere. The conditions of Navy street and Hudson avenue threatened the morality of the younger generation. Yet in spite of this, many colored families, where religious in- fluences dominated the home, were com- pelled to live there because it was im- possible for them to seek somes else- where. He, too, suggested municipally- owned tenements. If that were not possi- ble, he said, probably the commission could induce some wealthy men to erect model tenements as an investent, the same as was done in the colored San Juan Hill section of Manhattan.

Professor Franklin W. Hooper dwelt at considerable length upon the congestion in the school population of Brooklyn. He gave the figures to show the congestion had spread since consolidation, so that now there are 71,000 children on part time in the schools, 41,000 of which are in Brooklyn. That was a condition of affairs he said, which could be corrected by the city administration by furnishing in- creased school facilities. He acknowl- edged that the shifting of population was partly responsible, and cited the fact that last year 600 students enrolled in the Brooklyn High Schools came from Man- hattan.

"What is the use of a city government," he said, "that does not provide a proper education for its children?" He also em- phasized the idea that the commission in its deliberations should not forget the question of a city beautiful.

Dr. Hale, superintendent of public baths, also spoke. He thought the city had taken a step forward when it authorized the construction of the municipal bath for the benefit of the noon people.

"And I was not surprised but aston- ished that Justice Maddox granted a temporary injunction in this matter," he said.

"You had better be careful, you might be called upon to answer a charge of con- tempt the same as Mr. Willcox," said Chairman Cantor laughingly.

"I am not afraid of contempt of court," replied the doctor.

Former Register Boulton advanced the suggestion that the owners of the tene- ments which were unsanitary and where the people were herded like cattle could be brought to time if a law were passed to exempt from taxation the model tene- ment houses. He spoke of the City of Vancouver in Canada, where the only system of taxation which prevailed was an assessment on the land according to the location. People were not taxed for improvements, and the result has been, Mr. Boulton said, that Vancouver is the fastest growing city of its size on the American continent.

He also suggested that a man in Brook- lyn should be taxed as much for unim- proved property as the man who owned improved property. He said that any land owner who allowed his holdings to remain idle and undeveloped was a public nuisance. Mr. Boulton's ideas on taxa- tion developed into an extended discus- sion during which the single tax and other taxation theories were gone over thor- oughly.

Colonel William Hemstreet was another speaker.

Chairman Cantor announced that the commission would hold further hearings in Brooklyn, the dates of which would be announced later.

FAITH IN THE MAYOR.

But "Ogden" Has His Own Views on the Court House Site.

Editor The Brooklyn Daily Eagle:

Mayor Gaynor has certainly proved himself the most efficient and most hon- est Mayor New York has ever had, and the writer might go further in saying that no city in the United States ever had his superior, or even equal, as to honest con- victions.

The present Board of Estimate is try- ing to do all in its power to aid the Mayor in practical economy, at the same time looking to the future interests of this grand city. Certainly no harm could arise if our honorable Mayor and Board of Estimate would read and act on the article printed in this evening's Eagle signed "I. T." regarding a site for the new Court House, thereby saving a few hundred thousand dollars.

EUROPEAN NOTES.

A recent cable from Spain brings word that the King of Spain, Alphonse XIII, has bestowed upon Professor M. D. Ber- litz the decoration of the commander of the Civil Order of Alphonse XII, in ap- preciation of the services rendered by him through his method at the Berlitz School. The King and some of the Spanish royal families have been pupils of the Berlitz School. The clever method taught at the school is also known to a large ma- jority in this country.

Our Lucerne correspondent writes: Wonderfully fine weather has followed the downfall of snow of a few days ago. The somewhat heavy fall extended a con- siderable distance into the valley, but in the brilliant weather experienced since, Nature—as if in compensation—has decked herself out in all the varied tints of spring and the charming contrasts of color with the snow-clad mountains form enchanting pictures that well repay long- distance journeys to see.

The Hotel Beau Rivage shares with the Grand Hotel Tivoli an increasing popularity with American tourists—a pop- ularity due to the fact that both houses cater specially for this over-seas clientele, in absolutely modern appoint- ments which include suites with private baths, and the prompt service essential to the comfort of the traveling American public.

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDEN

THEY PLAN TO ELEVATE MORAL TONE OF CONEY

Wealthy Business Men Organize to Do Away With Dives.

SAY LOW RESORTS MUST GO.

New Taxpayers Alliance Represents Fifteen Million Dollars Worth of Property.

An organization composed of the most powerful and influential business men and property owners at Coney Island and whose object is to advance the interests of that amusement resort and protect those who are in business there, was perfected Tuesday night at Coney Island. It has been called the Coney Island Taxpayers Alliance, and represents from ten to fifteen million dollars worth of property.

The following officers were elected: Albert Chambers, president; Charles L. Feltman, first vice president; S. E. Jackman, second vice president; William S. Ward, secretary, and Joseph Huber, treasurer. The members are all prominently identified with Coney Island, and are as follows:

William A. Engerman, John E. Cavanagh, William Fitzgerald, Henry Grasshorn, A. D. Bushman, William Lakeland, George Kessler, Mr. Nelson, George Nelson, Samuel Gumpertz, Frederick Thompson, Richard Ravenhall, George C. Tilyou, Frederick Kister, Frederick Henderson, Louis Stauch, Gilbert M. Stratton, John A. Cook.

The organizers have let it be known that only the big property owners need apply. The association will be run strictly in the interests of the business men of a high grade, who are at the amusement resort, and it is the intention of the officers not only to promote the business interests of Coney Island, but to elevate the moral tone of the place as much as possible and try to do away with low dives and places where rowdyism prevails. It is this kind of resorts, they contend, that has given Coney Island a black eye.

It is also intended by the promoters to make the organization something on the order of a board of trade, to the extent that they will fight for better police and fire protection, and work together in harmony toward the improvement of the island in every way that such a powerful financial coterie of men will be in a position to do.

FOLLOWED BLOODY TRAIL.

Officer Finds Man on Sidewalk Wounded in Saloon Brawl.

A bloody footprint on the sidewalk at the corner of Graham and Meeker avenues caught the attention of Patrolman Charles Doyer, of the Herbert street station, last night. He picked up the trail, and after following the stains for seven blocks found a man lying on the sidewalk at the corner of Graham and Eugert avenues.

He stopped an ambulance of the Saint Catherine's Hospital, which was passing on its way to answer an emergency call, and Dr. Campbell examined the man and found him suffering from stab wounds in the leg and abdomen. A few minutes later an ambulance which had been summoned from the Williamsburgh Hospital arrived, and after being taken to the hospital, the man's wounds were sewed up. He gave his name as Neil Vanderberg, 30 years old, of 205 A Eckford street. He said that he had been stabbed in a saloon on Meeker avenue, although he didn't know which one. He was taken home.

"BIG TIM" AT PASSION PLAY.

Says Coney Island Methods Are in Vogue in the Village of Oberammergau.

The Cunard Liner Lusitania, from Liverpool, reached her pier here to-day. "Big Tim" Sullivan was among the passengers. He was red-cheeked and happy. He said that his trip through Ireland had left him in splendid physical trim.

"Big Tim" spoke of his trip to Oberammeragau to see the Passion Play and likened the conditions in the village of Oberammergau to Coney Island methods.

"They want you to get reservations two days in advance, and then when you get there they want to get rid of you in half an hour," is the way he put it. "Why, they are charging $6.50 a day for 75 cents worth of accommodation. As for the Passion Play itself it is a wonderfully impressive sight. But it is not the sort of production that would reap a harvest of money if given here, except for the religious theme and sentiment that attaches to it."

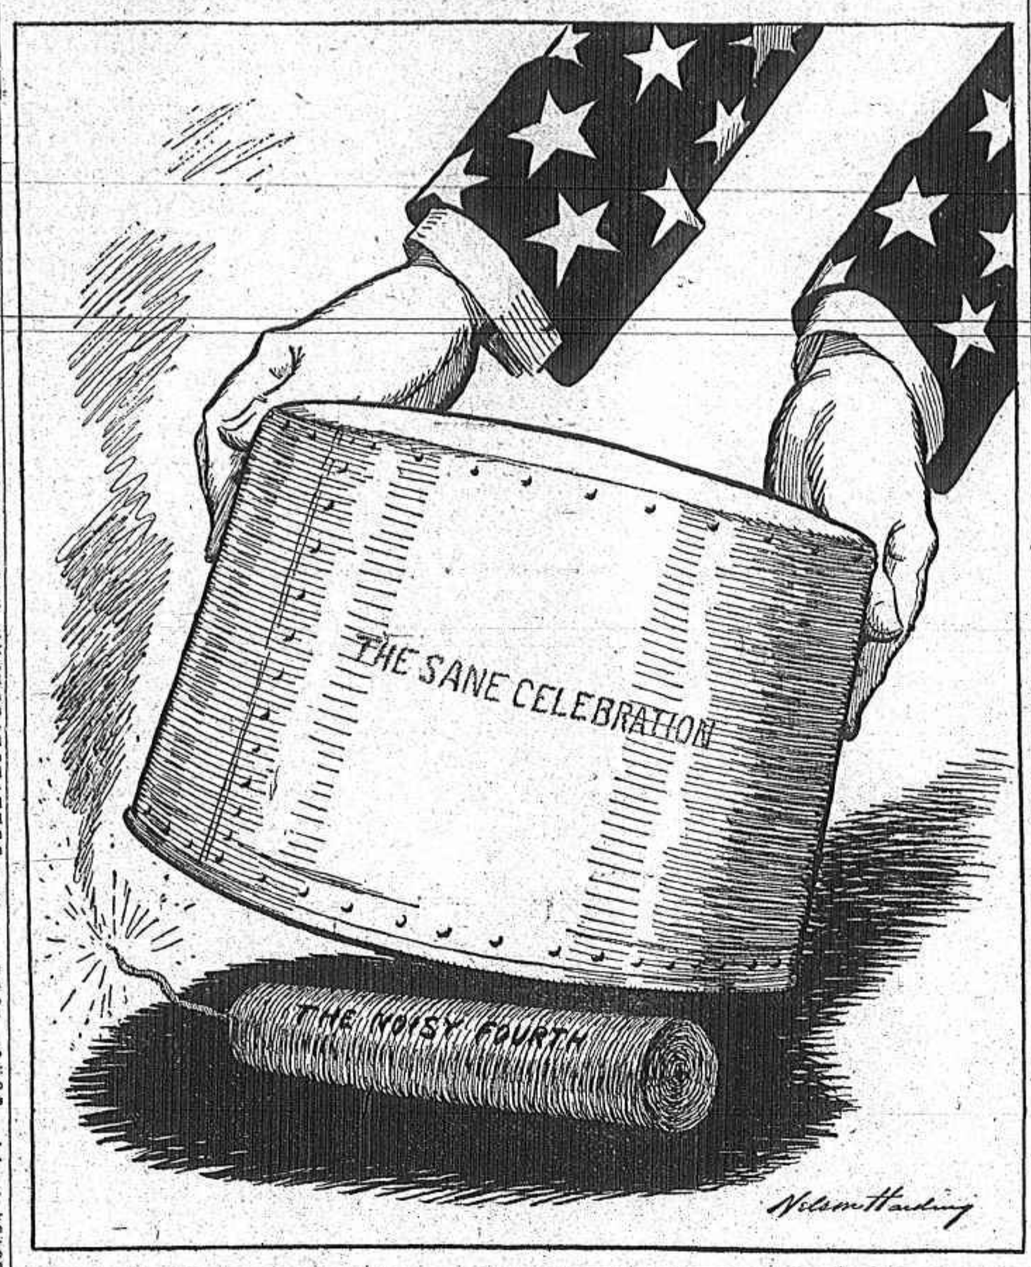

GALLAGHER IS ELECTED.

At an adjourned meeting of the Sixteenth A. D. Regular Democratic Association held Wednesday night at the clubhouse, 2944 West 8th street, Coney Island, F. P. Gallagher was elected as a member of the board of directors to the place on the board made vacant by the death of Kenneth F. Sutherland. Civil Justice Cornelius Furgueson presided. Gallagher is a well-known business man of Coney Island.

SHADOW DANCE IN THE PARK.

Sigma Society Holds Novel Function at Farm House.

A shadow dance, with no other illumination than the beams of the moon, was the feature of the annual summer dance given by Sigma Society, at the Farm House, Prospect Park, last night. Twenty-four couples attended.

The dance room was prettily decorated with the colors of the sorority, yellow and gold. An innovation that met with signal success was the plan of providing the dancers with distinguishing whistles, which would enable them to find lost partners in the semi-darkness. The committee consisted of the Misses Marjorie Hoeg, Jeannette Tolliner and Mary Swift. The patronesses were Mrs. D. De Montemar, Mrs. Mitchell May, Mrs. Frederick Hoeg, Mrs. Courtney, Mrs. Charles Terburg and Mrs. Joseph Cashman.

SAFE AND SANE FOURTH WILL BE BIG SUCCESS

General Committee at Meeting Receives Encouraging Reports From Every Section.

MONEY NEEDED, HOWEVER.

Veteran in Letter Objects to Military Parade, and Gives Reason—How Albany Will Conduct Celebration.

The reports from various districts in Brooklyn presented at yesterday afternoon's general committee meeting at the St. George Hotel, indicate that the safe and sane Fourth idea has taken a substantial hold in nearly all parts of Brooklyn, and that the new idea Fourth will be successfully celebrated in this borough. The only discouraging report at the meeting yesterday came from General Wingate, who is at the head of all the Brooklyn committees. He said that only one money contribution to the general fund has been received so far, and that further financial help is urgently needed if the committee is to be successful in carrying out its elaborate plans.

The various district reports on finances were very encouraging. The personal efforts of the members of the district committees have produced results. The Right Rev. Mgr. William J. White, head of the Catholic charities of Brooklyn, chairman of the Erie Basin district committee, reported that even the foreigners of his district are showing commendable spirit in working toward the success of their own celebration. George W. Wilson, chairman of the Flatbush district, reported a substantial contribution from one small section of his district, and that the others are expected to do proportionately well.

The meeting yesterday was presided over by Major Tumbridge, head of the Brooklyn executive committee. A report was received from Frederick Rowe, a member of the general committee, to the effect that Walter Hammitt will act as chairman of the finance committee. General Boody of the Peoples Trust Company was elected treasurer.

From the report of Chairman Wilson of the Flatbush committee it appears that the Vanderveer Park Taxpayers Association in co-operation with Public School No. 89, Mrs. Ritter, principal, has arranged for the morning parade and flag raising with speeches and music. In the afternoon there will be folk dances and athletic events. For its evening entertainment the committee is hesitating between the choice of fireworks or moving pictures. The Eighteenth district Republican Club has arranged a special patriotic programme for the children.

In the central northern section of Flatbush there will be a parade in co-operation with Public School No. 92, Miss Castle principal, and a programme of games and folk dancing. Fireworks will fill out the evening. The western section of Flatbush, Prospect Park South and Ditmas Park, have arranged to have a display of Japanese lanterns. In the evening there will be fireworks. In Homecrest the celebrants are fully organized with the schools and taxpayers associations working in committees.

The RidgeWood Board of Trade has arranged for a fine programme at Bushwick Park, including a flag raising by all the children of kindergarten age, patriotic songs and addresses. Park Commissioner Kennedy has advised the committee that there will be a band concert in the park from 3:30 to 5:30, and has offered his co-operation to the success of the celebration.

In Brownsville there will be a parade of 1,500 of the older school children and a band concert at Lincoln Park in the evening. A number of other districts reported gratifying progress in the work of organizing their celebrations.

James F. Hurley, in reporting for the Twenty-ninth District brought up the question of the National Guard parade, which is causing some discussion. We want to go on record as unalterably opposed to calling on the National Guard," he said.

Veteran Objects to Parade.

The Eagle yesterday received a letter from an ex-guardsman on this subject. It reads as follows:

To the Editor of The Brooklyn Eagle:

I am a veteran of the National Guard, also of the G. A. R. I would like to ask if the committee of the "sane Fourth" knows why the National Guard discontinued the Fourth of July parades?

I can tell them, it was about forty years ago, when I was an officer of the Seventy-first Regiment. We left the armory with about six hundred officers and men, marched down to the City Hall from Broadway and Thirty-sixth street, and after review returned to the armory, with between four and five hundred men, the balance having been overcome with the heat or obliged to help their comrades home or to the hospital.

I would like to ask who would be responsible for the results if we should have such hot weather as we have had this week?

We must remember that marching in the streets, on asphalt pavements, carrying muskets weighing from ten to fifteen pounds, is very different from walking on the sidewalk in the shade and thinkly clad and carrying perhaps an umbrella.

I think it would be well for the Mayor to consider these things before ordering the National Guard to parade.

AN EX-OFFICER, SEVENTY-FIRST REGIMENT.

Movement Is General.

The extent to which the "safe and sane Fourth" idea gaining ground throughout the United States is evinced by the character of the celebration programmes of different cities. The state capital, this year, will join the ranks of those cities where the celebration has become a patriotic and educational festival rather than a vapid noisy demonstration. The programme to be carried out at Albany is as follows:

9:30—Parade, staff of 100 citizens; boys and girls to capitol; girls on steps, boys in hollow square; band in square, songs by children and by all assembly.

9:30—On four ball grounds, amateur baseball.

10:30 or 11—Ball teams play local championship games; grammar school league on same grounds play semi-finals of baseball.

12 or 1—Chimes of churches, patriotic airs and bugle calls.

2—Y. M. C. A. athletic field; athletics, including greased pig race and ward relay race, 19 wards, represented by teams of four, captained by alderman.

2 P.M.—Washington Park Lake aquatics including boys swimming and relay races; men's swimming and relay races; pitting match; duck chase; canoe and boat races and other events.

5 or 6—Band concerts in three neighborhoods for stay-at-homes.

8—Fireworks. There will be bands at parade, athletics, aquatics and fireworks.

UNITED DEMAND SHOWN FOR NOSTRAND AV. SUBWAY

Sheepshead Bay Expected to Fall In Line for Public Hearing July 1.

OTHER SECTIONS FAVORABLE.

Property Owners Are Willing to Be Assessed for Route, Long List of Petitioners Shows.

The East Flatbush, Central Flatbush and the Vanderveer Park Taxpayers Associations hope to present a combined and united force before the Public Service Commission on July 1 in behalf of the extension of the Eastern Parkway subway along Nostrand avenue and through Flatbush and Vanderveer Park to Sheepshead Bay and possibly to Coney Island. The Flatbush and Vanderveer Park taxpayers have been very successful in their own sections, but the Sheepshead Bay section has only just awakened to the importance of the situation. Meetings have been held there recently and the people of that section are in doubt whether they want the route to be a subway or another elevated road. The proposition is for an elevated extension from the junction of Flatbush avenue to Sheepshead Bay.

Flatbush and Vanderveer Park residents have worked night and day for the Nostrand avenue subway. Petitions have been sent out to all the property owners asking whether they were in favor of the proposed subway to be paid for by assessment and came back with almost 100 per cent. of favorable answers. Work was then started to learn the real attitude of residents in Sheepshead Bay. They discovered that the real reason the residents of this section were somewhat apathetic was that if the subway ran to Coney Island it was argued the cars would be be always crowded with people on the way to the summer resort.

The proposition was then submitted that the subway should not continue to Coney Island, which is already well provided for with transit facilities. The terminus will be Sheepshead Bay if the other sections will agree to this proposition and it is very likely that Sheepshead Bay will be in favor of it. But if Sheepshead Bay wants representation at the hearing before the Public Service Commission on July 1 it will have to exert every effort to obtain signatures to the petition.

The Central Flatbush Taxpayers and the Vanderveer Park Taxpayers associations have been the promoting organizations and the members of both these organizations have devoted all their time to securing the successful culmination of the project. The work of the organizations has revealed a hearty sympathy on the part of the residents, who now in every case willingness to agree to the assessment plan of securing the subway. The territory covered by the East Flatbush Taxpayers Association, of which P. S. Hollister is president, comprises a district one-half mile on each side of Nostrand avenue and extends from the Eastern Parkway to Tilden avenue, while that of the Vanderveer Park association extends from Tilden avenue to the junction of Flatbush and Nostrand avenues. The Sheepshead Bay taxpayers are in the district comprising the whole of Sheepshead Bay. George S. Dougherty is the president of the Sheepshead Bay board.

Mr. Hollister, president of the East Flatbush taxpayers Association, attended one of the recent meetings in Sheepshead Bay and argued in favor of the subway. He told the members to forget about Coney Island and think more of themselves. He spoke of the need for combined action and added that if all the sections did not appear at the hearing on July 1 those which did would ask that the subway be built 1 sections.

BODY WAS THAT OF DUMMY,

But Rockaway Lobsterman Was Sure He Had a Corpse in Lobster Pot.

Quite a commotion was caused the other night at the end of the dock, at the foot of Hammel avenue, Rockaway Beach, by the cries of a man, and at first it was thought somebody was in trouble.

When others arrived at the dock they found a man very much excited, and after he became composed, he said that he had set his lobster pot, and when he hauled it up to see whether he had caught any of the crustacea, he found a dead body in the pot.

Wishing to be convinced of the truth of the statement, the crowd asked the man to again haul up his lobster pot. Slowly he began to haul up and then suddenly exclaimed: "There he is!" Looking over the ledge of the dock, the crowd saw the figure of a man. It was pulled up on the dock and then a mighty laugh went up. Some practical joker had tied a dummy in the lobster net.

DOYLE CLUB ELECTION.

The Democratic "insurgents" of the Ninth Assembly District—the followers of William A. Doyle—held their annual meeting last night at their headquarters, at 315 Fifty-third street. It had been announced erroneously that the purpose of the meeting, aside from the election of officers for the ensuing year, was formally to begin the fight against Thomas F. Wogan's domination in the district. No such thing was attempted last night. Whatever fight is made will be started in August, or possibly at a special meeting for the purpose before the August meeting. William A. Doyle presided last evening and Andrew J. Murtha recorded.

The only business done was the electing of the officers, as follows:

William A. Doyle, president; Emil Biele, first vice president; Joseph F. Corcoran, second vice president; Andrew J. Murtha, recording and financial secretary; August Pople, corresponding secretary; Roland S. Covert, treasurer, and the following board of directors: James P. Farrell, William J. Roger, Michael W. Francis, Thomas Johnson, James Cassidy, Edward Duffy, John A. Heffernan, Martin P. Lynch, Jeremiah J. O'Leary, Dr. Daniel Shay, James Gilbert, Jeremiah J. Hanrahan, James McCrystal, William G. McCaffrey, John [illegible] and Richard Bennett.

WASHINGTON SIDELIGHTS

608 Fourteenth Street.

Washington, July 23—Those who ex- pected that General Wood, as a strenuous chief-of-staff, would start in as the head of the army with a display of strenu- osity, have been sadly disappointed. He has been at his new post for four or five days now and there has not been a ripple to indicate that a change has taken place.

This does not mean that General Wood is devoid of new ideas about the military establishment. He has a lot of them that will create much talk when he begins to turn them loose. But he is waiting to see and talk with President Taft before announcing new policies. He will go to Beverly in a week, tell the President what he has in mind and then come back and make the fur fly.

When General Chaffee became chief-of- staff he threw everybody in the War De- partment into a flurry by stalking through the various rooms where the clerks were at work, opening drawers in the desks and turning things upside down generally. He kept all those about him in a state of constant excitement.

General Wood has started in like a lamb. He has said that there would be no changes of any kind for the present— no detachments or transfers of officers now on duty at headquarters. Later on there will be a shake-up. It is known that General Wood still entertains the belief that every American soldier ought to be about as fit physically as the aver- age college football player at Thanksgiv- ing time. In view of this it is not likely that the Roosevelt riding test order will be rescinded.

Seth Low Pierrepont, the Brooklyn boy who has been acting for several months as charge-d'affaires at the American lega- tion at Santiago, Chile, is soon to receive a richly earned rest. Henry P. Fletcher, the new American minister to Chile, is now on his way to his post. As soon as he arrives he will take charge of the le- gation and relieve Pierrepont.

The latter has had rare good luck at Chile. Shortly after he took charge there the Alsop claim negotiations came to a head. Secretary Knox sent a sharp ulti- matum to the Chilean government, threatening to close up the American le- gation and break off relations if certain demands were not met at once.

The negotiations were conducted through Pierrepont, as charge-d'affaires. He handled the delicate situation admir- ably. Although he was not called on to exercise any great individual discretion, the young American so managed things that there was no rupture in diplomatic relations. His conduct met the entire ap- proval of the State Department authori- ties and there was no rush to get Fletcher to the spot. Since then Mr. Pierrepont has disposed of the other business between the two nations in a manner to keep everything peaceful and harmonious.

Minister Fletcher is also a comparatively young man. He has been promoted from the position of secretary to the American legation at Peking. He was there with Minister Rockhill, and during the latter's absence in America conducted the office to the satisfaction of the Wash- ington officials.

New lightning-rods are being put over the White House. In the place of the old-fashioned single rod of twisted steel a series of copper lightning-conductors is being installed.

Hanging on the wall of General Leon- ard Wood's office at the War Department are the portraits of the four generals who have been chiefs of staff under the new organization of the army. They are Gen- erals Young, Chaffee, Bates and Bell. Wood is the fifth man to hold this post. Curiously enough, only one of the gen- erals is a product of West Point. General Bell is the only one of the five who has had the advantages of that training school.

The staff corps of the Navy has been faring rather badly under Secretary Meyer. The fact has been commented on many times by the constructors, and the paymasters, whose two chiefs have been forced out of office, and by the civil en- gineers and doctors also. Paymaster Gen- eral Rogers was forced to resign; Chief Constructor Capps is soon to go.

The civil engineers and the doctors have received a slight jolt also. They have not felt the displeasure of Secretary Meyer, but have experienced minor dis- comforts that cause them to believe that the lot of staff officers in the Navy is not the happiest in the world. In the readjustment of quarters in the Navy De- partment the civil engineers and the doc- tors have been forced out of this granite building. They have been provided with rooms in the Mills Building, a block dis- tant and not half so comfortable as the department proper.

It is the expectation here that several of the officers of the Marine Corps who recently received letters of censure from the department, followed by orders send- ing them to Manila and other distant points, will apply for retirement. Sev- eral of them are eligible for retirement under the thirty years service clause.

WASHINGTON CLUB OUTING.

Annual Festival of 10th A. D. Democratic Organization Scheduled for August 2 at Dreamland.

All arrangements have been completed for the annual seaside festival of the Washington Club, the regular Democratic organization of the Tenth Assembly Dis- trict, of which former Public Works Com- missioner Thomas R. Farrell is executive member, to be held at Dreamland on Tuesday afternoon and evening, August 2. The outing is one of the principal topics of interest in the district. The social committee has been meeting regularly for many months past at the clubhouse, 241 Prospect place, arranging the details, and a record breaking attendance is ex- pected.

The day time will be given over to the children, while plenty of opportunity will be offered to the big party to indulge in bathing and other pleasures of the beach. In the evening dancing will be one of the main diversions and the time otherwise will be spent in the usual at- tractions at the island.

Leader Farrell has been executive mem- ber of the district for the last four- teen years and was the first president of the club. A number of prominent local politicians and city officials will be pres- ent at the outing. John J. Barry is the president of the club. The other officers are: George F. Kelly, vice president; William J. McCarty, financial secretary; John W. Kelly, corresponding secretary; Reuben L. Bridgham, recording secre- tary; Joseph P. Meehan, treasurer. Board of trustees, Thomas R. Farrell, James W. Redmond, John J. McQuade, Philip Brady, Charles K. Lennon, John F. Shanley, Philip J. McEvoy, Thomas F. McDonald, James Shevlin, Peter A. Ca- rey, Simon Berliner, John P. O'Brien, Francis H. Maguire, John P. Martin. So- cial committee—John P. O'Brien, chair- man; Simon Berliner, secretary; William A. Wallace, Frank Cleary, John J. Kney.

FOR COLGAN FOR LEADER.

A meeting of the election district cap- tains of the Second Assembly District Democratic organization favoring ex-Al- derman George Colgan for the next ex- ecutive leader was held last night at the clubhouse, 71 Sands street. Besides the twenty-two election district captains there were fifteen other members of the organization, all of which compose the campaign committee. The meeting was called to order by the vice president, Jerome Daly, and reports from all the districts were made. These meetings, which have been held for the past few weeks, are the starting of a primary campaign against the present executive member of the district, John J. Bridges, who was elected last year by a small ma- jority. Bridges again opposes Colgan, and a warm fight is anticipated.

A HUMAN PROJECTILE.

Washington, July 23—Shot through 300 feet of a 20-inch drain pipe in a column of water at high pressure, a laborer on the Gatun dam on the Panama Canal lived to tell the tale. Juan Antolin was the human projectile, according to the report made to the Canal Commission. From a floating platform, where he was keeping rubbish in a hydraulic fill from clogging the drain, he fell into the pool and was sucked into the pipe. His companions rushed to the outlet, but Antolin preceded them by some seconds and swam ashore.

CHAPTER 168.

AN ACT to amend the insurance law, in rela- tion to fire and marine insurance corpora- tions. Became a law April 25, 1910, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three- fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, rep- resented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section twenty-two of chapter thirty-three of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act in relation to insurance corporations, constituting chapter twenty-eight of the consolidated laws," as amended by chapter three hundred and one of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 22. REINSURANCE—Every insurance corporation doing business in this state may reinsure the whole or any part of any policy obligation in any other insurance corporation provided that if any domestic insurance cor- poration, other than a life insurance cor- poration, shall reinsure or determine to rein- sure substantially all its risks, such reinsur- ance shall be submitted in advance to, and have the approval of, the superintendent of insurance, and provided, further, that no domestic life insurance company shall reinsure its whole risk on any individual life except by permission of the superintendent of insur- ance, but may reinsure any portion of an individual risk and receive credit for the re- serve on any policy covering a risk reinsured if the reinsuring corporation is authorized to transact business in this state, and may also receive credit for taxes on the premiums paid on any such policy. When a reinsurance agree- ment is made between other than life insur- ance corporations, the parties to such agree- ment shall, upon the policies involved, com- pute their unearned premium as follows: The reinsuring or ceding corporation shall, upon the portion of its liability not reinsured, main- tain a reserve to be computed in accordance with section one hundred and eighteen of the insurance law; the corporation assuming lia- bility by reinsurance from the corporation issuing the original policy shall maintain a reserve equal to that which the reinsuring corporation would have been required to main- tain upon the amount reinsured had it re- tained the liability ceded by it. No credit of any kind shall be allowed or given, either as a reduction of taxes or of liabilities, to any corporation transacting business in this state, for reinsurance made in corporations not au- thorized to issue policies in this state. The superintendent of insurance shall require sched- ules of reinsurance to be filed by each cor- poration at the time of making its annual report to the department.

Sec. 2. Section twenty-five of said chapter is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 25. JURISDICTION OF SUPERIN- TENDENT OVER FOREIGN CORPORA- TIONS—The superintendent of insurance shall have the same supervision and make the same examination of the business and affairs of every foreign insurance corporation doing busi- ness in this state, as of domestic insurance corporations doing the same kind of business, and of its assets, books, accounts and general condition. Every such foreign corporation and its agents and officers shall always be sub- ject to and be required to make the same statements and answer the same inquiries and be subject to the same examinations, and, in case of default therein, to the same penalties and liabilities as domestic insurance corpora- tions doing the same kind of business, or any of the agents or officers thereof, are or may be liable to under the laws of this state or the regulations of the insurance department. The superintendent may, whenever he deems it necessary, either in person or by a proper person appointed by him, repair to the gen- eral office of such foreign corporation, where- ever the same may be, and make an investi- gation and examination of its affairs and con- ditions. He may cancel and revoke the cer- tificate of any such foreign corporation refus- ing or unreasonably neglecting to comply with the provisions of this section, or to allow the examination herein provided for to be made, and prevent such corporation from further con- tinuance in business in this state. A foreign insurance corporation may transact in this state only such kinds of business as, under the laws of this state, a like domestic insur- ance corporation is authorized to transact.

No such corporation shall transact any busi- ness in this state not specified in the certificate of authority granted by the superintendent.

Sec. 3. Section fifty-six of the said chapter is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 56. FOREIGN INSURANCE COM- PANIES—Companies from other states and countries hereafter applying for admission to this state shall be possessed of at least the amount of capital required for companies or- ganized under the laws of this state, which amount of capital of such companies must be fully paid in cash. It shall be the duty of the superintendent of the insurance department to refuse admission to any such company unless its assets are of the same general character that companies of this state are permitted to hold, nor shall any such company be admitted to transact business in this state unless it shall file in the office of the superintendent of insurance department an agreement under its corporate seal that it will not transact in this state any business which any fire insur- ance companies of this state, organized under the general act, are prohibited from transact- ing; and any company violating the provisions of said agreement shall have its certificate of authority revoked by the said superintendent forthwith, provided the assent of the attorney general shall not previously obtained.

Sec. 4. Section one hundred and ten of said chapter is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 110. INCORPORATION—Thirteen or more persons may become a corporation for the purpose of making insurances on dwell- ing houses, stores and all kinds of buildings and household furniture, and other property against loss or damage by fire, lightning, wind storms, tornadoes, or earthquakes, and also against loss or damage by water to any goods or premises arising from the breakage or leakage of sprink- lers, pumps or other apparatus erected for ex- tinguishing fires, and of water pipes, and against accidental injury to such sprinklers, pumps or other apparatus, and upon vessels, boats, cargoes, goods, merchandise, freights and other property against loss or damage by all or any of the risks of lake, river, canal and inland navigation and transportation, as well as by any or all of the risks specified in section one hundred and fifty of this chapter, including insurances upon automobiles, whether stationary or being operated under their own power, and to effect reinsurance of any risks taken by it, by filing in the office of the superintendent of insurance a declara- tion signed by all of their subscribers, to form a corporation for the purpose of trans- acting the business of making any or all of such insurances, which shall comprise a copy of the charter proposed to be adopted by them, setting forth the name of the corpora- tion, the place of location of its office, the mode in which its corporate powers are to be exercised and the directors elected, a majority of whom shall be citizens of this state, and if a stock corporation, the owner in his own right of at least five hundred dollars of the stock of the corporation at its par value, the mode of filling vacancies in the office of director, the period for the commencement and termination of its fiscal year and the amount of capital to be employed in the transaction of its business, provided that a corporation in- cluding in its charter a provision to assume any of the risks of ocean marine insurance as specified in section one hundred and fifty of this chapter must have a capital, paid in in cash, of at least four hundred thousand dollars. No such declaration shall be filed, unless the persons signing the same shall have previously published for at least two weeks successively a notice of their intention to form such a corporation in a public newspaper in the county where its office is to be located. Every such corporation shall be known as a fire in- surance corporation. No such corporation shall directly or indirectly deal or trade in buying or selling any goods, wares, merchandise or other commodities whatever, except such articles as may be insured by it and are claimed to be damaged by any cause so in- sured against.

Sec. 5. Section one hundred and twenty-one of said chapter as amended by chapter two hundred and forty of the laws of nineteen hun- dred and nine, is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 121. STANDARD FIRE INSURANCE POLICY TO BE PRESCRIBED AND USED— The printed blank form of a contract or policy of fire insurance, with such provisions, agree- ments or conditions as may be indorsed there- on or added thereto and form a part of such contract or policy, heretofore filed in the office of the secretary of state by the superintendent of insurance or by the New York board of fire underwriters pursuant to the provisions of chapter four hundred and eighty-eight of the laws of eighteen hundred and eighty-six shall be transferred by the secretary of state to the office of the superintendent of insurance and, together with such provisions, agreements or conditions as may previous to the thirty-first day of December, nineteen hundred and one, be filed by the New York board of fire under- writers in the office of the superintendent of insurance and approved by him, which provi- sions, agreements or conditions shall be void if they are inconsistent with the stan- dard fire insurance policy heretofore filed in the office of the secretary of state, shall be known and designated as the standard fire insurance policy of the state of New York. No fire insurance corporation, its officers or agents, shall make, issue or deliver for use, any fire insurance policy or the re- newal of any such policy on property in this state, other than such as shall conform in al particulars as to blanks, size of type, context, provisions, agreements and conditions with such printed blank form of contract or policy; and no other or different provision, agreement, condition or clause shall be in any manner made a part of such contract or policy or in- dorsed thereon or delivered therewith, except as follows, to wit:

First. The name of the corporation, its loca- tion and place of business, date of its incor- poration or organization, whether it is a stock or mutual corporation, the names of its offi- cers, the number and date of the policy, and if issued through a manager or agent the words "this policy shall not be valid until counter- signed by a duly authorized manager or agent of the corporation at ....."

Second. Printed or written forms of descrip- tion and specification, or schedules of the property covered by any particular policy, and any other matter necessary to clearly express all the facts and conditions of insurance on any particular risk not inconsistent with or a waiver of any of the conditions or provisions of the standard policy hereby provided for.

Third. With the approval of the superin- tendent of insurance, if the same is not al- ready included in such standard form, any pro- vision which any such corporation is required by law to insert in its policies, not in conflict with the provisions of such standard form. Such provisions shall be printed apart from the other provisions

LAWS OF NEW YORK.

By Authority.

CHAPTER 134.

AN ACT to amend the town law, in relation to the establishment and maintenance of sewer systems outside of incorporated cities and villages. Became a law April 21, 1910, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section two hundred and thirty of chapter sixty-three of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act relating to towns, constituting chapter sixty-two of the consolidated laws," is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 230. TOWN BOARD MAY ESTABLISH SEWER SYSTEM; PETITION.—The town board of any town on the petition of a majority of the owners of real property in a proposed district, or for a proposed extension of an existing district, representing a majority of the taxable property therein, as appears by the last preceding completed assessment-roll, may establish a sewer system outside an incorporated village or city or extend the boundaries of an existing district and the sewer system therein accordingly. The petition must describe the proposed district, or proposed extension of an existing district, and state the maximum amount proposed to be expended in the construction of such sewer system or extension. Each petitioner shall state opposite his name the assessed valuation of the real property owned by him in such district, or extension of an existing district according to the last preceding completed assessment-roll. The petition must be signed by the petitioners and acknowledged in the same manner as a deed to be recorded and if it is a petition to extend an existing district and the sewer system therein shall, in addition to the foregoing provisions, be approved in writing by the sewer commissioners of such district. There shall be annexed to and presented with such petition a map and plan of the proposed sewer system, or extension, with specifications of dimensions and connections and outlet or sewage disposal works prepared by a competent engineer at the expense of the petitioners. The petitioners may, however, present to the town board with such petition map, plan and specification, a statement to such board by one of the petitioners having personal knowledge of the correctness thereof, showing the amount of the actual cost to them of said map, plan and specifications and the cost of the acknowledgments of the signatures to such petition, and by whom paid which said amount, if found by the town board to be just and reasonable, and if the said town board shall make one of the orders as provided by section two hundred and thirty-one of this chapter, shall be and become a part of the expense of construction, and shall be inclosed in the first tax levy therefor, and shall be refunded to the person or persons by whom paid as shown by the aforesaid statement, by the supervisor of the town, who shall take a receipt therefor. At any time after the town board has made an order establishing such district, or extending an existing district the maximum amount proposed to be expended in the construction of such sewer system in said district, or extension, may be increased by petition of a majority of the owners of real property in said district, or extension, representing a majority of the taxable property therein, as appears by the last preceding completed assessment-roll, setting forth the additional amount proposed to be expended, in excess of the maximum amount set forth in the petition upon which the said district, or extension, was established. Such petition must be signed and acknowledged in the same manner as the petition for the establishment of said sewer district, or extension, and shall be filed in the office of the town clerk. Every petition made as provided in this section shall contain a statement conspicuously printed thereon as follows: "The cost of construction and maintenance of such sewer system (or extension, as the case may be) shall be assessed, from year to year, by the sewer commissioners to be appointed, upon the lands within the sewer district (or extension in proportion as nearly as may be to the benefit which each lot or parcel will derive therefrom."

Sec. 2. Section two hundred and thirty-one of said chapter is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 231. ACTION BY TOWN BOARD.—If the town board is satisfied that the petitioners are a majority of the owners of real property in the proposed district, or extension, and own a majority in value of the taxable property therein, they shall make an order establishing such district, or extending the boundaries of an existing district, and if establishing a new district, appointing three taxpayers therein as sewer commissioners, who shall hold their offices at the pleasure of the town board. Such sewer commissioners shall each be paid for their services, at such times as the town board may designate in said order, an amount to be fixed by the town board, which amount shall not exceed three dollars per day for each day actually and necessarily spent in the business of the sewer district and shall be deemed an expense of maintaining the sewer system and shall be collected and paid as provided in section two hundred and forty-three of this chapter for expense of maintenance.

Sec. 3. Section two hundred and thirty-three of said chapter is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 233. APPROVAL AND FILING OF MAP AND PLAN OF SEWER SYSTEM.—The sewer commissioners shall cause a copy of the map and plan of the proposed sewer system, or proposed extension thereof, to be submitted to the state board of health, and if approved by that board, the map and plan, or such map and plan may be amended with the approval of the state board of health and if amended, it shall be filed in the office of the state board of health and of the town clerk.

Sec. 4. Section two hundred and thirty-four of said chapter is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 234. CONTRACTS FOR THE CONSTRUCTION OF SEWER SYSTEM.—The sewer commissioner of such district shall advertise for proposals for the construction of a sewer system, or an extension thereof, according to such map and plan, finally filed, either under an entire contract or in parts or sections as the board may determine. Such advertisement shall be published once in each of two successive weeks in each newspaper published in said sewer district and extension thereof, and if no newspaper is published therein, in the two newspapers published nearest thereto. The commissioners may require a bond or deposit from each person submitting a proposal, to be not less than twenty-five per centum of the amount involved, the liability on such bond to accrue, or such deposit to be forfeited to the town, in case such person shall refuse to enter into a contract in accordance with his proposal. The commissioners may accept or reject any or all proposals, and when the contract is let it shall be let to the lowest bidder. No contract shall be made by which a greater amount shall be agreed to be paid than the maximum amount stated in the petition for the construction of such sewer, as amended by supplemental petition, if any, including the expense of superintendence and inspection as provided in section two hundred and thirty-five. Each contract shall be executed in duplicate, one of which shall be given to the contractor and the other shall be filed in the office of the town clerk.

Sec. 5. Section two hundred and thirty-five of said chapter is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 235. SUPERVISING ENGINEER, INSPECTORS AND ATTORNEY.—The sewer commissioners may employ an attorney, a supervising engineer to superintend and inspect the construction of any sewer, or extension thereof, or works connected therewith, and also such inspectors as may be necessary, and fix the compensation of such attorney, engineer and inspectors. Such compensation, together with the fees, charges and expenses of the engineer employed to prepare the map, plan and specifications, and the cost of the acknowledgments of the signatures of the petitioners, as provided for in section two hundred and thirty of this chapter, shall be treated as a part of the expense of construction.

Sec. 6. Section two hundred and thirty-seven of said chapter is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 237. APPORTIONMENT OF LOCAL ASSESSMENT FOR CONSTRUCTION.—The sewer commissioners shall prepare, and file in the office of the town clerk a map and plan of such district, or extension, which shall show the highways and the several parcels of land therein. The commissioners shall report to the town board the amount of the cost of construction of such sewer system as determined under the foregoing provisions hereof. The town board shall direct the issue and sale of bonds for the amount of the cost of construction as so reported to said board by the said commissioners, which bonds shall be redeemable in such equal yearly instalments, the interest thereon to be paid semi-annually, as said town board shall prescribe, and shall be a town charge. In the month of July in each year the town board shall notify the sewer commissioners of the amount to become due for principal and interest during the ensuing year on the bonds so issued. The sewer commissioners shall forthwith proceed to assess such amount on the lands within such district, or extension of an existing district, in proportion as nearly as may be to the benefit which each lot or parcel will derive therefrom. After making such apportionment, said commissioners shall forthwith serve or cause to be served on each land owner notice of the completion thereof and of the filing of such map and plan, and that at a specified time and place a hearing will be had to consider and review the same. Such notice must be served personally at least six days before the hearing if such land owner is known to them and can with reasonable diligence be found within the county; if he cannot be so found, by mailing same to his last known post-office address, and if the name or address of such owner be unknown, by posting said notice in a prominent place on the property to be assessed. The commissioners shall meet at the time and place specified to hear objections to such apportionment, and may modify and correct the same. The sewer commissioners upon the completion and correction of such apportionment shall forthwith file the same in the office of the town clerk, and shall give notice of the filing of such completed and corrected apportionment in the manner provided for by section thirty-nine of the tax law as to towns. The apportionment shall then be deemed final and conclusive unless an appeal is taken therefrom, as hereinafter provided, within fifteen days after the filing thereof. The town board shall present to the board of supervisors at its annual meeting, a statement of such apportionment as so corrected and filed, showing the amount due, or to become due, for principal and interest during the ensuing year on the bonds issued under this article; each lot or parcel liable to pay the same, and the amount chargeable to each. The board of supervisors shall levy such sums against the property liable, and shall state the amount of the tax in a separate column in the annual tax-roll under the name "sewer tax." Such tax when collected shall be paid to the supervisor and by him applied in payment of the bonds. An unpaid assessment shall be collected in the same manner and shall subject the land and land owner liable therefor, to the same interest, burdens and penalties, as other town taxes in arrears.

Sec. 7. Section two hundred and forty-one of said chapter is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 241. PROCEDURE BY NEW COMMISSIONERS.—The commissioners appointed by the county court shall give notice of the time and place at which they will meet to make such reapportionment, and shall serve notice thereof, either personally or by mail, at least ten days before such meeting, upon each owner of land within such district or extension of an existing district, as finally fixed by the board of sewer commissioners. They shall meet at the time and place specified and make such reapportionment in the manner herein prescribed for the sewer commissioners. They shall file such reapportionment in the office of the town clerk, and it shall be final and conclusive.

Sec. 8. Section two hundred and forty-two of said chapter is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 242. FEES OF COMMISSIONERS.—Each commissioner appointed by the county court is entitled to five dollars for each day necessarily spent in making each reapportionment, besides his actual necessary expenses. Such fees and expenses are a charge against the town, and must be audited by the town board. The amount thereof shall be added to the portion of the expense of constructing such sewer or sewer system, which is to be assessed against property in such sewer district or extension.

Sec. 9. Section two hundred and forty-three of said chapter is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 243. EXPENSE OF MAINTENANCE, HOW RAISED.—After the sewer system is constructed it shall be maintained by the commissioners, and the cost of such maintenance shall be a charge upon the sewer district. In July of each year, the sewer commissioners shall present to the town board an estimate of the amount of money required for said commissioners to meet the expenses of maintaining the sewer system for the ensuing year. The town board shall formally pass upon such estimate and approve, or correct and approve, the same. The sewer commissioners shall thereupon assess the amount of the estimate as so approved, and corrected, on the lands within their district, in proportion, as nearly as may be to the benefit which each lot or parcel will derive therefrom, and shall give the same notice and shall correct and file such apportionment in the same manner, and shall give the same notice of the filing of such corrected apportionment, as is provided for in section two hundred and thirty-seven of this chapter. An appeal may be taken from such corrected apportionment within the same time, and the procedure thereupon shall be the same as specified in sections two hundred and thirty-eight to two hundred and forty-two, both inclusive, and to the end that the fees of the commissioners appointed by the county court to readjust the apportionment made pursuant to this section shall be a charge upon the sewer district, and shall be included in the expenses of maintenance. Whenever an apportionment is to be made to meet an instalment of principal and interest on the bonds issued pursuant to section two hundred and thirty-seven of this chapter, any proceedings for the correction, review or readjustment thereof shall be consolidated with the like proceedings, if any, with respect to the apportionment made as provided in this section. The town board shall present such estimate to the board of supervisors at its annual meeting, with a statement of each property or parcel liable for the same and the amount chargeable to each. The board of supervisors shall levy such sums against the property liable, and shall state the amount of tax in the annual tax roll under the name "sewer tax," with the sewer tax to be raised for payment of bonds as provided in section two hundred and thirty-seven of this chapter, and after such bonds shall have been entirely paid in a similar column headed "sewer tax." This tax for maintenance, when collected, shall be paid to the supervisor of the town and by him paid to the sewer commissioners to meet the expense of maintenance of the sewer system. An unpaid assessment under this section shall be collected in the manner provided for in section two hundred and thirty-seven of this chapter. The sewer system as so constructed, or as hereafter added to or changed, shall be under the charge and control of the sewer commissioners, under whose supervision it shall be used by property owners, and no person shall enter into, open or interfere with or use said sewer system except under the inspection and direction of said sewer commissioners and after formal permission shall have been given by said commissioners. The sewer commissioners shall adopt rules and regulations to govern the maintenance and use of the sewer system and shall therein fix the amount of fees that shall be chargeable to individuals or property owners who may wish to enter or use the sewer system, which fees shall be sufficient in amount to pay for the cost of inspection of such entry or entries. Any person violating any provisions hereof and interfering with, entering or using said sewer system without obtaining such permission shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and liable to punishment accordingly.

Sec. 10. Section two hundred and forty-four of said chapter is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 244. ANNUAL STATEMENT OF COMMISSIONERS.—The sewer commissioners shall in the month of December in each year file in the office of the town clerk a detailed statement, under oath, of the moneys received and paid by them since their last statement under the provisions of this chapter, together with the names of the persons or parties from whom the same were received and to whom the same were paid, and the object of each payment, with the vouchers therefor. Such statement shall show the balance remaining in their hands, which balance shall be applied to maintenance account for the following year.

Sec. 11. Section two hundred and forty-five of this chapter is hereby repealed.

Sec. 12. This act shall take effect immediately.

To provide the means to pay such salary, the comptroller of the state shall, on or before the first day of November in each year, fix and transmit to the clerk of the board of supervisors in each of the counties in said district a statement of the sum to be raised by such board of supervisors, in accordance with the amount of taxable real and personal property in each of said counties as shown by the last annual assessment-roll therein. The boards of supervisors in each of such counties shall annually levy and cause to be collected in such county and to be paid over to the county treasurer thereof, the sums fixed by the comptroller to be raised by such board of supervisors, and such county treasurer shall pay such sum to the comptroller of the state for the payment of said salaries.

AN ACT to amend chapter four of the laws of eighteen hundred and ninety-one, entitled "An act to provide for rapid transit railways in cities of over one million inhabitants," as generally amended by chapter four hundred and ninety-eight of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, is hereby amended to read as follows:

1. When the consents of the local authorities and the property owners, or, in lieu thereof, the substitution of the said appellate division of the supreme court upon the report of commissioners, shall have been obtained, the public service commission shall at once proceed to prepare detailed plans and specifications for the construction of such rapid transit railroad or railroads in accordance with the general plan of construction, including all devices and appurtenances deemed by it necessary to secure the greatest efficiency, public convenience and safety, including the number, location and description of stations and plans and specifications for the suitable supports, tyrnouts, switches, sidings, connections, landing places, buildings, platforms, stairways, elevators, telegraph and signal devices, and other suitable appliances incidental and requisite to what the commission may approve as the best and most efficient system of rapid transit in view of the public needs and requirements, including in its discretion operation of such railroad or railroads or some portion thereof by any device or means, other than separate cars or trains, in the construction of which stationary means for guiding a conveyance in a definite path and means for propelling such conveyance are necessary elements, and the commission may, in its discretion, include in said plans provisions for galleries, ways, subways or tunnels for sewers, gas or water pipes, electric wires and other sub-surface structures and conductors proper to be placed underground, whenever necessary so to do, in order to permit of the proper construction of any railroad herein provided for in accordance with the plans and specifications of the board of rapid transit railroad commissioners or of the commission, or for any other purpose in furtherance of the public interest or convenience.

Sec. 2. Subdivision four of section twenty-six of such chapter, as amended by chapter four hundred and ninety-eight of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, is hereby amended to read as follows:

4. Any such contract may be made for the construction of said road in sections, or for the construction of any section or sections thereof; and, except as herein otherwise provided, every such contract shall specify when the construction of the railroad or the section or sections thereof included therein shall be commenced in each case, and, in each case, the date of completion. The said commission may by any such contract determine when and how the work of construction of the rapid transit railroad or railroads included therein shall proceed. The commission may also provide for the equipment at public expense of such railroad or railroads in connection with the construction thereof, and may include in any contract for construction authorized by this act provision for the equipment, or any part thereof, of such railroad or railroads, but may make a separate contract or contracts for the whole or any part of such equipment with the constructing contractor or contractors or any other responsible persons, firms or corporations. Any such contract, in lieu of requiring the contractor to provide equipment or any part thereof for generation or furnishing of motive power, may authorize the contractor to enter into a subcontract or subcontracts for purchase and delivery as required of motive power for operation of said railroad or railroads, provided such subcontract or subcontracts shall, as to the parties thereto, the subject matters thereon and the terms thereof, be first approved by the commission, or any such contract may provide that the construction or completion of equipment, or any portion thereof, for generation or furnishing of motive power included in said contract, may, with the consent of the commission, be suspended during a period designated, provided that during such period there shall, when required, be available for use, in lieu of such equipment, motive power furnished to the contractor under and pursuant to the terms of a contract for the purchase of power, which contract shall, as to the parties thereto, the subject matters thereon and the terms thereof, be first approved by the commission. In case of the expiration or termination, as provided in this act, of the contract for equipment, maintenance and operation of such road, any subcontract for the furnishing of power may be terminated or taken over by the city without making any allowance or paying any amount to the contractor for or on account of any unexpired term of such subcontract.

Sec. 3. Section twenty-eight of such chapter as amended by chapter four hundred and ninety-eight of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 28. CONTRACT FOR MAINTENANCE AND OPERATION.—If in the opinion of the board of estimate and apportionment, or other analogous local authority of such city, a contract for the equipment, maintenance and operation as provided for in the preceding section shall be inexpedient, impracticable or prejudicial to the public interest, the public service commission may, with the approval of the board of estimate and apportionment, or such other analogous authority, equip the said road or roads in whole or in part, or puchase power for operation thereof, for and at the public expense, by contract or contracts therefor subject to the provisions of section thirty-six of this act, and enter into a contract with any person, firm or corporation, who or which in the opinion of said commission

PROF. WILLIAM JAMES DEAD.

Was the Founder of Modern American Psychology.

Professor William James of Harvard University, brother of Henry James, the author, and long regarded as among the foremost psychologists of the world, died last night at his summer home at Chocura, near North Conway, N. H. He was taken ill a month ago, in Europe, where he had been visiting his brother, who is ill. He returned a week ago.

Professor James was born in Manhattan, in 1842. His father was a celebrated Swedenborgian minister. He was educated by his father, and private tutors, until 19 years old, and entered the Lawrence Scientific School in 1861, remaining two years. In 1870 he received the degree of M. D. from Harvard University. He then began teaching, giving the major portion of his time to physiology, and for eight years was assistant professor at Harvard. He then began investigating in the realms of the mind or soul, beginning by interpreting the theories of Herbert Spencer and others and ending by working out new theories of his own.

Psychology was a subordinate department of philosophy at that time, but in 1880 Dr. James was made an assistant professor in philosophy and five years later was made a full professor. In 1885 he was given the chair of psychology, and a year later he wrote a work on "Principles of Psychology." In July of last year he startled the scientific world by announcing that he had held communication with the spirit of the late Dr. Richard Hodgson, giving details in the "Proceedings in American Asso. for Psychical Research." He wrote many books and pamphlets on the subject of psychology. He was president of the American Psychological Association, and of the International Society of Psychical Research. He leaves a widow and four children.

NO CITY PARK NOW FOR ROCKAWAY POINT

Neponsit Realty Company Plans a New $1,500,000 Development There.

WORK TO START AT ONCE.

Place to Be Called Neponsit and to Equal Any Seaside Community on Long Island.

Prospects for a great ocean park for New York City's millions at Rockaway Point vanished to-day. Announcement was made by the officials of the Neponsit Realty Company of the borough that the property selected by the city is to be the site of one of the largest development projects ever attempted at any of the beaches. The plans made known include the expenditure of more than $1,500,000 on improvements, with the object of making the new community the most attractive yet established. It will be known as Neponsit and will soon have a place upon the map tables.

The Realty Associates of 176 Remsen street, Brooklyn, which is one of the lagest real estate corporations operating in Greater New York, controls the Neponsit Realty Company. The new developments, which will exceed the six million dollar mark, will be commenced without delay. Plans have been mapped out for the work, which will be completed next spring.

The inactivity of the city authorities in connection with the establishment of the proposed ocean park has compelled the Realty Associates to decide upon the development of the property. Since the park was first suggested, the tract has increased in value, largely owing to the demand for this class of real estate.

The contracts about to be awarded for the extensive improvements include the laying out and making of streets, the installation of sewers and gas mains, and the laying of sidewalks and curbing. All the betterments will be made under New York City specifications, so that the streets will be accepted by the city without the levying of assessments for the opening or for any of the improvements.

A picturesque feature has been decided upon. Many of the streets will be parked, and the company has devised a plan so that these parks and parking spaces will be always kept up and not ermitted to be ruined by neglect as has been the case in many other developments.

Another unique and desirable feature will be deeding of the ocean front to the property owners. The purpose is that the property will be always restricted against use by business buildings, hotels, or amusement resorts of any descriptions, including merry-go-rounds or other enterprises of such character. This will permit all the lots to secure the benefit of the ocean view and breezes and assures a greatly increased value of interior lots. It is expected this feature, and the whole character of the improvements will make the new development the most desirable residential section in New York for summer or all the year round purposes. The property is located only thirty-five minutes from the Flatbush avenue or Thirty-fourth street stations of the Long Island Railroad.

The company will construct and have ready for occupancy in the early spring more than forty different types of houses. These homes have been designed by Kirby, Petit & Green. It is the intention to erect a handsome clubhouse on the bay side, with a big dock for yachts of all types. The structure will have a billiard room, bowling alley, tennis courts and all the features of a well-appointed club.

PAYMENT OF EXCISE TAX.

State Commissioner Clement Directs Attention of Prospective Applicants to New Law.

(Special to The Eagle.)

Albany, September 3—State Excise Commissioner Clement again calls attention of prospective applicants for liquor tax certificates for the term beginning October 1 to the provision of section nine of the Liquor Tax Law, which requires the payment of the excise tax not later than September 15 for the ensuing year. Compliance with the provision will insure the issuance of all certificates prior to October 1, and give the necessary time to the issuing officer to carefully examine application papers, and for the discovery and correction of errors, which are always embarrassing and sometimes expensive to the applicant. Applicants who neglect to present their applications and pay the tax on or before September 15, assume the risk of not getting their certificates until after October 1.

As all applications will be examined in the order of their receipt, those received after September 15 will not be acted on until all applications received on or before September 15 have been disposed of and the certificates thereon issued and delivered.

The prospective bride is a graduate of the Flushing High School and has taken an active part in amateur theatricals in connection with plays that have been presented under the auspices of the Little Sisters of St. George's Episcopal Church of Flushing.

OUT FOR MORE VOTES

Candidates in Eagle Opera Contest Wage Hot Campaign.

Rivalry Continues Unabated, and Many Big Changes in Positions Result.

The friendly rivalry for popular supremacy in the Eagle's Grand Opera Ticket Contest continues to-day unabated. The friends of the contestants are evidencing an even greater interest in the cause of their candidates and they are sparing neither time nor effort to advance them in the race. Every one of the sixty leaders and many others are daily receiving big votes and the number of coupons cast for all of them is swelling up tremendously every week.

Characteristic of other days this week, yesterday brought many more changes in positions among those who have attained places among the leaders. As large as was the vote Mrs. Bunn received Frank E. White exceeded it and brought his hold on first place up to nearly 3,500. Mrs. H. R. Umanoff, who received a vote of 1,200, sent anonymously by one of her friends the other day, moved to the thirteenth position. There was a general rearrangement of the list between the twenty-third and twenty-fourth places. Edna Meinken, Mary Skiff and Mrs. Bowers made big skipps in the contest.

The contestants among the "next twenty-five" are also enterprising. Alice Baker and Mrs. Fish "graduated" to places among the leaders, while Louise Harris and Alice Hickey progressed several positions. William C. Miller made his first appearance on the secondary list.

A NAPOLEON RELIC.

Journal of Russian Commissioner With Napoleon on St. Helena Owned by Magazine Editor.

The editor of the Strand Magazine, New York, possesses what is generally regarded as the most valuable and historic souvenir of Napoleon's life on the Island of St. Helena extant. This is the Journal kept by Count Balmain, Russian commissioner at St. Helena during Napoleon's imprisonment and intended for the private information only of the Russian government. The journal is contained in three volumes furnished with substantial locks and keys. The water-mark in the paper of the first volume consists of the British crown, the initials "G. R." (George Rex) and the historic date, 1815.

These volumes contain records of everything that happened on the island during the time that Napoleon was a prisoner there, with bulletins of the state of his health while under the care of the Irish physician, O'Mara, accounts of the people who visited the island, how Napoleon amused himself, etc. Several pages are filled with a verbatim report of a conversation between Napoleon and a British official relative to why the former lost the Battle of Waterloo.

Count Balmain was the cleverest and most cultivated person on the island, and though he married a stepdaughter of Sir Hudson Lowe, the governor, his views on the relations between Lowe and Napoleon are absolutely impartially expressed as anybody may see by reading this manuscript, which was intended not for the public eye but for the confidential information of the Russian government. Certain passages, in fact quite a number, were partially deleted by Count Balmain before he died, and it is proposed to restore these with the probability that they will throw an entirely new light upon the captivity of Napoleon.

HISTORICAL.

Captain John Smith was about to be executed. Pocahontas rushed forward and spread herself protectingly over the palpitating bosom of the Paleface just as Powhatan raised his knob-studded war club and the assembled aborigines raised a shout.

"Let 'er go, professor!" they yelled; and the operator of the moving picture camera began to turn the crank.—Puck.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN BROOKLYN CHURCHES

Several months ago the Rev. H. G. Crocker resigned his office as pastor's assistant of Plymouth Church to accept a call to the Vernon Congregational Church of Portland, Oregon. His successor, the Rev. Dr. Archibald L. Love, entered upon his work yesterday. He will preach in Plymouth Church to-morrow morning. There will be no evening services. Dr. Love is widely and most favorably known among the Congregational churches of the country. He is a graduate of Hamilton College and of Andover Seminary, and was pastor for some ten years in St. Louis, and five years in Albany, N. Y. He succeeds to a position made honorable by the Rev. S. B. Halliday, who was succeeded by Dr. Howard S. Bliss, and later by the Rev. Horace Porter. The people of Plymouth Church are looking forward with profound hope and satisfaction to their new associate pastor's work. He will reside on Prospect place. The officials of the church will tender a reception to Dr. and Mrs. Love on the first Thursday evening of October. To-morrow morning the choir will sing Gounod's anthem, "Send Out Thy Light," and Tours' "O, Saving Victim." The organ selections will be from Wolstenholme and Dubois.

PASTOR RUSSELL ON "SIN ATONEMENT"

Pastor Russell of Brooklyn Tabernacle speaks in the Brooklyn Academy of Music, Sunday, Oct. 2d, at three o'clock—topic, "Sin Atonement." This subject is an intensely interesting one when understood. The thorough discussion of the philosophy of Sin Atonement makes necessary the uncovering of many false views as presented by some. You may be astonished by the Biblical presentation of the doctrine of "Sin Atonement," yet you are sure to be benefited by a knowledge of the Truth. Seats free and no collections to be taken.

Pastor Russell is to address a Jewish Mass Me

THE JEWISH REVIEW

Saturday, October 8, Tishri 5, year 5671. Pentateuchal portions Deuteronomy xxxi, Prophetical portions Hosea xiv:2-10, and Joel ii:15-27.

On Thursday the Day of Atonement will be observed. The Pentateuchal portions for that day will be Leviticus xvi, Numbers xxix:7-11, and for the afternoon, Leviticus xviii. The Prophetical portions for the morning will be Isaiah lvii:14-58-14, and for the afternoon the Book of Jonah.

The Jewish festival, the Day of Atonement, or Yom Kippur, the holiest day in the Jewish calendar, falls this year on October 13. The Hebrew date is the 10th of Tishri. The festival is ordained in Leviticus xvi:29-34, and xxiii:26-32. In both passages it is styled "A Sabbath of Solemn Rest."

The purpose of the Day of Atonement is clearly indicated by its name. It is intended to complete and crown the work of the penitential season begun on the first of Tishri (Rosh ha-Shanah), by finally reconciling the soul with the Almighty. Implicitly trusting in the divine forgiveness, the Israelites believe that this contrition, if it be really sincere, will atone for him, will make him "et one" once more with his Heavenly Father. The day, then, is devoted to a supreme effort of penitence, to a mighty endeavor after communion with the Almighty. It is spent in prayer and meditation.

It is kept, too, as a fast, in obedience to the command given in each of the two passages above cited, where the expression "afflict his soul," must be understood, as it is throughout the Bible, as synonymous with fasting.

The chief, the real aim of the Day of Atonement, is the reformed life. All the external elements of the day's observance—its worship and austerities—are intended to promote this supreme purpose. They cannot do duty for it. The act of fasting is partly to serve as a self-imposed chastisement, and partly it has a reflex influence. For hunger and weakness tell upon the conscience; they mortify pride, break down obstinacy, cast men down before God in humility and contrition. But fasting does even more than this. Taking the worshipper away from such carnal occupations as eating and drinking, it helps to fix his thoughts upon the needs of the soul. It makes the day one of physical abstinence and self-denial, but also of correspondingly increased spirituality.

Rabbis in Reformed Temples Deliver Strong Sermons on Rosh ha-Shanah.

Tuesday, the festival of Rosh ha-Shanah, was celebrated all over the world. In the orthodox synagogues and the hundreds of temporary places of worship, Wednesday was also observed. In addition to the regular ritual of prayer, the officiating rabbis of the temples delivered sermons both on Monday evening and Tuesday morning. "Looking Backward" was the theme of the sermon delivered by Dr. Nathan Krass of Temple Israel. The rabbi spoke from the text, "And the wife of Lot looked backward and became a pillar of salt."

Farmers Convention to Be Held in November.

The Federation of Jewish Farmers of America, which has its offices at 174 Second avenue, in Manhattan, is arranging for its annual convention, to be held November 28, 29 and 30, at the Educational Alliance. Exhibits of the products of Jewish farmers located in various parts of the United States will be seen. Addresses will also be delivered.

The officers of the Federation of Jewish Farmers of America are: President, S. P. Becker, of Hartford, Conn; vice president, S. Hein, of Nassau, N. Y.; secretary, J. W. Pincus of New York, and and treasurer, Dr. Paul Abelson of the city. The executive committee consists of L. Harkway, Colchester, Conn.; H. Rotman, Millis, Mass.; S. Gruden of Perrineville, N. J.; H. Honig of Brainard, N. Y., and M. Mackof of North Dakota.

Hebrew Sheltering and Immigrant Aid Society Reorganizes Its Bureaus.

The Hebrew Sheltering and Immigrant Aid Society of New York has been reorganized and plans to represent Jewish interests even more than it has in immigration matters to the government of the United States. Much has been done by this society to alleviate the condition and promote the Americanization of immigrants.

The Hebrew Sheltering and Immigrant Aid Society is the acknowledged representative Jewish society at the gate of America—Ellis Island. It is a consolidation of the Hebrew Sheltering House Association and the Hebrew Immigrant Aid Society. The purpose of the consolidation was to effect the centralization of activities in behalf of Jewish immigrants, both on and off Ellis Island, with a view to increasing the efficiency of the service of both organizations, and to curtail such expenses as may be dispensed with under the new arrangement.

The Ladies Bikur Cholem Society—the mother auxiliary to the South Side Dispensary of East New York, at a special meeting held recently at its headquarters, 159 Wyona street, made final arrangements for the annual charity ball to take place at Congress Hall, Atlantic avenue and Vermont street, on Saturday evening, December 3. The dispensary, which will possibly be opened in 1910, is in need of funds before it can open for the public. Mrs. A. E. Frank and Mrs. L. Simmons are the president and vice president respectively of the Bikur Cholem Society.

Williamsburg Y. M. H. A. Gets Superintendent.

At the last meeting of the Young Men's Hebrew Association of Williamsburg, at 575 Bedford avenue, Maurice Kahn of New York was appointed superintendent of the institution. Since its organization about a year ago, the officers and directors have labored indefatigably to interest the citizens of Williamsburg and the Eastern District in an institution of the kind. Their success has been remarkable. The membership has increased from twenty to about three hundred.

With the help of a superintendent the work of the Y. M. H. A. will no doubt become more interesting to the juniors of the society. Mr. Kahn has been always interested and taken an active part in all movements that had for their objects the advancement of the physical, intellectual, social and moral welfare of the young men of the Jewish faith. About ten years ago Mr. Kahn was director of clubs in the Educational Alliance of New York. In that capacity he directed the workings of the various debating, literary, athletic and social clubs of the largest settlement in the East. He organized the Junior Street Cleaning Leagues and arranged lectures for the young men of the East Side. The experience he obtained while in this position will be of inestimable value for Mr. Kahn in his new position. It is hoped that the Y. M. H. A. of Williamsburg will do its share to keep the young boys and men of that section from the streets and thus permit them to play and enjoy themselves in an environment that will cultivate the faculties of the growing youth for the better.

The committee in charge of the grand ball to be given November 7 is leaving no stone unturned to make this affair a great financial as well as social success.

Home for the Aged in Brownsville.

Though but organized August 25, the Young Folks Society for a Maishev Zukeinim has been rapidly gaining in numbers, so that today its membership is about fifty. The number of weak old men and women in Brownsville who have no home to remain in and to be taken care of has been increasing, and the philanthropic citizens of this section are very anxious to provide a place in East New York, where these men and women can be looked after in their declining age. The Young Folks Society has already arranged for a ball on Lincoln's Birthday, February 12 1911. The officers of this society are: President, Morris J. Rabinowitz; vice president, Miss Rebecca Saphier; secretary, Lester Romain; treasurer, Miss Ida Saphier, and sergeant-at-arms, Irving Granofsky.

The organizers of this society hope that in the near future the Hebrew Home for the Aged, on Bushwick avenue, will arrange to alter its building in such way as to be able to accommodate some of the more urgent cases of old age that come to their attention.

Ralph K. Jacobs Discusses Probation Cases.

Ralph K. Jacobs, the president of the Young Men's Hebrew Association of Brooklyn and director of the Brooklyn Probation Society, is now in Washington acting as secretary to the International Prison Congress. Speaking of the work of the congress in reference to incorrigible boys, Mr. Jacobs said:

"The work of the Prison Congress is not to be confined to prison administration alone; on the contrary, matters under discussion will relate to penal legislation, prison administration, preventive means and questions relating to children and minors. While in Washington I will have an opportunity of observing the operation of the law providing for the payment by the city to families of prisoners convicted and sentenced for desertion of a nominal sum weekly, in payment for the labor of the prisoner while confined in the workhouse. This law has been in operation in Washington for three years. We have been trying to have such a law passed in the State of New York in order to strengthen the hands of the judges dealing with abandonment cases.

"One of the questions to be discussed will be of peculiar interest at this time by reason of several articles which have appeared in The Eagle recently, and that is whether it is advisable to establish separate institutions for abnormal children showing dangerous moral tendencies. The question as framed by the executive board for discussion is as follows: 'Should special establishments be maintained for abnormal, backward and feeble-minded children showing dangerous moral tendencies?'

"The treatment of children mentally defective is provided for by institutions in every civilized country, but a certain number of such children show criminal tendencies and commit offenses which bring them under the scope of the penal law. They are not proper subjects for commitment to prison; their limited development prevents them from fitting into an educational scheme of reformatory institutions. On the other hand, on account of their criminal tendencies they are not welcome inmates of the ordinary institutions for the feeble-minded.

On Wednesday evening the mandolin classes of the Y. M. H. A. of Brooklyn were started, and last night the gymnasium classes were started, and were followed by the first meet for the all-around championship contest.

To-morrow night other classes in the gymnasium will be held, and to-morrow afternoon the Emerson Literary Society will have its first meeting of the fall. Plans for 1910-1911 will be presented and acted upon.

"Americanizing the Immigrant."

Allan Davis, the new director of the Educational Alliance of Manhattan, has elaborate plans for the winter work to be undertaken at his institution, which he has formulated in a report just issued, which he describes as "Americanizing the Immigrant." Mr. Davis has made a study of conditions on the East Side during the few months he has been here, and comes to the conclusion that a course in embroidery be instituted for young women learning dressmaking, and that instruction be provided in the making of novelties, lamp shades and fancy boxes. Mr. Davis believes that the domestic science school should be enlarged, and the course in cooking should include not only preparation of food, but also its economical buying and disposition. He proposes a trade school for boys to fit them for occupations in life in the West. In conjunction with the trade school there should be an employment bureau which should be run in cooperation with the National Employment Exchange.

He also advocates the establishment of a civic forum, where impartial discussions by eminent men and representatives of various political, social and economic ideals should be held.

Rabbi Elzas Temporarily Takes Magnes' Place—Will Teach Deaf Mutes.

Rabbi Barnett A. Elzas, until recently of Charleston, S. C., occupied the pulpit of Temple Emanu-el, Manhattan, during Rosh ha-Shanah and will continue to do so over the fall holidays. He is taking the place left vacant by the resignation of Dr. Judah L. Magnes. The post is that of associate to Dr. Joseph Silverman, and since the disagreement last spring between Dr. Magnes and the Emanu-el trustees there has been considerable speculation as to who would be chosen to fill the vacancy.

Dr. Elzas' appointment is understood to be a temporary one, the board of trustees evidently recognizing that it would be impossible for Dr. Silverman alone to conduct the services throughout all the holidays. But the friends of the Southern rabbi among members of the congregation are hoping that he will produce an impression that will make the trustees urge him to remain in the temple permanently.

It is not known whether Dr. Elzas would accept a rabbinical post here, since some weeks ago he resigned his Charleston post, which he had filled for many years and had come to New York to engage in literary work. He has a standing as one of the ablest and most scholarly of American reform rabbis, his researches in American Jewish history having received wide recognition for their value and thoroughness.

It is at the same time announced that Rabbi Elzas, M.D., has been engaged as religious instructor for the School of Jewish Deaf Mutes, Lexington avenue and Seventy-second street, and he will also thus be the minister of the Hebrew Congregation of the Deaf, which has been worshipping in the vestry room of Temple Emanu-el. Dr. Elzas has already made considerable progress in the sign language, and with the enthusiasm which he brings to bear upon all he undertakes, he will doubtless soon become expert in this means of communication.

On Sunday afternoon at the Hippodrome Pastor Russell of the Brooklyn Tabernacle will address a large number of Jews on "Zionism in Prophecy." For thirty-five years Pastor Russell has written and preached upon the re-establishment of the Jews as a nation in Palestine and the recent publication of his lectures, "Jerusalem" and "Israel's Coming Kingdom" in Jewish publications, gave rise to the invitation to address this mass meeting at the New York Hippodrome.

East New York Benevolent Society Plans Bazar.

The Ladies Hebrew Benevolent Society of East New York, the society which carries on the benevolent work in this section, is arranging a bazar and cake sale in aid of the charity fund of the society, to take place on the afternoon and evening of Wednesday, November 16, at the Tyrian Temple, 68-72 Pennsylvania avenue. The funds of the society are rather low at present, the demands upon the treasury having been very many during the past few weeks. The help to the destitute and needy of East New York is distributed from the central bureau of the society at Congress Hall, Atlantic avenue and Vermont street.

The officers and trustees of the society constitute the relief committee, which has charge of the dispensing of the charity. The present officers are: President, Mrs. A. Dennon; vice president, Mrs. A. G. Meyersberg; secretary, Mrs. S. Salomon; treasurer, Mrs. M. Brookman. The trustees are: Mrs. M. Berstoff, Mrs. S. Wolff, Mrs. M. Scholder, Mrs. R. London and Mrs. H. Schoenlank. The advisory board consists of the retired officers, Mrs. P. M. Saxe, Mrs. M. Gold and Mrs. R. Midas.

The fair committee has held several meetings and plans are being speedily put into shape for the arrangement of the various booths. The enthusiastic committee consists of Mrs. A. G. Meyersberg, chairman; Miss Dora Meyersberg, secretary; Mrs. M. Gold, treasurer; Mrs. R. Schoenlank, Mrs. M. Shoulder, Mrs. P. Midas, Mrs. N. Sussman, Mrs. W. Engel, Mrs. M. Bookman, Mrs. A. Dennon, Mrs. A. Schlivek, Mrs. I. Sargent, Mrs. T. Sorin, Mrs. J. Rosenberg, Mrs. M. Friedman, Mrs. R. Stollmack, Mrs. B. Wolff, Mrs. S. Solomon, Mrs. R. Sacks and Mrs. E. Rothschild.

FOLK DANCING FOR TEACHERS

Girls' Branch, P. C. A. L., Gives Opportunities to Learn.

These Teachers Will, in Turn, Instruct Pupils After Regular Hours.

The executive secretary of the Girls Branch of the Public School Athletic League has sent a notice to the schools that instruction classes for teachers will be held for the season of 1910-11. This notice says:

Instruction classes for teachers of girls athletics will, during the season of 1910-11, be of two grades, namely, for senior and junior teachers. In both of these classes will be given new work for the season, including that required of clubs for participation in park fetes in the spring.

The number of teachers that may register from one school is limited to four, and one substitute for the school. Where it is desired to increase this number, application, with a statement of reasons, should be made to the games committee of the Girls Branch of the Public Schools Athletic League, 500 Park avenue, New York City.

Each teacher (except the substitute) in return for free instruction, pledges herself to give one hour per week, after school, to conducting an athletic class for girls in her school, or to furnish music for the same.

SENIOR TEACHERS.

A short course of eight lessons will be conducted for senior teachers, i. e., those who have attended the league's instruction classes during two seasons previously.

PASTOR HODDER RESIGNS.

Will Leave the Baptist Church of the Redeemer at the End of the Present Year.

The Rev. A. W. H. Hodder, who has been pastor of the Baptist Church of the Redeemer, Avenue C and East Eighteenth street, for the past seven years, has resigned, his resignation to take effect on December 31. The resignation was read and accepted at a meeting of the church, held recently. Mr. Hodder did not assign any reason for his action, but it is known that his health has not been good for some time and he considered it advisable to seek another field. He has at present no plans for the future and no field in sight, it is understood.

Mr. Hodder succeeded the late Rev. Dr. S. Giffard Nelson, under whose ministry the church was built. Dr. Nelson resigned some time previous to the coming of Mr. Hodder, after he had brought the church up to a high point of usefulness. Mr. Hodder has had a good measure of success. No action has yet been taken toward looking for a successor to Mr. Hodder, but a committee will take up the work in a short time.

MURDER IN KEARNEY.

Victim Was Engaged to Marry a Brooklyn Woman.

(Special to The Eagle.)

Newark, N. J., October 7—Louis Pugilisia, a thrifty shoemaker who lived alone in a one-story building which he owned, at 135 Dukes street, Kearney, was found shot to death in a room in the rear of his little shop yesterday.

Antonio Miceli of Manhattan was arrested on suspicion. His clothing was smeared with blood and he was hatless when arrested by Policeman George Holt, because he could not give a good account of himself. In the room where the body was found was a cap that fits the prisoner. It bears the trade mark "Brooklyn, N. Y." The victim was engaged to marry a Brooklyn woman in February.
